You name it and they had it at the White Elephant Sale.

GYM WAS SCENE OF JUNIORS' WHITE ELEPHANT SALE

Amid the roars of "George of the Jungle," the annual White Elephant Sale, the junior class project, was held in the gym on February 19. Everything imaginable, from a plastic carton to earrings to an old girdle, was on display to be sold. There were games, food, drink, and fun for all. The first exciting event of the evening was the faculty games, which included ping-pong and water balloons. Kack Harrison and Mr. Lawrence battled Kitty Wilkinson and Mrs. Coxe. Kack and Mr. Lawrence were victors. In the game of water balloons, in which Barbara Olschner and Miss Eaton, Becky Ashby and Mrs. Parker, Dell Parker and Mr. Appleton, and Laura Graham and Mr. Lawrence competed, the great team of Laura and Lawrence was the winners.

The pie-eating contest was the next event. First came the process of elimination by different heats composed of one girl from each hall. In the final championship heat, Betsy Valiant from 3rd Penick, Missy Taylor from 2nd East Smedes, Sue Pope from 2nd Holt and Kathy Neal from 2nd Holt stuffed their faces with Morton Cream Pies. With a rather green face, stuffed mouth, and mushy hand, Betsy Valiant raised her fist in victory.

Last but not least, the raffle tickets were drawn. The winners were: Angus Barn—Sara Cole; Record Bar—Peaches Rankin; Village Barn Theatre—Beth Senter; Pappagallo Shop—Laura Parnell.

This year's Sea Saints are Betsy Brooks, Lindsay Burton, Sandy Clarke, Debby Frank, Ekky Foss, Suzanne Green, Rebecca Moser, Catherine MacNair, Dockery Roberts, Sweetie Seifart, Kitty Wilkinson, and Bunny Williams.

PRESIDENT MOVES INTO NEW HOUSE ON CAMPUS

The beautiful construction on the corner of the St. Mary's campus has now become a home. The Pisanis moved in Thursday, February 26. The house is Georgian Colonial in the Williamsburg style.

It has six bedrooms and six bathrooms. The color scheme in Sally's room is pink, lavender and white accented with kelly green. Jack's room is red, white and blue with a fire engine red carpet. The master suite consists of two bedrooms and one bathroom. Mr. Pisani's room is a bedroom-study room combined. The color scheme in Mrs. Pisani's room is blue and green.

The library is paneled with Phillipine mahogany and the hearth is black Vermont slate. There is a raised brick hearth in the playroom downstairs. The hearth in the living room is green Italian marble.

Mrs. Pisani is most excited about her new kitchen. Four coats of green stain were put on the cabinets and then wiped off to make the wood show through. The kitchen is well equipped, containing such utilities as two wall ovens, a seven-burner stove, a dishwasher, and an ice crushing machine. The breakfast room adjoins the kitchen and has six antique chairs given to the Pisanis by Mrs. Doshier. The dining room contains chairs that are Queen Anne reproductions and a Williamsburg brass chandelier.

Mr. Pisani surprised Mrs. Pisani last week when he announced that he had bought a grandfather clock that they will place on the stair-landing. All in all the house is beautiful and adds much to the campus.

Chapel Committee Alters Chapel Schedule

The Chapel Committee with the approval of the Dean of Students, the Legislative Body, and Mr. Pisani, made the following announcement: 1. Beginning Monday, February 23rd all of the Monday Chapel services were designated as College Chapel to be attended by juniors and seniors. 2. Beginning Friday, February 27th all of the Friday Chapel services were designated as High School Chapel to be attended by freshmen and sophomores. As has always been the custom, the faculty and administration are invited to any and all Chapel services.

The petitions passed went into effect on February 26th.

A DECADE OF MEMORIES

St. Mary's campus was saddened on January 22, 1970 by the sudden death of Miss Isamay Turnbull Richardson.

Miss Richardson, affectionately known as Miss I.T., had been resident counselor in Penick dormitory for ten years. In order to be near her only sister Miss Edith Richardson who is Dean of Students at St. Mary's, Miss I.T. left Laselle Junior College in Auburndale, Mass., where she had been assistant dean and came to live in Chapel Hill. St. Mary's was quick to take advantage of the opportunity to utilize Miss I.T.'s experience, and she was soon invited to become part of our college community. It was a happy arrangement not only for the sisters but for the college as well.

Miss Richardson's talents were many and varied. Her main field of scholarship was in English literature, but she was gifted in the area of mathematical analysis. She also held certificates of proficiency from the Royal Academy of Music in London. She had more than a perfunctory interest in athletics and particularly loved sailing. Brought up near the Scottish border in Carlisle, England, she early developed prowess in long-distance hiking.

At St. Mary's, Miss I.T. was advisor to the Beacon, assisted with the Altar Guild and took a great interest in the religious services on campus. She spent hours of loving care on altar appointments and in this regard was meticulous about observing the traditions of the Church.

Miss I.T. will be remembered for her wit, which could be a little caustic at times, and for her good judgment on which those who knew her best relied.

To her sister, our dear Miss R., we extend our heartfelt sympathy, knowing full well that her great loss is ours too, even if in somewhat lesser measure. Ours, too, are many precious memories in the decade that Miss I. T. graced St. Mary's with dignity, wit, and dedication.
