What's In A Name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet.—Shakespeare.

—Nancy Witherspoon

A great person once said, "There are three degrees of intelligence among high school students. They are either idiots, imbeciles, or morons." Since that gives us a mental age between two and eight years, I hope you will enjoy this little game. You begin by taking a name for which there is a synonym or an antonym, or which can be used as a verb. Then compose a little three-line jingle with the name as the last line. You don't understand? Well, after reading a few of them you'll get the idea.

See? It's really simple. Now my only worry is the reaction of the people whose names I used. Please! It's all in fun. Besides, I know you really like to see your name in the paper, don't you?

Dear Mr. Cleare Solution,

I have a problem that I hope you can help me solve.

There are two boys in my life, and each one wants me to "go steady" with him. I am having a terrible time trying to figure out which one to go with. I really do like them both. But to let you understand it better, I will give you a description of each!

First, there is Bob. He has blonde hair, blue eyes, and is about 5' 11". He is on our football squad and a very good player. When we are together I think that he is "the one". Now and then we have arguments which usually end with him taking me home.

Second, there is Johnny. His hair is black and very wavy. His eyes are blue and he is about 6' 1". He is the captain of the football squad. Everyone thinks he is great. When we are together, I also think he is "the one". He is very nice, and we almost never quarrel.

When Bob comes to see me, he always calls Mom and Dad by their first names and just makes himself at home. But when Johnny comes he always respects Mom and Dad and is very courteous.

And—Why, Mr. Solution, I think I have the answer to my problem. I just never did compare the boys, or I guess I would have known before that—Johnny was the one.

Thanks to you anyway,
Little Barrel o' Happiness

Dear Lil Barrel o' Happiness,

If everyone did as you did in your letter, I would be out of business. But what does it matter so long as everyone's happy?

Mr. Cleare Solution

(Editor's note: Send any problems you may have to Kelly Beck, care Mr. Cleare Solution, "The LEXHIPEP".)

ALUMNI NEWS

"Lish" Coggins

Well, hello, all you happy (I hope) people. Anyway, you ought to be happy 'cause exams are over, and whether or not your knowledge showed up so well on paper, you can at least rest easy until next semester.

By now I guess everybody has gotten into the swing of going to school again. Everybody must have come home for the holidays this year or rather last year, and it certainly seemed grand to see all you alumni. Lots of the Alumni came up here to L. H. S. and visited us and write in our register.

Jake Cross (U.N.C.): I never dreamed that I could miss this place so much. It's a wonderful place (U.N.C.) but I still think that L.H.S. is "Tops."

Jack Lancaster (Wake Forest): Wake Forest is a swell place and I like it a lot, but ole L.H.S. is still the best place yet.

"Tinker" Williams (Wake Forest): I didn't realize what a swell place this is until I left it! (Wake Forest is O.K. too.)

Mel Palmer (Catawba College): It's nice to be back among the swell people of L.H.S.

Barbara Lawrence (High Point College): It's good to come back to L.H.S. I think L.H.S. still is tops and I miss her a great deal!

Hubert Olive (U.N.C.): It is just wonderful to return to L.H.S., and I wish that my high school days were ahead of me instead of behind me.

Jean Coggins (W.C.U.N.C.): S'mighty good to be back up here receiving the same genuine welcome that L.H.S. students have always given the alumni.

"Pat" Gordon (W.C.U.N.C.): It's great to be back. Everything looks good to me! It seems too wonderful to be away from W.C. and back at L.H.S. (at least for a little while).

Joe Ayers: It's really good to be back in Lexington and to visit the good ole' Lexington High School!
