

Special January Term Issue

Summer's Just Around the Corner!

Graphic Works Now Being Shown

"The Butcher, The Baker, The Candlestick Maker: Images of Labor," a collection of 87 graphic works inspired by work and workers assembled by Ben Waldstein, is on exhibit in Peterson Gallery through Feb. 5.

The prints range from 14th century anonymous depictions of cabinet makers to Gropper's 1975 sympathetic tailor work. The prints reflect the trades, professions, and conditions of life and work in rural and industrial societies over four centuries. Among the artists represented are Rembrandt, Callot, Hogarth, Goya, Daumier, Whistler, Homer, Posada, Sloan, Benton, Marsh, Kent, Bishop, Soyer, Frascioni, and Bearden. Much of the work demonstrates what might be called social art, which depicts facets of social issues and struggles. This exhibit confirms art's commitment to portray the history of labor throughout the world. The show is the second exhibit the college has sponsored from the Pratt Graphics Center, an extension of the Pratt Institute's School of Art and Design in New York City. In addition to

Continued on page 3

Do You Wanna Fix Your Car?

Mars Hill College and Asheville Buncombe Technical College will co-sponsor a basic automobile mechanics class beginning Tuesday, January 26, in the physical plant building on Crooked Street in Mars Hill. The class will meet from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. each Tuesday evening for eight weeks. The instructor for the class will be Odell Powell, service manager for Deal Buick in Asheville.

"Elementary Auto Mechanics" will familiarize participants with the basic

Continued on page 3

The Hilltop

VOLUME LV, Number 5

JANUARY 22, 1982

The Hilltop
MARS HILL COLLEGE
Mars Hill, N.C. 28754

3-2

o Tusculum ained. "The up short at up, but they
da Caldwell
spectively
use our team
al they have e to the lack game." Two usky.
ough - 16.6
0, and Lisa followed by their play so practices and
lty, and col
'scream and
ars Hill man
n this season

ule

OPPONEN
73
52
86
81
80

Mars Hill College
Mars Hill, N.C. 28754