WINSTON FACULTY GIVES G. H. S. LITTLE END OF A TEN TO EIGHT SCORE

Return Game To Be Played Here

A new wrinkle, in the athletic way, has been started by this year's faculty. Not to be outdone by the students, they have organized a cracker-jack of a basket ball team.

The first game of the season was played against the Winston faculty, in Winston.

During the first half Greensboro took the bit in her mouth and got away with a fine lead. She did not allow the enemy to make a single field goal during the initial period. The work of G. Phillips and McFadden as guards was good. The first half score was 6 to 3 in favor of G. H. S.

At the beginning of the second half the game started off with a bang. The Winston bunch of players were tired of looking weak in the eyes of their ardent supporters, so they immediately began to toss the ball for goals. Three followed each other in succession. Then a foul goal was thrown through the hoop, making the score 10 to 8 infavor of Winston.

People who saw the game said that all of the players ought to make the football faculty team next year if roughness and pep had anything to do with it.

This Thursday a return game will be played in Greensboro, and Mr. Charlie Phillips, the big Greensboro star, says that the G. H. S. faculty are planning a noble revenge.

HISTORIAN AND HIGH LIFE EDITOR ELECTED BY JUNIORS

The Junior Class met in room 101, Friday afternoon. The president was absent, but the vice president, Miss Edna Cartland, ably presided. The purpose of this meeting was to elect a class historian. There were three nominees for this office. Miss Isabel Cone was elected.

As one of the Junior class editors was unable to fill the duties of that office, on account of her ill health, a suggestion was made from the chair, that some one be nominated to fill the office. There were three nominees for this office also. Miss Elizabeth Thornton was elected.

Miss Cartland brought before the class the importance of class unity in making arrangements for the Junior-Senior reception. In order to promote this unity, a representative from each Junior room was proposed to form a committee to decide on committees for the final arrangements for the reception. The decision of this committee will be brought before the class at the next meeting, at which time further arrangements will be proposed.

POETRY CLUB ENTERTAINED AT HOME OF LILLIAN CLEGG

"Sea Gull Song" Selected by Club For High Life

The Poetry club held its third meeting on Thursday night at the home of Miss Lillian Clegg. At this time the first regular program of the club was presented. It consisted of talks, and afterwards a general discussion of the following subjects: Imagination in Poetry, led by Alice Thompson, The Charm of Poetry, led by Katharine Gregory, Poetic Images, by Elizabeth Transou.

Arrangements were made for the study of certain poets and their works, and the program was completed.

The hostess served delightful refreshments decorate in our own purple and gold.

At each meeting the interest and enthusiasm for this Poetry Study club has accumulated. Every member brings a poem written by some contemporary poet, and it is read aloud to the other members. After all have been read one is chosen to be published in High Life. The one selected for this week is the "Sea Gull Song" by Mary Carolyn Davies. It was published, at one time, in the Saturday Evening Post.

Sea Gull Song

My thought are mighty sea-gulls.
Shining out to sea

As white and strong as sea-gulls
As avid of the sea

They rest upon the green waves.
They mount up, one by one.

My thoughts are lordly sea-gulls,

My body stays in bondage
Upon the shore, I know;
But lazily float the sea-gulls
Like great flakes of snow.
Lazily, float the sea-gulls
Drifting in the blue
My thoughts are bright as sea-
gulls,
Their flight as true.

TYPEWRITING TEAM THEPSM Typewriting Team Working

Hard Every Afternoon

The basket ball teams aren't the only ones that are practicing for G. H. S. Every afternoon after school the Typewriting Team is out working for all it's worth. The contestants are trying to achieve perfection both in speed and in accuracy, for they hope to carry off the honors at the coming contest.

The typewriting contest will probably be held in Durham about the first of May, and is under the management of Miss Ethel Soloway, of the Durham High School.

The typewriting team who will represent G. H. S. is composed of three senior girls, Pauline Pleasants, Madeline Little and Elizabeth Tilley. When interviewed, the girls stated that they considered their chances for winning the contest, this year, very favorable.

The reporters from Spring Street and West Lee Schools are the only ones who have sent in their contributions for The Administrative Page, therefore this department is not appearing in this issue.

JUNIOR CITIZENSHIP DISCUSSED BY PARENT-TEACHERS

MISS ELLIOTT OF N. C. C. W. SPEAKS

One of the best attended and most interesting meetings of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the High School was held in the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 31, at 3:30. The subject of the afternoon was "Junior Citizenship." Nancy Little and John Sykes, two members of the Senior class, very ably discussed Student Cooperative Council, a phase of Junior citizenship in the school. Nancy Little showed how it would operate as a medium between the student body and the faculty, increasing in school the standard of honor and stimulating scolar-

REIDSVILLE AND RALEIGH SCALPS ADDED TO STRING OF GIRL BASKETEERS

Our basketball girls kept up their string of victories by adding to their list two more wins.

They defeated Reidsville, Friday night, Jan. 26, on their own floor, (Reidsville) 3-10.

On Saturday night the team met their old rival, Raleigh, at the Y. M. C. A. of Greensboro. The Raleigh girls sent our team to defeat in the championship series last year, consequently there was a large number of students from the school and many interested fans of the city present. The Capitol City girls were handed the low end of a 26 to 18 score.

The Greensboro quint had no individual stars for the game, but they united their efforts in excellent team work, which proved Raleigh's stumbling block.

For the visiting team Sue Mowery, Elizabeth Thomas and Doris De Lamater played exceptionally well.

The line-up and summary:

SENIOR SHORT STORY CLUB HOLDS PREMIER MEETING

Mrs. Dreher Entertains

The Short Story Club had its first meeting Monday night, Jan. 29th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dreher on McIver Street. This being the first meeting we made plans for our future work. Here are the five aims:

1. To learn to appreciate short stories.
2. To learn the principles of short story writing.
3. To encourage the writing of short stories for "High Life."
4. To work a bibliography of manuals on short story writing.
5. To start individual collections of short stories by the club members.

Books were received for study and from what was read in them, the course will inevitably be an enjoyable one. The parts for the next meeting were assigned to Francis Thomas, Lee Cartland, Wilbur Hodgkin and Margaret Sweeney. Marjorie Cartland will lead the discussion of the short story called the "Song." The charter members of this organization are as follows: Carmell Ferguson, President; John Sikes, Reporter; Lota Lee Troy, Secretary and Treasurer; Wilbur Hodgkin, Marjorie Cartland, Martha Farrar, Lee Cartland, Francis Thomas, Margaret Barnes, Margaret Sweeney and Mrs. Dreher.

This club is a little late in starting but just wait and see if they don't make up for lost time. Mr. Barton heads this club and says that he expects great things of it. The meetings are to be held every two weeks on Monday night from 7:30 to 9:30. The different members of the club will entertain it in their turns. Mrs. Dreher delightfully entertained the club this time and Miss Margaret Sweeney has invited it to her house for the next meeting.

It gives the club great pleasure to say that Mrs. Dreher has joined them. She is very much interested in their work and the club feels sure that she will prove to be a valuable asset.

FOOTBALL MEN RECEIVE CLASS NUMERALS

The two horns went to chapel Tuesday—the first meeting for this semester—Mr. Charlie Phillips and Miss Louise Smith. Weinies with mustard were served by Coach McFadden and Dude Sellars. Marshmallows were toasted over the fire in the huge fireplace.

This was the first time in the history of the high school that the boys have entertained a girls' team. It has always been the job of the girls to provide for the entertainment of visiting teams. For this reason and for the good time had by all, the girls were very grateful for their reception.

MOORESVILLE TEAM AGAIN LEAVES GREENSBORO TO HOLD THE BAG

WINS BY TEN POINTS

For the second time in the season Greensboro has suffered defeat at the hands of the snappy Mooresville team. The Greensboro second team started the game Friday night but were soon swamped under a 12 to 4 score. Then the first team went on the court into action. This only served as a spur to the visitors and they piled up the score, until at the end of the game it stood 37 to 27 in their favor.

Hartness and Evans did the stellar work for Mooresville, but the entire team was good.

For Greensboro, Goodwin and Harrison showed up well. Had they not been so ambitious in trying to make long shots from near the center of the floor, tho, they might have been even better.

Line-up and summary:
Greensboro. Pos. Mooresville.
Everett r.f. Gresham
Gray l.f. Hartness

Cox r.g. Carrigan
Burroughs l.g. Brown

GIRLS BASKETBALL TEAM HONORED BY FOOTBALL BOYS

The Greensboro and Raleigh girls' basketball teams were honored last Saturday evening, Jan. 27th, at a delightful reception and wine roast given at the Y. W. C. A. hut. The entertainment began immediately after the Greensboro Raleigh game.

The main feature of the evening was a very graceful clog-dance rendered by Mr. Charlie Phillips and Miss Louise Smith. Weinies with mustard were served by Coach McFadden and Dude Sellars. Marshmallows were toasted over the fire in the huge fireplace.

This was the first time in the history of the high school that the boys have entertained a girls' team. It has always been the job of the girls to provide for the entertainment of visiting teams. For this reason and for the good time had by all, the girls were very grateful for their reception.

They all had sweaters on.—Ex.
