Blue skies, tinted leaves, and cool weather—these are the signs of autumn. With the arrival of autumn come football games, Germans, and Homecoming weekends at various colleges.

In Chapel Hill for the North Carolina-South Carolina game and fraternity parties over the week-end of October 10, 11, and 12 were many Saint Mary's girls. Watching the two teams battle were Becky Roberson, Joyce Batehelor, Bettie Ann Whitehurst, Barbara Clarke, Sally Blackmon, Lois Lynch, Sara Jane Griffin, Lucretia de Loach, Martha Ellen Miller, Sara McMillan, Dana Borden, Georgia Cobb, Mary Richard Chambers, Jane Bracewell, Susan Poe, Edith Kellerman, Connie Fisher, and Mebane Dowd. Seen afterwards at the many Fraternity Houses were Gayle Clark, Eleanor Howard, Julia Ann Hunt, Debby Parrott, Jackie Polk, Diane Blanton, Betty Copeland, Octavia Phillips, Catherine Sawyer, Memrie Mosier, Corty Creech, Jane Wright, Emmy Davis, Madge Gregory, Margaret Ruffin, and Carol Ann Tadlock. Everyone agreed the week-end was a real blast!

Hampton-Sydney claimed its share of Saint Mary's Belles the same week-end. Attending Homecoming festivities were Anne Bostwick, Dorothy Ewing, and Martha Taylor.

Among those traveling by chartered bus to Winston Salem for the Wake Forest-State game were Pat Villas and Penny Dunn.

In nearby Durham for the Duke-Baylor game and Homecoming were Marty Young, Eleanor Bulluck, Eleanor Ramsey, Jeanie Glover, Beverly Bunn, Elise Brice, and Kit McLeod.

This week-end, October 17, 18, and 19 will have Carolina Homecoming on its agenda. The football game between Carolina and Maryland will be the highlight of the week-end, but fraternity parties will take their accustomed place on the agenda also. A wonderful time is expected by all!

At the V. P. I. for Fall Formals were Jo Smith and Jackie Baublitz, while visiting in Norfolk, Virginia, for the Navy-Tulane game was Eleanor Howard. Georgia Cobb and Jane Gray made the long journey to Washington & Lee for the week-end, and not far from them at Virginia Episcopal School was Charlotte Thorn.

Everyone is eagerly looking forward to the rest of the football season, but remember studying come before pleasure, girls! "Good luck."

It Was Profitable!

Summertime proved to be profitable for many St. Mary's alumnae. Sally Barnes ('58) is now working for "Fortune" Magazine in New York. Chee Davis ('58) who is also in New York, has secured a theatrical position. She is training with a dance troupe that plans to tour Europe entertaining the U.S. Armed Forces.

Marriage-minded Belles were many. Caroline Cobb ('58) married Thomas Whitehead on August 6 in Goldsboro. Helen Baker, Com. ('58), and Robert Wallace were married in Smithfield on June 28. Harriet McDaniel (ex-'59) married Robert Wright in Atlanta on May 31. "Babs" Mace, com. ('58), and Byron Campbell were married August 16, in Jacksonville, Fla.

Among the 184 girls who pledged sororities at U.N.C. on October 1, were 33 St. Mary's alumnae.

Alpha Delta Pi: Peggy Costner, Carol Crumpler, Florence McGowan, Margie Reid, Janice Sutton.

Alpha Gamma Delta: Margaret Crowson, Catherine Rakestraw.

Chi Omega: Jessie Allen, Jane Brady, Annie Gray Calhoun, Betty Covington, Lou Johnson, Dickie Robinson, Anne Rountree.

Kappa Delta: Peggy Hamme, Sybil Mathis, Julia Scott.

Kappa Kappa Gamma: Mary Hannah Finch, Charlotte Hunt, Anne Shepard, Marianna Sink, Kit Tiederman, Betty Van Wagoner.

Pi Beta Phi: Mary Bailey.

Two St. Marians received their rings. Sarah Ellen White met John Dykers at Camp Morehead where they were both counselors this summer. They are to be married December 22, in Kinston. Doris Price became engaged to Hayden Hurley soon after graduation last year.

Sigma? - Mu?

"If your mother, sister, aunt, or any friend of yours was a Sigma or a Mu and you want to be what they were, please tell us and then maybe you can be one too."

I'm over here. None of my relatives or close friends came here. I'm not only unusual, I'm lost. Anyhow, I had no preference—of course, Mu was easier to spell. But I said nothing in hall meeting. I only care about going to bed by the time hall meeting is held. The teams are supposed to have tied for the last two years anyhow, so it's probably all fixed.

It's about a week or two after that meeting now. I still don't care much about athletics. Our counselors told us that everyone comes and wakes us up about 12:30 at night anyhow, and I have no intention of being awakened at that hour for anything. I have 8:30 classes every day. I'll just be neuter.

Here it is almost 9:30, and all I've done all night is talk and write letters. I'll just put my "Do Not" up and study after study hall. I don't have much to do anyhow—don't have much to do anyhow—not very much. Good Night! What is that noise? Some people just have no consideration for anyone. All this rot about being quiet at certain times—sounds like a riot. It's probably seniors and not a one of them will be campused.

It sounds as if we're being raided. I've had enough of this. I'm hiding in the closet. Nobody's going to find me. They're here and everyone's screaming. Must be carrying everyone off. I'm not budging from this closet. Man—nobody's going to get me. Some of them are singing "When the Saints Go Marching In." They don't sound much like Saints. They're tramping.

Well, it's quieted down some now—think I'll investigate. Hey! Where is everybody? Hey—isn't anyone here? Goodness. I better go downstairs. Sounds as if there's some mob outside. Hey—who are you? What's happened? Sigmas and Mus. Go where? But I don't know what I am. All right. I'll pull for the Mu side. I'm not about to wear some silly hat to breakfast. If the Mus lose I'll be a Sigma. There are some advantages to hiding. Who me? Scared? Ha.
