"Give Us Two Minutes More!"

(Before you slam that door)

—Joe Ayers

"Hurry, or you'll be late for your next class!" That's the general thought Lexington High School students have when changing classes. It may be that you're leaving Geometry class and going all the way down to General Business class, which is quite a distance to cover in three minutes, especially since there is such a large increase in the enrollment of our school this year, and also since the little eighth graders don't know their left from their right. It seems as though the eighth graders should know by now that you should keep to your right in the halls. I suggest that their teachers set aside a few minutes to teach them this rule before some of us Seniors are hurt. Another suggestion worth mentioning is for these young students to stop the puppy play in the halls and on the stairs during the changing of classes. I feel that this would relieve the situation to a great extent. But, we must not stop there. We could still use two more minutes between periods to a good advantage. Why, I hear that the girls don't even have time to powder their noses between periods. What was that, Mr. Payne? You say it's up to the students? Okay, what do you say, students? What was that? Who was that "lame brain" that said a majority was for five minutes between classes? You idiot! That vote was unanimous.

L. H. S. Holds Annual Homecoming Parade, October 18

One of the most stupendous events of the year was held Friday, October 18, when the annual Homecoming Parade of Lexington High School was staged. Almost all the homerooms entered a float, and many cute and clever ideas were carried out in them. All plans for this great event were carried out as scheduled so that the parade began promptly at 4:30 p.m. Making a spectacular appearance was the high school band which was led by Jake Cross, drum major. Local merchants in town paid for the materials which were needed for the various floats and in return their names were put on the floats as sponsors.

After viewing the floats and after much deliberation, the judges chose Miss Frances Walser's room, 301, as the winner. Using the theme, "We'll Lick 'Em Tonite," won Miss Walser's room the $15 prize given by the Athletic Association. On the truck was a giant lollipop tree surrounded by girls licking lollipops.

The second place prize of $10, given by the Athletic Association went to Mr. Pete Lea's D. O. Class. Tied up in a huge cellophane package was Miss Myrtle Smith, who was the main feature of the float. The theme, "Prize For the Winner," certainly was suitable for one of the prettiest floats in the parade.

"We'll Dry Up Barium Springs Tonite" brought the Lexhipep $5 which was given by the Student Council. Featuring a most realistic desert scene, (Continued on page 3)

3,000 See Victorious Yellow Jackets Take Barium 25 to 0 in Homcoming Game

Lexington's homecoming proved a great success with its final parade in the afternoon and its victory over Barium Springs that night. The game was played at Holt-Moffitt Field October 18, before an excellent crowd of 3,000 spectators. Besides the resounding victory over Barium, everyone enjoyed Lexington's growing band, which played at the half, and the parade of the fourteen sponsors with their queen, Enid Ayers, and the three winning floats which were: Miss Walser's Homeroom, first prize; Mr Lea's Homeroom, second prize; and Lexhipep, third prize. The cheerleaders and students did some fine yelling, which undoubtedly inspired the team on to its 25 to 0 victory over Barium.

In the opening minutes of the game Lexington hit pay dirt when Gibson galloped 31 yards for a touchdown. Lexington's offense clicked all night with another touchdown being scored early in the second quarter and with Gibson going to the one-yard line as the half ended.

Early in the third quarter Wilson intercepted Clark's pass and returned it to Barium's 32. Several plays later Williams went into the end zone for the third touchdown of the evening, and Newell's kick for the extra point was good this time, making the score 19-0. As the final period of the game ended, the Yellow Jackets once again took the ball and marched to the eight, where Williams skirted the end (Continued on page three)

Lexicon Staff Presents Subscription Drive Program

On October 11, 1946, the LEXICON staff presented eight skits to the Lexington High School student body for the purpose of opening the subscription drive for the 1947 LEXICON.

The skits, written by the members of the staff and directed by their advisor, Miss Frances Walser, were given as follows: "Bill Bury," "Love scene," "Courtroom," "Night Club," "Desert Island," "Foducian," "Africa," and "Underworld." The staff members took part in these hilarious scenes. Although a member of the LEXHIPEP staff, Woody McKay substituted for Bill Blaylock in one skit and acted as announcer throughout the program.

For the closing of the program, the members of the LEXICON staff were seated on the stage and each was introduced. As a result of this drive 650 subscriptions have been made to date and the student body is looking forward to the 1947 Lexicon.

Wake Forest Dean of Religion Speaks Before L. H. S. Student Body

The Glee Club sponsored the worship program on Friday, October 25. Under the direction of the new director, Mr. John Crocker, they rendered two beautiful numbers: "Beautiful Savior"—Wallingford Riegger and "That Music Enchanting"—Mozart. Accompanying the group at the piano was Joe Ayers. Mr. Crocker led in the congregational singing of "The Church's One Foundation". Jack Swaim, a member of the Glee Club, read responsively the devotional Scripture: Psalm 24.

Rev. J. Roy Clifford, pastor of the First Baptist Church, introduced the speaker of the morning, Dr. Sankey L. Blanton, Dean of the School of Religion of Wake Forest College. He chose as his subject, "Music of Christianity". Mr. Blanton stressed the different types of music; starting with the negro spiritual and continuing to the classic symphonies.

"House on 92nd Street" Presented by Lewis Players

"The House on 92nd Street," the famous atomic bomb play, was presented by the Lewis Players at Lexington High School on October 14. The drama was patterned after the movie by the same name with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis playing practically all the parts. The fortune teller was played by Harold Lanier and the F.B.I. agent by Joe Honeycutt. Joe's entrance proved to be the sensational climax.
