

at Bhangra; Vibhu Ambil the skills to check messenger more often, because no one ever knows where you are; George Dimitrov and Jacky Zhang, EV runs and what's left of my car, hope it helped; Keshav Javvadi and Shiv Patel everything that goes with SG, enjoy it; Sucheta Maladi my TA position with Dr. Bruno (LOL); Chris Moncla hours of Dark Souls in the lounge; Tyler Youngberg and Anire Egbe, another soccer win next year; Andy Schild sketchy Uber drivers and late night Walmart runs; Yasharth Singh, Shan Wilson, and William Sanchez the tradition of ignoring work and playing league; Kinley Rojzman, Jessica (Stephanie) Chen, and Vanessa Lin fun times learning very surprising facts, and cheap meals at Taco Bell; and to everyone I couldn't fit, the task of getting out and spending more time with your friends.

I, Rachel Ruderman, leave the basketball team and "sudden change" to Christina Alperi and Angela Guan, track and legs up to Emily Brinson and Scout Hayashi, and my rolley stick, hugs, and hand holding to Aimee Dalsimer.

I, Youngmin Shin, leave in my will a strong sense of family to EGG DANCE, the GreyC crew, Enthalpy  $\Delta H$ , and Science Olympiad. I give to Shiaoqing Tse late night talks and my logical way of thinking, and Anthony Cheek endless physics labs and conversations of interest. I bestow onto Dr. Hudson amazing chats in his office, and give my JSis, Yiran Qi, trips down Ninth Street and my senior year luck. To my 2-year roommate, Gayathri Raghavendra, I give my undying usage of her printer and mic, and the eternal roommate connection. And to Alicia Wang, my companion throughout Chem Tops and beyond, I leave hours of playing video games, extreme snaxing, and endless dumb jokes and laughter. Time to face the Northeast, I guess To everybody at this school, I leave thanks. Thank you for making my time at NCSSM something irreproducible and teaching me empathy, kindness, and the unbelievable ability of a few high school kids.

I, Cary Shindell, leave the lang to the ghet guys Keshav Kumar, Ashwin Subramaniam, Ben Carter, and Ben Morris. The whale dialect I entrust to Mr. Kumar and the tutti dialect I leave with Mr. Subramaniam.

I, Annu Singh, being of sound mind and body, do hereby leave Eirwyn Beres and Leigha McLean late-night Mom talks, episodes of the "rebellious years," and endless hugs and unconditional love; Bam Purcell the beautiful memories of Paris and late-night calming talks in my single; Aryn Graham and Jenna Israel the highs and lows of RLAing on 4B through an exceptionally difficult year; and my dearest persons (Mizak & #TheTripleandMe) the precious moments on the tennis and racquetball courts, hours in the piano room, spontaneous video chats, Friday night dinners, long chases across campus, unwavering love and support, and so much more - here's to the strength of our unbreakable bonds and the beauty of our family ... I love you guys more than I could ever say! <3 puddles, and general childlike behavior; and to Second Beall, I leave my undying pride and unconditional love, for all of you.
