Panther Prowl Staff

The Prowl is certainly a service to students of Henderson Institute. Working together, we are constantly observant of the news concerning the students and the faculty of H. I. Under the sponsorship of Mr. E. N. Faucette, we work as a team to publish a paper that will be of interest to everyone who reads it. At the beginning of school, the staff must begin preparing themselves for a busy year. The business staff takes care of the paper financially, by selling advertisements. The editorial staff, concentrates on writing future articles, editorials, and even the less serious sections of the paper.

This extraordinary newspaper, "The Panther Prowl" is a printed example of the standards of H. I. Its fine staff deserves a sincere congratulation from each member and students for its service and ability to arouse the attention of the reader. Each year, the edition of the Panther Prowl is dedicated to all who read it, and the classes of H. I. The issue is especially cherished and remembered by everyone who reads it. The Panther Prowl Staff is undoubtedly an asset to Henderson Institute.

What About Mini Skirts

The fashions this year for the girls' wardrobe seem to stress the fad of mini length. To explore in the world of girls' fashions, the idea of how the boys feel toward this situation, questions were asked. What About Mini Skirts? Do you dig girls who wear minis? What is your opinion of minis? These questions were asked to some of the fellows on campus. Their opinions are:

- Charles Hicks: "They need to be shorter."
- George Davis: "I like girls who wear Mini Skirts."
- Elijah Jefferson: "There isn't enough around."
- Stanley Darden: "More skirts and bigger legs."
- Carlton Davis: "They are not short enough, they should be up around the waist."
- Roscoe Edwards: "They should wear bikinis instead of minis."
- Bernard Ragland: "All right, but some girls can't wear them because their legs are too skinny."
- Gary Warren: "Very interesting!"
- Melvin Alston: "They look good, as long as they have nice legs, neat, and look good."
- Stephan Ragland: "They wear them too short, but they are looking good (mo ma)."
- Robert Judkins: "Fine."
- In conclusion I say the majority of the boys are in favor of mini skirts, and so am I.

What Would You Do If Today Were The Last Day On Earth

By Sandra Peace and Carolyn McKnight

If today were your last day on earth, how would you spend it? Would you linger and mope around or would you settle for a quiet day with little Johnnie Walker Red? Well, here are our fellow students' replies of how they would spend their last day on earth.

Clara Boyd: If this was my last day on earth I'd stay with Stanley.

Doris Henderson: My philosophy is never to waste time. Therefore I would eat, pray, call on the one I love, and die.

Brenda Glover: First I would find my man Sinclair Jones, and get with Johnnie Walker Red and have myself a ball.

Gladys Harris: First I would find my man. We would both go to the lake with our brown bag and party all day long.

Brenda Williams: I would go downtown and by me a slack suit and a bathing suit, go to the lake, take a swim, get me a glass of milk and scotch, sip on it, and have fun with someone special.

Ruby Bullock: My gang and I would go to the lake, take some swinging music, and of course Mr. Johnnie Walker Red, then, I would live it on out of this world.

Delores Alston: If this was my last day on earth I would get plenty of good food and eat while I am with my man, along with a few other things.

Lou Betty Durham: I would be worrying where I'm going to be the next day.

Badger Brame: If it was possible I would buy a Mach I Mustang and go to Hawaii. After living it up for the first twelve hours, I would fall upon my knees and start praying like the "Devil." Although it is better to have lived with sins than not to have lived at all.

Partica Cooper: I would be on Cloud Nine with Carlton.

Regina Reid: On my last day on earth I would go to church and pray that my soul would be saved because I have been a big sinner.

Narcissus Hargrove: Gerald and I will get together, pray and have fun.

Elijah Gill: On my last day on earth, I would get my record player, and my favorite records, rear back in a comfortable chair, call my lover, and honey will we burn.

Carolyn McKnight: If today was my last day on earth. I would get down on my knees and thank God for the good times I have had, and ask him for forgiveness of my sins.

Barbara Alston: If this was my last day on earth, I would make love, not war.
