

TIME TU LAF

Mrs. Walser—"Mary Lil, did that boy kiss you last night?"

Mary Lil—"Now, mother, do you suppose he came all the way from State Street to hear me sing?"

* * *

Mrs. Thompson—"Louise, what are you doing out there?"

Louise—"I'm looking at the moon, mother."

Mrs. Thompson—"Well, tell the moon to go home and come in off the porch. It's half-past twelve."

* * *

Cy—"I don't think I shall get zero on this paper."

Mr. Stokes—"Well, I don't either, but that's the lowest I could give you."

* * *

Doctor—"Tell your wife not to worry about her deafness, as it is merely an indication of advancing years."

Mr. Cowles—"Would you mind telling her that yourself, doctor."

* * *

Miss Zimmerman—"Who came after Edward VI.?"

Lyda Lee—"Edward VII."

Miss Zimmerman—"Who came after Edward VII.?"

Lyda Lee—"Queen Mary"

Miss Zimmerman—"Who followed Mary?"

Lyda Lee—"Her little lamb."

The lightning bug is brilliant,
But he hasn't any mind,
He blunders through existence,
With his head light on behind.

There was a young man called Willie,
His action you'd call silly,
He went to a ball dressed in nothing at all,

Intending to represent Chili.

* * *

Elizabeth—"Why do they put corn meal on the dance floor?"

Ham—"To make the chickens feel at home."

* * *

Conductor—"Here, you must not smoke on this car."

Mr. Allen—"I'm not smoking."

Conductor—"Well, you have your pipe in your mouth."

Mr. Allen—"Yes, I've got my feet in my shoes, but I'm not walking."

* * *

Helen—"Charlie doesn't love me, mother."

Mother—"Of coure, he loves you child."

Helen—"I know he doesn't—I tried him with a daisy."

A gentleman sprang to assist her,
He picked up her muff and her wrister,

"Did you fall ma'am, he cried;

"Do you think," she replied,

"I sat down for the fun of it, mister."

The assistant minister announced that there would be a special baptismal service the following Sunday afternoon at 3:30, and that any infants who were to be baptised should be brought to the church at that time.

The old cleigyman, who was a little deaf thought the speaking was about the new hymnals, and added this bit of information:

"Anyone not already provided can obtain them in the vestry for a dollar, or with red backs and speckled edges for one dollar and a half."

Someone asked a darky from Richmond the population of that city.

The reply was—"Ah don't know edzakly, suh, but I opine 'bout a hundred en' twenty-five thousan' counting in 'de whites."

* * *

Mrs. Allen—"What did you open that can with?"

Mr. Allen—"Why a can opener of course, what did you think?"

Mrs. Allen—"Why from the language I thought maybe you were opening it with prayer."

* * *

A stranger rang the door bell, and Joe opened the door.

"Is Mr. Moffitt in?" the caller inquired. Joe answered with formal politeness:

"I'm Mr. Moffitt, or would you like to see old Mr. Moffitt."

* * *

Miss Owens—"Joe won't you sit down in front?"

Joe—"I can't, I aint build that way"

* * *

It was a busy day in the market, and the butcher yelled to Lester who was helping him: "Hurry up Lester, cut off Mrs. Estes leg, weigh Mrs. Zimmerman's ribs, and slice Miss Owens tongue."

* * *

Joe—"What do you know about real estate?"

Dermot—"Lots."

* * *

Mrs. Smith—"They tell me your son is on the college foot ball eleven."

Mrs. Jones—"Yes, indeed."

Mrs. Smith—"What position does he play?"

Mrs. Jones—"Aint sure, but I think he is one of the draw-backs."
