VALUE OF EDUCATION.

Most of the boys and girls going to school fuss all the time about having to go and study. Instead of grumbling and fussing they should be glad of having the opportunity to go.

Their fathers and mothers did not have the advantages that they have, and they should urge them to take advantage of all their opportunities, and go to school not merely to have a good time, but to really learn something.

All successful business men do not have an education, but they learn by listening to others and sometimes even have tutors after they are grown. If they have sons or daughters, they always want them to go to college, and take advantage of the splendid schools we have now, so that they will be better prepared for life.

Every boy and girl should go to college. All sorts of ways are open for those who really desire to get an education, to work their way through. An education would mean much more to one who works for it than to any one who doesn't. If it is impossible for one to go to college they should at least, go through high school. Even this preparation is well worth while.

Education is worth real money. The value of each day spent in high school and in college has been accurately determined, and reports have been made stating the amount learned by those who do not have an education, contrasting it with that earned by those who do not have an the higher institutions of learning. Those figures are convincing.

Education is a big factor in society as well as business and no one will attain prominence who cannot talk and write correctly, and think clearly. Business men want educated boys and girls who know how to spell and write letters; in order to be a success in life one must get the best possible education and grasp every outstretched opportunity.

AIM HIGHER

The best things in life are always on the top shelf.

Better plant a desire in your heart to go forward rather than go backward.

A person may tell how to do a thing but what he does counts far more than all the talk in the world.

We all have dreams. The one who succeeds is the one who can make his dream come true.

An empty gun is never used in killing game. A big head is of no use if there is nothing in it.

When opportunity comes, take advantage of it, do not wait until tomorrow. Tempus fugit—tomorrow never comes.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Lexington Hi certainly had a good bunch at the game. Most everybody I saw was from L. H. S. That was the Salisbury-Spencer game. Our crowd was yelling for Spencer. You know why! And there was almost a fight. Ask Dot Dorsett.

The seniors are about to get privileges. What do you think of that? The Alpha Gamma had a debate about it; and the judges decided they should not. What will the faculty say? Amen.

"I call him Opportunity," said Virginia, when Ham came to the door, "because he knocks only once."

L. H. S. MUSIIC DEPARTMENT

The music department of the Lexington High School is a great improvement over that of previous years when it was a minor department of our school; this year it is one of the most important.

Miss Greenfield, who has been with us for several years past, is back with us again. This year she is offering four courses, chorus work, sight singing, harmony, and history of music. All of these are free of charge and each counts as a unit for graduation.

We are also very fortunate in having with us this year, Miss Myers. Miss Myers studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music two years, after which she went to the Institute of Musical Art of New York City, from which she graduated. She gives private piano and vocal lessons. Many students have already taken advantage of her teaching and many more are expected to take advantage of it. Miss Myers has sung several beautiful selections for the High School during chapel and we hope she will give us the pleasure of leaving her again.
