

THE DIARY OF A FRESHMAN

JANUARY 1—This morning while I was eating breakfast, Dad came in and said Where's my umbreller? Can't you find it, Mother Sed. No, sed Dad. Well, I sed, Mr. Flams must have taken it last nite because when he was starting to go I heard him say to sister, well, dear, I guess I'll just have to steal one. Sister blushed and left the table in a hurry.

JANUARY 3—Today in Civics my teacher was explaining something to me and at the last she sed, Have you got it all in your head now? I sed, yes I have it all in a nut-shell. The class luffed, me not seeing ennything funny.

JANUARY 5— Today my teacher gave two test papers back to me, I got A on one and B on the other. Me feeling pretty good and walking down the hall looking at the papers I passed a boy with a tan and orange sweater on (he had very funny hair.) He sed, you ought to be ashamed of yourself making Awful and Bad. Me feeling pretty bad about it I tore the papers up so Dad wouldn't see them.

JANUARY 8—Today my teecher ast me if I had red an article on how to improve your memory. I sed no, I forget to do it. She luffed but I did not think it was very funny as I had to stay in and read it.

LET'S PREPARE

The Christmas days are gone we know
And as they go, comes ice and snow;
But more dreadful yet comes exam
time,
With hard study to make those lessons rhyme.

And if we fail with our knowledge,
There's no use to sigh, for we can't enter college;
And then there's a cry with many a tear,
As we see what has happened, and begin to fear.

And so as the new year comes along,
Let's all make a resolve to never go wrong;
With study hard, let's do our best,
And try hard to come out, above the rest.

WHAT'S THE USE?

Did you ever stop to think what you do and why you do it? Don't, for it's only a waste of the gray matter you are supposed to have in your brain.

What's the use of leaving your warm, comfy bed about seven o'clock on a cold frosty morning when you might just as well stay there until ten or noon?

What's the use of eating? If you eat sparingly, you feel empty and if you eat all you want, you either get fat or sick.

What's the use of studying? You either have a good lesson, recited well and are dubbed a teacher's pet or a studious person, or you study the wrong lesson and flunk.

What's the use of studying a book? If it is written by a famous author and is of educational value, it just makes you see and feel your ignorance. If it's a love story, it make you feel homesick. If it's a murder, you have nightmares all night.

What's the use of going anywhere when you have to walk? Do you know how dangerous it is to cross a street? Do you know how many fatal accident occurred last year, a good year book will inform you? Do you know how many people were killed this year?

Do you know how dangerous it is to start a fire? Well, if you don't some insurance agent will tell you. What's the use?

What's the use of getting new clothes? Somebody else will have better ones, or will think they have, or your's will be like some other persons.

What's the use of falling in love? He either loves you and you get married and then you wish you hadn't or he doesn't love you and you don't get married but wish you had.

So nigh is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man.
When Duty whispers low, "Thou must,"

The youth replies, "I can."
