

Funded Professorship Established At BAC

A funded professorship in Philosophy has been established at Belmont Abbey College by Dr. Carsbie C. Adams. Announcing this important event at the 1974 graduation exercises, Father John P. Bradley stated: "Among the many important thrusts that Belmont Abbey College must make in the area of development is the effort to provide the College with a number of funded professorships. Understandably, this is a difficult task, since it requires the kind of generosity that prompts a donor to undertake the continuing commitment to furnish the College with the funds for a teacher's salary." Obviously pleased at being able to make this important announcement, Father Bradley told the audience in the Wheeler Center that the funded Chair in Philosophy would be named for its donor.

After expressing the College's deep gratitude to Dr. Adams,

Father Bradley remarked that some people may be surprised that Dr. Adams, a scientist, would choose to fund a professorship in philosophy rather than in science. The explanation, according to Father Bradley, is that Dr. Adams and a number of his close associates in the scientific community have for many years been deeply interested in the effort to promote a closer cooperation between science, philosophy, and religion in mankind's approach to the understanding and solution of world problems. Everyone associated with Belmont Abbey College can certainly echo Father Bradley's words as he presented Dr. Adams with a plaque commemorating the occasion: "All of us owe you a debt of deep gratitude for this most significant contribution to the academic program at Belmont Abbey College."

ALUMNI NEWS (Cont. From Page 2)

on April 26. John is with the Internal Revenue Service in Charlotte, where he and Nancy and Erin, who is two-and-a-half, live.

'66 -- John Nackashi is working in the kidney transplant program at the University of Florida Medical School. He completed his Ph.D. in organic chemistry at Georgia Tech and taught last year at Florida International University in Miami. He and his wife Brian and their two sons, Timothy and J.J., live in Gainesville. It was good to see George Tydings when he stopped by in May. He and Duane and their two sons, Chase, four, and George junior (called "Ty") who is one, live in Green Lake Farms, Laytonsville, Maryland. Enjoyed chatting with Harry Lapham when he stopped by the middle of June. He is general manager of the Paul Revere Companies, and he and Alice (who is a sister of Pete and David Foley) and their two children, Alice Celeste, who is eight, and Stephen, four-and-a-half, live in Charlotte.

Dr. Carsbie Clifton Adams

'67 -- It was good to see Kevin Soden when he and Hope and six-year-old Vinni stopped by the middle of April. Kevin will be resident in family practice at Memorial Hospital in Charlotte. Welcome home, Kevin! Tom Alexander came by to say hello when he was here for the Sig Ep Weekend the last of April. He is manager of the Chamblee, Georgia, District of Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co. and he and Jeri and their two children, Sean, who is five, and Shannon, two, live in Lilburn, Georgia. Tom told us that Chuck Datre has been transferred by Equitable Life from Atlanta to Macon; Mike Daniels is with MONY in Atlanta; and Brian Caven has recently formed a law partnership in Decatur. Michael Kolnok is senior supervising auditor with Dominion Bankshares Corporation in Roanoke, Va. Jim Christian is a hospital administration specialist for the VA, and he and Maureen live in Annandale, Va. He received the Masters in hospital administration from Georgia State University in 1973 and will join the American College of Hospital Administrators in August.

'68 -- Bob Pogachnic is an insurance adjuster and salesman for Nationwide in Gainesville, Florida, where he and Sharon and daughter Jennifer live. Pat Sakole stopped by for a short visit in June. He is in school in the Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell AFB, Alabama.

'69 -- It was good to see Bob Marshall when he visited the Abbey the middle of April. He is working with the "Right-to-Life" committee in Washington. Jerry Biddix received the M.D. degree from Bowman Gray School of Medicine on May 27 and will begin internship training in surgery July 1 at the University of Iowa Affiliated Hospitals in Iowa City. Enjoyed the note

(Cont. On Page 4)

Can Anyone Identify This Photographer And His Subjects?