

INSIGHT

Elizabethan dramatists, and how it changed under the influence of the thoughts of Calvin, Bacon, and Descartes so that reason and nature were supplanted by will as the basis for morality, material observation superseded ideal-based natural law, and the spiritual was irrevocably separated from the natural. The weltanschauung of the Jacobean-dramatists was a product of this mutation and thus the differences between Elizabethan and Jacobean is explained by the new natural law--that which is--of the 17th. century. The study is a valuable complement to E.M.W. Tillvard's The Elizabethan tragedy (1936), and R. Ornstein's The moral vision of Jacobean tragedy (1960)." To be ranked with these acknowledged authorities in the field is the highest form of accolade and one richly merited by George Herndl.

There is little wonder in light of these achievements that he has received lucrative offers from a number of prestigious universities to join their faculties. But there is much to wonder that he has steadfastly chosen to remain at Belmont Abbey as a busy, modestly compensated professor and department chairman! The real beneficiaries of this decision are clearly his students and colleagues on the faculty who look forward with deep appreciation to his continuing leadership and inspiration.

Mrs. Drumm Selected OYW

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America Awards Program announced today that Mrs. Kathy Haverty Drumm has been selected for inclusion in the 1976 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

The wife of James M. Drumm and mother of ten-year-old Chris, she is the daughter of Mrs. Ray Potts and the late Joe Haverty.

She was educated at Sacred Heart Schools and was a 1975 cum laude graduate of Belmont Abbey College with a B.A. degree in Accounting. She was a member of Delta Epsilon Sigma, a national honor society.

Now Assistant Business Manager at Belmont Abbey, she is director of Student Aid and officer for Affirmative Action. Before her present position she was employed by American & Efirid Mills, Inc.

An active member of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, her hobbies are fishing, reading and sports, particularly little league baseball, in which Chris is involved.

The Outstanding Young Women of America Program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in their homes, in their professions and in their communities.

Accomplishments such as these are the result of dedication, service and leadership, qualities which deserve to be recognized and remembered.
