

(ALUMNI, from Page 2)

'56--Forrest Rockett is executive vice president of Lauderdale Beach (Fla.) Bank. Bill Peel is a psychiatric social worker in the California Youth Homes. He and Lola and their two children live in Los Angeles. Richard Adams teaches and is golf and football coach in the Dade County (Florida) Schools. He and Patricia and their four children live in Miami. Bill Hatchett teaches in the Huntsville (Ala.) City Schools. He and Patricia and their one child live in Athens. Bill received his masters in English at the University of Alabama at Athens. Chuck Muller has been transferred by Ford Motor Co. to Louisville, Kentucky, where he is now involved in selling computerized services to Ford agencies.

'57--Tommy Frederick is divisional merchandise manager for Matthews-Belk Co. in Gastonia. Louis Campbell is technical supervisor with the Virginia Department of Highways. He and Mary Frances and their four children live in Richmond. Frank O'Brien teaches English at Orange Glen High School and lives in Escondido, Calif. Gerald Dollard is insurance claims-suit representative for Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. in Richmond. James Daffron is pharmaceutical sales representative for William H. Rorer, Inc. in Norfolk. Rev. Jerry Hardy is Chancellor of the Archdiocese of Atlanta. He received his BA in Theology at the Gregorian University in Rome, Italy. Ed Lampke is field service manager for the Richmond (Va.) district for Ford Motor Co. Richard Tengels is Director of Marketing with Ridge Tool Co. in Brunswick, Ohio. He and Linda have four children. Ed Quigley is publisher, president and director of Bogden & Quigley, Inc. in Croton-on-Hudson, New York.

'58--Major Joseph Perry is a dentist in the Army and is stationed at Ft. Benning, Georgia. He and Lenore have four children. Dominic Lettiere is a senior accountant in the auditor general's office, state of Florida. He and Rosemary and their four children live in Plantation. Kenneth Dembski is attending Canisius College, specializing in Art History. John Ciucevich is projects manager with Thermal Mechanical Systems, Inc. in Matthews, N.C. He and Mary Ellen and their five children live in Charlotte.

Charlie Bridges is director of sales (west) for Scott Paper Co. He and Helen and their two children live in Palos Verdes Peninsula, C.A. Gerald Donahue is division manager, Philip Morris U.S.A. He and Teresa and their three children live in Sutton, Mass.

'59--Richard Wrenn is government marketing manager with Miles Labs, Inc. and lives in Springfield, Va. Bob Cooper is customer relations representative in the international markets division of Eastman Kodak Co. in Rochester, N.Y. David Browne is manager of J.C. Penney Co. in Princeton, Ky. Brian Maher is an attorney in Easton, Conn. John Munzenrider is assistant radiotherapist-in-chief at Tufts-New England Medical Center in Boston. He and Elizabeth and their three children live in Norwood.

'60--John Ledwitch is coordinator of student personnel services in the Albany, (Ga.) Area Vocational-Technical School. Sister Mary Veronica Schumacher has been elected to the Board of Directors of St. Joseph's Hospital in Asheville. Albert Farrar is system analyst for Homelite and lives in

Abbey Seminar

The ministry to the sick and dying and to their families and friends has been a perennial concern of the Christian community. Every Christian man and woman, not just the minister and religious educator, faces the mystery of death and the fears, anxiety and sense of loss which accompany it. The Christian meets the mystery of death with faith in the Risen Lord. In this seminar we have gathered a religious educator, a liturgist, a moral theologian, a Scripture scholar and a psychologist to help us understand more fully the depths of this mystery for ourselves and those whom we are called to serve. The seminar is dedicated to a man who served the church of the Southeast well, Paul J. Hallinan, Archbishop of Atlanta.

Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross will discuss the psychological aspects of those who are terminally ill. She will also deal with the reactions of those close to the patient: family, ministers, doctors and nurses, and friends.

Rev. R. Kevin Seasoltz will treat liturgical experiences for the sick, dying and their families. He will also examine in particular the sacrament of the sick and the celebration of the passage from death to life.

Rev. Robert Springer will present the background for consideration of moral questions surrounding care for the terminally ill. He will also consider some of the specific questions

(continued on next page)

DR. ELISABETH KÜBLER-ROSS

... is a well known psychologist whose remarkable book On Death and Dying has helped many face, professionally and personally, the end of life with insight and understanding. She is the leading authority in this area in the United States today. Although she is Medical Director of the Family Service and Mental Health Center of South Cook County in Illinois she finds time to lecture to groups of doctors, nurses, ministers and educators across the country.

REV. R. KEVIN SEASOLTZ, O.S.B.

... is a monk of St. Anselm's Abbey in Washington, D. C. As Associate Professor in the Department of Religion and Religious Education at The Catholic University of America he has taught graduate and undergraduate courses in Liturgy, Theology of Celebration and Sacramental Theology. Among his publications are The House of God, The New Liturgy and articles in Worship, The Thomist, Liturgical Arts, Pastoral Life, and Commonweal.

REV. ROBERT H. SPRINGER, S.J.

... is Associate Professor of Pastoral Theology at Woodstock College. He has also served on the faculties of the Gregorian University, Fordham University and the Ateneo University of Manila Law School. His courses cover the areas of medical ethics and human sexuality. He has participated in continuing education programs for clergy and in renewal programs on the parish level. His articles have appeared in The New Catholic Encyclopedia, Sacramentum Mundi, Commonweal, Theological Studies. Each year he authors the "Notes on Moral Theology" for Theological Studies.

DR. JOSEPHINE MASSINGBERD FORD

... was brought up in Sherwood Forest, England. She received her education in English schools and universities. In addition to being a qualified theologian she is a trained nurse. She has served on the board of theologians who were consultants to the U. S. bishops on the permanent diaconate. At present she is a member of the committee of three on the subject of the Sacraments of Anointing and Penance. Dr. Ford has taught in England and Africa and has now been teaching at Notre Dame University in the Department of Theology for eight years. She is the first woman to hold tenure at this university. She has published widely in various professional journals and has just completed her sixth book, Revelation of St. John. She is publishing a service entitled "The Way of Resurrection" which is to be adopted for the use of wakes.

REV. ALFRED McBRIDE, O. PRAEM.

... received his B. A. from St. Norbert College in De Pere, Wisconsin, and studied at Lumen Vitae, Brussels, Belgium, where he received his diploma. From 1959-66 he was master of novices at St. Norbert Abbey. In 1966 he was appointed to the faculty of The Catholic University of America as assistant professor of Religious Education. His articles have appeared in Worship, Commonweal, Bible Today, Living Light and American Ecclesiastical Review. He had a syndicated column entitled Bible Themes and currently has a new column in the "Know Your Faith Series". He has written several series for Hi Time on the bible and liturgy and is a noted lecturer who has conducted workshops and institutes for various groups in the United States and Canada. He is the author of several books including Catechetics: A Theology of Proclamation, The Human Dimensions of Catechetics, The Perfect Wave - A New Testament for Young People, and the recent The Pearl and the Seed - A Church History for Junior High. He was recently appointed Director of the Forum for Religious Education at NCEA.