

On Page 7
A
Big Surprise!

THE LEXHIPEP

All the New Members of the "Y's"

XXVIII

LEXINGTON, N. C., OCTOBER 6, 1950

No. 1

Lexhipep and Lexicon Launch Subscription Campaigns

The LEXHIPEP opened its annual subscription drive on Thursday, September 7, with a most enjoyable assembly program.

"Teen" Redwine, editor of the LEXHIPEP, presented the new staff and announced the beginning of the subscription drive with a 100% goal. All homerooms subscribing and paying 100% by today will attend the free movie at the Carolina Theatre Monday morning at nine o'clock.

For entertainment, Joe Hooks, alumnus and local drummer, and Jack Everhart of Thomasville played several numbers.

LEXICON SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE

The LEXICON opened its subscription drive on Thursday, September 28. The annuals are the same price as they were last year, four dollars. Two dollars of this money is supposed to be paid on or before December 13; the other two dollars should be paid anytime before the annuals are issued. Be sure to sign a subscription blank when a staff member comes to your classroom!

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

October 6—Football: High Point, there
October 12—Holiday—District N. C. E. A. Meeting
October 13—Football: Children's Home, here
October 20—Football: Barium — Homecoming Game
October 17—Civic Music Concert
October 20—Pep Rally Assembly
October 26—Honor Society Tapping
October 27—Football: Mooresville, there
November 2—Glee Club Assembly
November 3—Football: Monroe, there

Jackets Tangle High Point Tonight

Left to right: Patsy Craver, Sue Everhart, Amelia Brown, Nona Swaim, Miss Stevenson, advisor, Mary Jane Shirley, Betsy Stoner, "Teen" Redwine, and Joan Greene. Chief, Nancy Swing, in front.

L.H.S. CHEERING SECTION GETS UNDER WAY

The cheerleaders of Lexington High School are the only group around here that do so much work and get so little credit. Here and now that fact will be remedied.

The cheerleaders have been working hard this year, even before school began, to try to give the students the best pep meetings that old Lexington High has ever had. They also want to give the football team the best support ever. Looks as if they've succeeded, too!!

Much of the credit for the good pep meetings and loyal support to the team goes to an individual. She has really made the cheerleaders get down to work, and she has helped to instigate new yells which are plenty good. This person in question is, of course, the Chief, "Hinge" Swing, and L.H.S. thinks she is tops!

Keep up the good work, cheerleaders; you're doing swell!!!

High School Band Adds to Spirit

It is said that practice makes perfect, and from the looks of the band, this must hold true. The band has been a great help at pep meetings by introducing two of the best yells L.H.S. has ever heard. This change in the band is largely due to the capability of the bandleader, Mr. Wagner, and the loyalty of the band members.

Teams Old Rivals; Expected Thriller

Continuing a keen rivalry that has existed between the two schools for a number of years, the Lexington Yellow Jackets once again meet the High Point Bisons at High Point College stadium tonight at eight o'clock. In the past five years the Bisons have won three games to the Jackets' one, with last year's game ending in a 13 to 13 deadlock. This year proves to be a good opportunity for Lexington to narrow the gap and get back into the race.

This game is more than just team or school rivalry; it is a definite battle between two coaches, Harold and Carol Bowen. With a twin brother on each side it is always exciting. Both teams have lost the first three games; thus they go into this game on an even basis. Even though this is not a conference game, it is very important to Lexington High, both from standpoints of teams and coaches. Another factor to be noted is that Lexington's superintendent of schools, Mr. L. E. Andrews, is a native of High Point.

Two New Teachers Complete Faculty

With the opening of school we greet our two new teachers, Miss Leone Branan, the new French teacher, and Miss Mary Edith Jennings, the new librarian.

Miss Branan is very much impressed with the fine spirit towards work and other activities shown by the students of Lexington High School. She is a graduate of Georgia State College for Women.

Miss Jennings is from Elizabeth City and is a graduate of Greensboro College. She thinks the students of L. H. S. are well behaved as a whole.

Although two more teachers rate as "old" teachers, they do have something new about them—their names: Mrs. Joe Tate, formerly Miss Mary Casper, and Mrs. Steve Parrott who, before her marriage, was Miss Betty McCrary. L. H. S. student body extends best wishes to both of them, and congratulations to Mr. Tate, an L. H. S. alumnus, and Mr. Parrott.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

At the first Senior Class meeting of the year, the above officers were elected to lead the seniors through the Big Year. Those who were so honored are: President, "Corky" King; Vice-President, Burke Giles; Secretary, Barbara Young; and Treasurer, Maxine Yarbrough. Congratulations to these four, and here's hoping we all have a wonderful year!

Senior Scribblings

After eleven years of happy study and play (mostly play, we'll admit), the best class ever to survive (I mean enjoy) the trials of L.H.S. reaches its goal, THE SENIOR YEAR. Yes, we're all looking forward to enjoying those senior privileges(?) and receiving the admiring glances of underclassmen (ha-ha). Hats off to our Senior Class, and may this be the best year yet!

We knew Coach Bowen was serious about his job of coaching, but we didn't know that he would go to such an extreme as a broken arm to demonstrate his teachings!

Congratulations to our senior class officers! You're the best group to lead us that we know of, and we're all proud of you—Corky King, Burke Giles, Barbara Young and Maxine Yarbrough.

Looks like this is going to be a swell year for everyone. The L.H.S. band is about the swellest thing we know. The peppy music really sounds grand, and Mr. Wagner can get music plus music out of those 60.

This year the LEXHIPEP is featuring "School Snaps," or "You'd Better Watch Out!" Our ROVING camera-man will be on the LOOSE (as usual) catching all of you who WANDER around. So you'd better behave yourself, 'cause you might get shot (with a camera, that is*) Watch out for the man with the camera! (In other words, just MILLIE.)