Henry Moore is cutting hard with his girl friends, such as Eva Mae Green. We hope he won't be left out in the cold as he was last year.

It's something smothering that G. Pratt and George Stegall are not trying to set the world on fire, but only trying to start a fire burning in each other's hearts. What do you have to say about this Jiggetts?

SOCIAL BEHAVIOR

MANNERS AS A COAT By Kobena Daniels

Did you ever realize before that some people treat manners as they would a new coat? Maybe a girl or boy gets a new coat which they only wear on special occasions such as: teas, parties, receptions, etc. Well, some people think of manners in the same way and use good manners only on special occasions. It is just as bad to have "company manners" as it is to have none at all.

Manners should be to everyone as natural as breathing and as habitual at home and school as at a reception or coming-out party.

In considering manners carefully, we find that school is the place where most of our time is spent; therefore, school is the place to practice good manners toward schoolmates and teachers. If practiced daily, they will become as natural as breathing. If this happens, there won't be so many girls and boys saying, "I don't want to go to that party you have to act too sophisticated." "These boys and girls are altogether wrong. They think of manners as being sophisticated for one reason, because they only use it on special occasions but if it were something they did naturally, they would be only too glad to go.

Manners is the thing that makes you what you are and causes people to be attracted to you. If only for this reason, everyone should want good manners.

Get the next issue of this paper and find out some more of the points in good manners. I'm sure you don't want to be referred to as having "company manners". This column, "Social Behavior" will bring you the accepted conduct in the home, church, school and other public places.

THE BEAUTIES OF FALL By Bernice Wright

Perhaps everyone has a favorite season of the year. One of the most beautiful seasons of the year is fall. In fall, when Jack Frost comes and goes leaving his white frosty trail behind him, the earth is then a beautiful scene. The trees, with its many colorful leaves; such as, gold, yellow, scarlet, red, brown, and many other colors, are hard to describe. These trees, mingled with the trees that stay

Do Jean Hardy and W. T. Davis really know what they want? We think they do. Jean was more than surprised to find that she had something to worry about—competition with W. T. Davis. Who? Gladys Bullock, of course.

Alfred Patrick sleeps so much until we wonder if he is sleeping his blues away over Nancy Gibson or Evelyn Bobbitt.

Play children are numerous this year and Charlie (Businessman) Jiggetts is getting rid of a few of his by giving them permission to marry.

"Old love never dies", says John T. Brown and Juanita Twitty, also Thurston Floyd and Lucy Miller.

What sort of game is glamour boy, David Harmon, playing with the girls this year? To hear him tell it, they all have him wrong. When will he make his mind up?

One of our new boys, Rufus Hill is fitting right into the picture with Helen Bobbitt, or is he, Helen?

Who is the lucky girl, Claude Epps? Did someone say Dorothy Burton, or Marie Jones? Where does George Harmon fit? Oh! He is Annie Bell Brane's.

What happened to Annie Tolliver? Has she faded out of the picture with Henry Moore and let others take her place, such as Beatrice Davis, or is she still playing it cool with both Moore and King Arthur Campbell?

Eldred Strider has fallen so-o-o-o-o-o-o-o deeply in love with Robert (Taylor) Scott until she can't help it...the case is hopeless.

The William's—William Taylor and William Quinichette are crazy over Louise Henderson. Who is going to be your pick, Louise?

Peace is being talked about almost as much as war, and Lonie Peace says her time will come to be a "glamour girl". yet.
