TO GO OR NOT TO GO

Belles reprint from February 15, 1963

To Little Store or not to L.S., that is the question: whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the stings and arrows of outrageous hunger, or to take arms against famished stomachs and by cakes and nabs assuage them.

To L.S. or not to L.S. — to yield to temptations — to squander money, to waste moments of precious time, to gain unwelcomed pounds. Or to collapse in a "green and melancholy" for the want of frivolous food? That is the question.

The temptation to Little Store is insidious, ceaseless. It takes our minds from our studies; it comes upon us like the serpent upon Eve, bright and smiling. It whispers plausibilities; it gradually consumes our being with one idea: food. At last we have surrendered, and grabbing our money, we dash gleefully to the Little Store.

EDITORIAL

A feature article in this issue of the Belles focuses on a new student union at St. Mary's. Unfortunately, there is not even an old student union here so the article is merely wishful thinking.

Perhaps some might argue that there are many things more needed on campus than a student union. But students could greatly benefit by having some place to go and relax. They could listen to the juke box, watch television, study, or just talk.

A student union could also benefit teachers. The food machines and school store could be moved from the basement of Smedes, thus alleviating the noise which bothers classes in Smedes during the day. The school store could be able to enlarge its facilities and thus better serve the students and the faculty.

Since many new buildings are needed, perhaps an old building could serve as a meeting place for students—Stone House. If the house is not needed next year for dorm space, it would be perfect. There are large rooms, which could be used as lounges, a downstairs kitchen, and smaller rooms upstairs which could be used as study rooms.

WHAT'S THE POOP?

by Lillian James

Is Carol Beasley's "Hide out" really in the cabinet under the bathroom-sink?

Was Jackie Mooney trying to fool everyone with that engagement ring?

Ask Susan Austin about her big date at U.Va. Was he really engaged?

How do seven ride in a Mustang, Dockery Roberts?

Is it true that Meg Simpson sent five Valentine cards to John? Debby Frank, how did you say you got that Carolina jacket?

What did Martha McCoy do with the Q-sticks that were in our Student Union?

Did Alice Proctor find "eigar butts" on her floor?

Holly Foss, who did Bob page first last night?

How many times did Anne Stratton ("Coconut head") sit through "Curious Yellow"?

The word is out that Christie Bishop plays the part of Cupid very nice.

Page Manley knows how to get people worried. You better start listening to the T.V. more closely, Page.

Sherry Graham, does Al, the gas-station man, still have the eye for you?

DON'T FORGET TO SAY RABBIT, RABBIT TONIGHT!

St. Mary's New Student Union — You Wish!

During the past few weeks, Mary's students have spent many enjoyable hours at the new St. Mary's Student Union. At any hour of the day, girls can be there taking advantage of a well-stocked snack bar, listening to the newest tunes on the juke box, or browsing in the book store. The color television is usually on except during closed study. The girls are finding that being able to smoke while studying is improving their grades.

Since St. Mary's does not seem to lag behind neighboring schools in any way, the student union plans to offer entertainment for the students. This is especially for the students who hate to leave campus on the weekends. The student union committee also feels that on-campus entertainment would greatly benefit the girls who are on academic probation. They could study all weekend and still be able to fulfill the required two-hour recreational period. Dates will be able to attend fun union-sponsored weekend functions.

The new union is available for any student meetings or parties such as the weekly meeting of the St. Mary's chapter of the S. D. S. or the freshman-sophomore dance. Also, the on-campus movie of the week will be shown in the union on Wednesday night after chapel. The next feature is I am Curious (Yellow). These movies are, of course, required.

What Does Osculation Mean?

Cathy Faw: It has something to do with water.

Betsy Wharton: That's something nasty, isn't it?

Julia Barfield: I have no idea. Wasn't it in the Ilidd?

Woody Bobbitt: I don't think it is a nasty word, but I don't know what it means.

Cyn Darwin: I thought it had something to do with eggs.

Mary Sue Goforth: When you go back and forth between two things.

Barbara Call: It occurs in the process of osmosis.

Frances Capehart: It means to clean up the house.

Elaine Fleming: Some kind of Physical Contact.

Betsy Pritchard: It has something to do with the respiratory system of a fish.

Glory Vandervoort: It sounds like something gross.

Kathy Pace: Has something to do with breathing.

Carol Frischmann: It is cutting your teeth.

Mia Taylor: The movement of particles out of a sponge.

Diana Davis: When something goes up and down.

Dotsie Wilder was the only person who knew the answer right off. Osculation means to KISS!
