

THE HI-Y PARTY

Thursday night the Hi-Y Club of Lexington High School entertained by having ladies night. The room was decorated with holly and evergreens and red and green paper, carrying out the Christmas colors.

After the guests arrived, a slip of paper was given each of them, and they were asked to guess a flower for every verse. The one getting all the verses correct was given a prize. Another flower game was played, and then a game of advertisements. All present but one got that correct, and it was voted to give this one the prize. After several more games, eskimo pie, cakes, apples and peanuts were served. A Jack Horner pie was brought out and everybody received a favor. After this all went home feeling that they had had a grand time.

WELCOME 27—L. H. S. 11

Showing a marked improvement over the previous game, Lexington was able to hold the fast-stepping Welcome quint to a 27 to 11 score: In the first quarter the locals got one shot at the basket, and Welcome rolled the score up to 16 to 1. However, the visitors began to rough it up, and it seems as if they got the worst end of the bargain, for in the remainder of the game they only scored 11 points to our 10.

From start to finish, Lexington never had a chance; however, Lester Everhart proved to the small crowd that he was a worthy brother of an All-State center by dropping the leather in for eight of the eleven points. The game was rough, and was marred by many fouls, especially by Hargrave and Chitty, who seemed to have too much foot-ball in their systems.

It may be stated that there is not a letter man on the squad. However there are some in school, and if they would come out we could place a better team on the floor.

DON'T GET STUNG

You better not fool with a Bumblebee!—

If you don't think they can sting—you'll see!

They're lazy to look at, an' kind o'
go

Buzzin' an' bummin' around so slow,
An' ac' so slochy an' all fagged out
Danglin' their legs as they move about
The holly hawks 'at they can't climb in

I thought its a tumble-in out ag'in!
Wunst I watched one climb clean
'way

In a jimson-blossom, I did, one day—
An' I est grabbed it—an' nen let go—
An' "ooh-poh! honey! I told ye so!"
Says the Ragged Man; an' he ist run
An' pullt out the stinger, an' don't laugh none,

An' says: " They has be'n folks, I guess,
'At thought I wuz predjudust, more or less—

Yit I still muntane 'at a Bumblebee Wears out his welcome too quick for me!"

L. H. S. DEFEATS DENTON 16-15

In a game that could hardly be termed a fast game, although very close, the teams representing Denton and Lexington fought very hard for supremacy. This was not only the first game of the season, but the first in two seasons for Lexington.

In the opening minute of play, John Newsom, of Lexington, looped the leather for the first score, but the Denton boys soon got busy and piled a good lead, which they held until the closing minute of play, when Hargrave tied the score with a shot from near mid-field, and again dropped in a foul after the time was up.

The Denton team showed the best passing game, but they were not so sure of the basket as the locals. For Lexington, Everhart, Chitty, and Hargrave played stellar ball.

Louise—"You should change your way of dancing a little."

Bob—"In what way?"

Louise—"You might occasionally step on my right foot."
