

herbs to spice up your life, and flowers to put a smile on your face. Nurture it and yourself that you both may grow. To Eli Hardwig misty Saturday mornings and the kind of bread you can only find at the farmer's market. To Paris and Wes the feeling of your heart beating when you first open the doors to your very first koffeehaus. I'm trusting you. To Kat and Audrey, room E210. Make new memories in it for me, you never remember the nights you got plenty of sleep. To Joe, sunrises and sunsets from the eastern stairs on the outside of Watts. To Andy, living with no regrets. You've already got roasted even though you're a wholesome guy; Lu Cao ACC Officer duties that will hopefully bring ACC officers together like the past officers did and also fashion star duties; Emily Lee and Abi Udaiyar our Orgo sufferings and memories that brought us together; Michelle Roh our monthly episode of Michelle vs. James; and finally Movie Night Crew our memories and my personal and heartfelt thank you for helping me be a person that I am today.

I, Jenna Israel, being of sound mind and body, do at the wrong time; William Elder the few geography facts that I know; Karna Morey long runs and my naïveté; Alex Carruth my unicorn onesie and all the goofiness that comes with it; Gandhar Mahadeshwar the inability to hold a straight face; Jesus Cisneros every question mark I have ever written; Ayden Hochstein a pizza with extra sausage; Jackson Fernandez my taste in music; Gabbi Marushack my kick; Scout Hayashi my desire to cross the finish line; Molly Klenzak hundreds of emails about Model UN; Brannan Claxton hall meetings and stop lights; Wyeth water balloons senior year and lots of love; Jonah Dixon "The Airplane Song"; Emma Wright laundry room squad and all my lists; and Ms. Trotta a million thanks.

Last Will and Testament of Cole Lewis: To Ayden, I leave the tool shed, my work ethic, sock wrestling, my immaturity, computer games, and the ability to piss off Wesley. To Andrew, I leave the tool shed, the ability to pitch really slow strikes, and all the money I owe you. To Wyeth, I leave the tool shed, some water balloons, and many ideas for future fun. To Ben Hicks, I body, do hereby leave Alex Xiong a sibling relationship that could have been closer, but was valuable nonetheless! I can't wait to see the amazing things you'll do in life. I leave Gracie, Lu, Tanisha, Jaeny, Siyun, Wenya, and Selena the legacy of ACC and an AsiaFest that I'm sure will be amazing. I hope this club means as much to you all as it did to me. I leave #HashtagTeamSquad mom jokes that are far too inappropriate, Ashvin relationship (or lack thereof) advice, and Ravin too much Taco Bell. I'm beyond grateful that this ridiculous trio formed sophomore year. I leave Squad that covered, though. To Anya, learning to trust yourself. It takes time. You can do it.

I, James Hong, do hereby leave Sahil Gupta my best wishes for his senior year next year because I know he will need it without us seniors (I'll see you in Duke next year!); Christina Park our sibling memories, nicknames, and TAMs that I will always keep in my heart; Jaeny Yoo a veteran Korean presence that will hopefully take over the campus with her ACC and KWAVE power; Aayush Purohit the Asian identity of the baseball team that will need to stand strong against the ignorance of Worth Powell and Worth Powell only; Wyeth McKinley flynap decision making skills and duty of making Dr. Naiman as happy as possible; Gandhar Mahadeshwar a job of being the guy that will get hereby leave the ichtyees of 4th Bryan to Eirwyn Beres, Leigha McLean, and Madd Heartly. To Josh Abrams, Will Elder, Swathi Karthik, James Larkins, Jonathan Moul, Sumani Nunna, and Stephen Schmidt, I leave the fantastic experience that is Quiz Bowl. To Angela Guan and Isabella Li I leave late friendships and procrastinated outings (we'll do something at some point!). To Raven Yurtal, I leave plant parenthood and micropipette adventures. To Vaishnavi Siripurapu I leave deep breathes, reality checks, and some lactose free ice cream for your ice cream float. Thanks for the smiles.

I, Lawton Ives, being of sound mind and body do hereby leave Aunindya Jyoti all my unexcused absences; Andrew Rust my intensity and ability to say the wrong thing and jostling; and Stone IM workouts and my check board.

I, Avra Janz, leave *magical* math and papers punched with triangles to Shelby Elder; giggling donor babies to Stephanie Yao, Eli Hardwig, Tyler Edwards, Cordelia Gilligan, Willa Holt, Elise Gilliam and Emily Spero; all good things (couldn't decide on one!) to Angelique Little; 4th Bryan and Fruit Salad to Angela Guan and Isabella Li; and a lifetime supply of Red Cross pins to the amazing Vaishnavi Siripurapu! I am so lucky to have gotten to know you guys this year! Make sure to take good care of my little brother next year! Thanks for the good times :)

I, Alivia Kliesen do hereby leave Amy Zhang the strength to make it through leave my call of duty skills and Astronomy homework that I never did. To Ben Nichols, I leave my sympathy for having loud roommates. To Mark, I leave you happiness, which you seem to have plenty of. To William, I leave my stress-free senior year, wizard powers, and some fun every once in a while. To Jackson, I leave a new set of ears so he can turn down his music. And some good music. To Aunindya, I leave the laziness of senior year. To Stone, I leave backstroke and late nights of Astronomy group projects. Also, third base, which isn't mine to give. To Worth, I leave the dugout bench. To Ayush, I leave the 3 mile run around the school. To Jesus, I leave some motivation for swimming and a solid question mark.

I, Grace Li, being of (mostly) sound mind and Sh-t a friendship from day one that I will never forget. I leave Michelle Haribo gummy bears, Quickly and the dynamism of this duo, Zara (grandpa) Chubby's and some good good nights, Amrita a full order of mesquite BBQ fries and JAMFness that keeps all of us in check, and Yesle more pictures of BTOB than of me and Michelle! I leave Tr@PpEd laughter, late nights, Jheetos, and S'ghetti! Thank you guys for showing me that even 5 tris in, you can make truly valuable friends.

I, Teri Lowry, being of questionable mind and body, do hereby leave Vaishnavi Siripurapu chemistry homework and long talks; Paris Geolas and Maddie Brown frisbee tournaments and adventures; and Andy Schild beach trips and tattoos.