tended school in Norway, and one of her favorite pastimes was taking the four-year-old Hobbie boy to the school for ice skating during the morning "sports break".

Prior to her Norwegian expedition, Mrs. Hobbie taught English here from 1966 to 1967 and 1968 to 1971.

When Dr. Kay Huggins first came to St. Mary's for her job interview, she was surprised to find Chaplain and Mrs. Hobgood here. They had been high school classmates in Jacksonville, Fla.!

Completing eight years work in six years, Dr. Huggins received her B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees in history from Duke. Specializing in recent American and Urban History, Dr. Huggins taught three years at Campbell College.

She moved to Raleigh this year with her husband, a Methodist minister, and her two children. "I'm impressed with the caliber of girls at St. Mary's. They seem so eager and smart, whether they think they are or not," she laughs.

Dr. Dolores Lado, chairman of the Foreign Language Department, is returning to SMJC after a year's Leave of Absence. She had returned to her native Spain with her family and husband while he completed his Fulbright as a teacher at the University of Santiago de Compostela. Her plans to attend classes at the University were disrupted because of a two-month teaching strike.

Dr. Lado, who has been in the United States since 1958, noticed much change in costume since her last visit to Spain in 1964. She noted that women as well as girls dress in pants and that the car has "taken over." Music has especially been affected by the U. S. influence as "We Shall Overcome" and "Little Bones" have been translated into Spanish protest songs.

Her undergraduate work was done at the University of Madrid and her graduate work at the University of Florida.

VICTORY BEND

By CAVA SKARDON

With the attention of many being centered on the wonderful sport of dating, a few girls have tried their luck at other sports on campus. Surprisingly so, tennis coach, Miss Jones, found many girls capable of making her top tennis ten. In fact so many girls qualified for the team that it has become a twenty-two girl squad. The strongest at this early point seems to be a guess for everyone, but a struggle will exist for anyone holding down the number one position.

In the way of team sports, Sigma-Mu try-outs were also held that week. The art of softball was put to the test. Thirty-two girls received 100%, thus enabling them to make the team.

This week's hint concerns basketball: All you Wilt Chamberlains, Pete Maravichs and Kareem Jabbers get in shape. Basketball is only a month away!
