

St. Mary's Basketball

by Cree Taylor
 During this time of year, most schools are involved in basketball. St. Mary's is no exception. St. Mary's girls can be proud of their team. The win loss record now stands at 5-4 with four games yet to be played. With starters like Laura Edwards, Gigi Wallace, Amy Lancaster, Mary Lee Lewis and Kim Butler, it's not a wonder that the basketball team has achieved their good record. St. Mary is proud of their team.

Back in the Dining Hall

by Anne Latham
 If you were to go back into the kitchen of the Dining Hall, you would soon realize that there is much more work done towards preparing just one meal than you would have thought. There are many different factors to consider when you are serving a particular meal, because some foods are more popular than others. For example, the Dining Hall staff would be more inclined to prepare more hamburgers than portions of a casserole dish, because more students choose hamburgers. Also, the Dining Hall has to consider that on the weekdays more people eat lunch than dinner, so therefore they would prepare more food for the lunch crowd.
 Every once in a while the Dining Hall will prepare special foods, such as the foods on the menu for the Scarsdale Diet. Last year, for two weeks, they served the foods for this particular diet, but they have not done it this year because there were not enough people taking part in the Scarsdale Diet to make it worth their while.

 The people on the staff basically serve meals on a three week basis. This means that if you have pizza one night for dinner, then you could expect to see it on the menu again in about three weeks or so. Keeping up with the food calendar is another duty they have.
 One fairly major problem concerning the Dining Hall is the fact that there are too many things constantly being replaced: Salt and Pepper shakers, silverware and glasses are often taken out of the dining Hall for personal use. It would not be as bad if persons borrowing these items would return them, but often times we forget to bring them back, so therefore much money comes out of the Dining Hall's budget to buy new glasses and forks, etc. If we were to be more cautious about remembering not to take items out of the Dining Hall it would be greatly appreciated.
 Stay tuned for more information concerning our Dining Hall, in later issues.

GOSSIP (Did You Know?)

by Cree Taylor

Melanie, Lee, Gina, and Laura, I heard about ya'lls unchaperoned trip to the beach with your honies. Girls, what your mothers say!

Angela P. I heard all about you and Lee rolling in the back seat of his car, I'm shocked.

Hadley B., What is this I hear about the condition you were in at the lighthouse?

Kathy Keel, you are going to have to keep your door locked because you scared Gina to death when you sleep walked into her room.

Leath F. and Gina I will gladly pitch in to get you a fake I.D., and congrats for getting in the Triangles!

Llewlyn S., I hear that you had the D.T.'s really bad on Sunday. We would all like to know how you got them.

Sally Mayo, a little bird told me you spent the night at Tim Drew's apt. Aren't you a little bit young for that?

Gray Fagan, I hear that you stopped traffic on Hillsborough St. to jump start your car.

Rena H., are you and Wood dating this week or not?

Erlene, did Ruth teach you how to take a message?

Reilly, I wish you would let us in on your secret for picking up guys.

Angie King, who is the cutie at the gas station that wants to ask you out?

Annie Gray, what exactly is a "Rustella"?

Margaret S., how do you like your new next door neighbor?

Anne B., what is a "P.F."? I heard it's pretty gross!

Mary Beth Hughes - 3rd floor Smedes wishes you would stop prank calling at 3:00 a.m.

Annis - 3rd middle is tired of answering the phone when all those guys call you.

Dean Jones, congrats for getting in the circle!

Judy D., I can't believe you actually have a subscription to Playgirl!

Karen W., How's Ivan?

Kelly C., which John is it now?

St. Mary's, I need your help. I can't get a scoop on all the campus gossip without your help. If you have any gossip please turn it in to me. Put it in an envelope and put my box number on it. (442). Thanks.

St. Mary's Tennis Team Promises A Good Spring Season

by Ellen Reynolds and Val Scott

On February fifteenth, the spring tennis team will launch what promises to be a successful and exciting season. The team will follow a challenging schedule, playing such teams as Skidmore College, Radford University, Meredith College and Peace College.

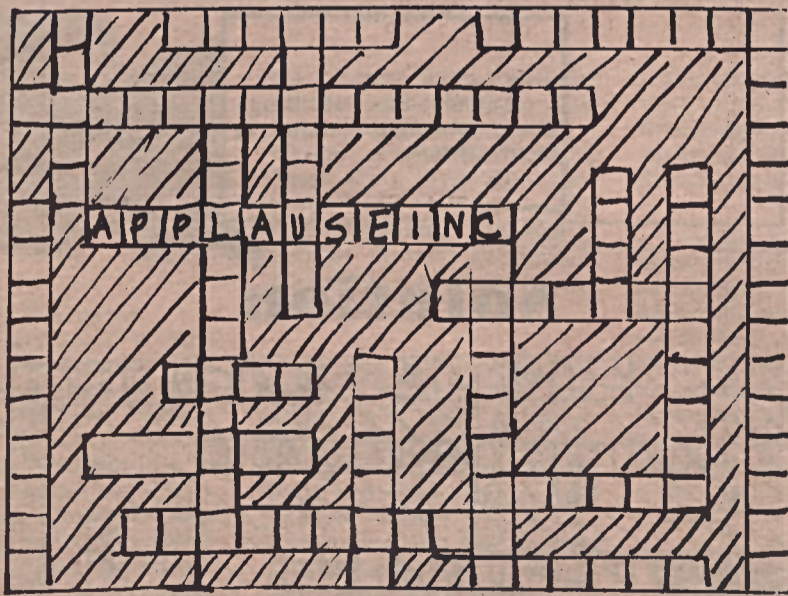

Ms. Jones will concentrate primarily on college matches this spring, as opposed to last fall's emphasis on high school competition. Our high school team completed an impressive season last fall, finishing number two in the state, second only to Charlotte Latin.

Neither the team members nor the manager have been selected, yet. However, the prospective players are busy conditioning and practicing for the upcoming season.

Doubtless, winning is an important part of participating on Ms. Jones' team. However, team spirit and support for fellow team members are also essentials for playing tennis at St. Mary's.

Another Puzzle!

WORDS:

by Lynn Jones
 With the spring semester comes new members to clubs and teams at SMC. This puzzle is to remind you of all the activities to keep an eye on. No clues are given, but the names are separated by length. See if you can fit them into the grid.
