Jackets Continue Non-Stop Flight

February 11—The Lexington High School Yellowjackets continued their non-stop flight toward the South Piedmont Conference Championship at Winston-Salem Friday night. Incidentally, in revenge over the Children's Home Quint who took an early season contest from them.

The Jackets literally flew to a 14-1 lead at the end of the first quarter, with Harold Carter at the controls. The sharpshooting Harold not only got 16 direct hits, but also gave the overflowing gymnasium quite an exhibition of stunt flying-er ball-handling.

All was not smooth sailing, however, for the "Home" team was not to be denied. They had a few tricks left, and just about threw the Jackets into a tailspin early in the fourth quarter. In fact, it looked as if they were to repeat their previous performance; that is, overcoming a huge lead to win in the final seconds.

In spite of Sheril's rabbit foot, the Jackets came through, and the Home had to be satisfied with a 5 point defeat.

The "Jackettes," on the other hand, lost to the Children's Home Lassies whom they had previously beaten in a home-floor encounter. Candis Carpenter stole the show from the high-scoring Peggy McCulloch. Miss Carpenter led the Jackettes in their lost cause with 12 points.

Jackets Win, Jackettes Lose To Visiting Barium Teams

The high school Jackets defeated a visiting Barium team for the second time this year, as they rolled to a 46-35 victory here Friday night.

This victory came much easier than the first encounter in which they met this year. The first game they played ended in a heated overtime period, with Bob Shytle pulling the Jackets through for a win.

In the second meeting lanky Bob did just that again, though not in an overtime period. This time he racked up 18 points to lead the Jackets in the scoring department. "Tubby" Craver threw in 10 points to second Shytle.

The girls' game ended with the Jackettes on the slight end of a 34-20 score. Peggy McCulloch led the lassies with 10 points.

WEATHER REPORT

There's something about warm weather that gets ole Joe Fan jumping. Just let him hear one Robin chirp or see one plant burst into bloom, and a marked change (very similar to the Jekyll-Hyde episodes) takes place.

No longer is he chilled-but-loyal football fan or the excited-but-civilized basketball fan. He has suddenly turned into a rabid—but highy American—basebal fan!

Long ago given up as unexplained by leading psychiatrists, the American baseball fan is the eighth wonder of the world. Who else would smother his team with abusive (to say the least) words, and seconds later fiercely attack some hopeless fan who unwillingly denounces his favorite second sacker?

Once more Junior is oiling up his favorite glove, Pop is quoting the latest on Dimag's salary, and Mom (poor soul) has to sit through it all, knowing that soon she'll be sitting homes at nights knitting while this mad twosome strolls out to see the fifth-place Rinky-Dinks take it on the nose again.

Oh, happy day! Spring is here again (almost).

ODDS AND ENDS

Harold Carter, the Jackets' high-scoring, smooth-ball-handling sensation, rated Greensboro Daily News attention when he was selected the school-boy performer to be featured in Al Thomy's "Meet the Prep" several weeks ago. Harold is currently playing like a house afire and should be seriously considered for an All-State birth. * * * If the Yellowjackets don't fall to "Old Man Upset" before February 25, there is definitely going to be a photo finish in the S. P. Conference. The T'ville-Lexington encounter, the final conference game of the season, will decide the championship. * * * Pass the smelling salts, George. The Hi-Y intramural basketball tournament is really packing 'em in. * * * It's more fun than a barrel of monkeys.

Listed below are the scoring statistics as computed thus far this year. This list includes both conference and non-conference engagements.

Carter Capers To Cop Game From Concord

Girls Lose

Harold Carter showed up to his true self as he copped 23 points against Concord in a decisive battle at Concord Tuesday, February 8. The local laddies defeated the Concord Spiders 45-31.

The victory put the L. H. S. "Jackets" high in the conference standings.

Concord took an early lead, but keeping the lead was a different story. The "Jackets" passed and the Spiders never repassed. Bob Shytle, sophomore ace, was runner-up with 11 points.

In the girls' game Concord just couldn't be whipped. The L. H. S. girls dropped their game by a score of 42-30. Scott led the winners with 17 points while high scoring Peggy McCulloch sank 14 for the locals.
