

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NEWS

The girls' gym ball team has been unusually successful in winning the games that have been played. The scores are:

- Aycock, 6; Caldwell, 20.
- Training, 5; Caldwell, 16.
- McIver, 4; Caldwell, 20.

The basketball team at Caldwell has a fair chance of winning the city-wide championship series this year. The results of the games that have already been played are:

- Jan. 13—Caldwell, 32; Aycock, 6.
- Jan. 17—Caldwell, 41; Training, 5.
- Jan. 18—Caldwell, 34; McIver, 6.

Miss Fannie Starr Mitchell made a visit to Caldwell on Monday, January 14, 1928. The purpose of her visit was to help the outgoing eight grades plan their work at high school.

PURPLE AND GOLD REVUE IS SUCCESS

First of Its Kind Put on by the High School and Mr. Johnson's First Production

GLORIFIED SCHOOL GIRLS

"The Purple and Gold Revue of 1928," written and directed by J. H. Johnson, met with great success at the Aycock School auditorium Monday night, January 16.

This was the first show of its kind given by the high school and the first ever put on by Mr. Johnson, this being his first year out of college. Those in charge of the production are considering making it an annual affair. A new review would be written and staged early next fall.

The different periods of history were represented, showing the standing of woman in each. It "glorified" the high school girl, beginning with the colonial and ante-bellum days and carrying the time to 1920.

Outstanding features of the revue were the comedians and dancers. Clarence Cone perhaps did the best work in the line of mirth provokers; Kenneth Cates deserved praise as star and blues singer. The lovely dances of colonial times and those of modern costume were well liked by the audience.

Mr. Grady Miller and Frank Warner were among the many praising the directors and players. They considered it one of the best amateur performances which they have seen. Mr. Johnson paid tribute to the cast of 70 for the co-operation and working ability. Louise Thacker, the student director, and Ruth Marley, the pianist, were spoken of as deserving special credit for long hours of work.

The Purple and Gold Revue met with financial success, also gratifying those in charge.

JUNIOR MARSHALS ELECTED AT MEETING

At a class meeting of semester 6, held Thursday, January 19, the junior marshals for the graduating class were elected. Emma Griffin, class president, presided at the meeting. Miss Laura Sumner, faculty adviser, explained the qualities necessary for the position. "This is an honor," she said, "and the people you choose should be worthy of it. They should be polite, courteous, and worthy of representing the whole class."

The marshals chosen were: Elvie Hope, Mary Henri Robinson, Margaret Britton, Neville Watson, Tatum Sparger, and Clarence Phoenix, chief marshal.

Following the custom of the past several years, the next four issues of HIGH LIFE will be edited by the classes, beginning with the seniors.

STUDENTS ENTERTAIN SENIOR CLASS AT TEA SATURDAY, JAN. 21

Given in Honor of Members of Mid-Term Graduating Class

ABOUT 75 STUDENTS CALL

Punch Is Served During the Evening by Miss Laura Tillett and Miss Fannie Starr Mitchell

Elizabeth Wilson and Martha Sykes entertained at tea Saturday afternoon, January 21, at the latter's home on West Washington Street, in honor of the members of the mid-winter graduating class of G. H. S.

Margaret High received at the front door and introduced the receiving line, which was composed of Mrs. L. T. Wilson, Mrs. E. C. Sykes, Martha Sykes, and the officers of the senior class.

The guests were directed into the dining room by Miss Estelle Mitchell, and here Miss Laura Tillett and Miss Fannie Starr Mitchell poured tea. The class colors of green and white were carried out, and mistletoe, the class flower, was used for decoration. Assisting in serving were Evelyn Hire, Edith Ellington, Ruby Lee Anderson, Alethea Sykes, and Catherine Sykes.

Miss Mary Southerland received at the door leading into the hall, and Miss Lily Walker was stationed at the sun-porch door. In this room punch was served by Misses Lila Eure, Eleanor Hill and Virginia Hollingsworth. The sun-porch decorations successfully carried out the school colors, purple and gold. The good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Phillips.

MID-TERM REFLECTOR OUT IN AN ATTRACTIVE FORM

Yearbook Has "Circus" as Its Motif—Is Divided into Four Sections, Each Appropriately Named

EDITING CLASS DESERVES PRAISE

The Reflector, published by the mid-term graduates, presents a very attractive exterior. The cover is dark brown with gold lettering. The motif of the book is the "Circus." It is divided into four sections: Advance Notices; the Ringmasters; Under the Big Top; Side Shows. Advance Notices includes a brief preface, the dedication to Miss Mary Ellen Blackmon, and the program. A list of the faculty members comes under the head of "Ringmasters." "Under the Big Top" refers with double connotation to the graduates, their pictures, a class poem, a history, and a prophecy of their future achievements. "Side Shows" contains pictures and brief accounts of some of the extra-curricular groups.

PERCY GRAINGER GIVES RECITAL

Famous Pianist and Miss Gladys Swarthout in Joint Concert for Civic Music Association Patrons

Percy Grainger, noted pianist, and Miss Gladys Swarthout, mezzo-soprano, gave a joint recital at the auditorium of North Carolina College Monday, January 30. The program was given under the direction of the Greensboro Civic Music Association for its patrons.

Mr. Grainger, recognized by the world of music a master of his art, presented a variety of composition which included such numbers as "The Garden of Soul-Sympathy," by Cyril Scott; "Jeux-d'eau," by Ravel; "Jutish Medley," by Grainger, and "Sonata, B flat minor, op. 35," by Chopin.

Among those compositions chosen by Miss Swarthout for her performance were the following: "Canzonetta," by Rosa; "Seguidilla," by Bizet; "O That It Were So," by Bridge; "A Feast of Lanterns," by Bantock, and "Moon-Marketing," by Weaver.

HONOR ROLL

Room 102—Ruth Stinnett, Rebecca Lowe, Arlindo Cate, Annie Cagle, Virginia McKinney.

Room 103—Henry Biggs, Joseph Hendricks, J. D. McNairy, Sadie Sharp, Betty W. Turner, Eula Vaughn.

Room 106—Bill Byers, Ed Blair, Dan Hogsette, Dorothy Donnell, Marian Geoghegan, Eugenia Isler, Mary Jones, Margaret Sockwell.

Room 107—Margaret Bain, Ruth Lewis.

Room 202—Harold Cone, Henry Weiland, Alia Ross.

Room 203—Elvie Hope, Charles Kellenberger, Doris Hogan.

Room 204—Elizabeth Boyst.

Room 206—Clyde Norcom, Catherine Sykes, Dixon Thacker.

Room 207—Carl Jones.

Room 208—Daphne Hunt, Ruth Long, Katherine Nowell, Mary Q. Omohundro, Mary Henri Robinson.

Room 1—Elizabeth Ayres, Elsie Miller, Esther Self, Treva Williams, Douglass Cartland.

Room 2—Frances Garvey, Clara Applewhite.

Room 3—Harold Steed, Joy Trailkill.

Room 4—Elizabeth Smith, Dorothy Burnside.

Room 5—Annie Laurie Felder, Columbia Gaithes, Kate Wilkins.

Room —Sarah Burton Clegg, Margaret Kernode, Nellie Alfred.

Room 8—Leila George Cram, Floyd Young Penn.

Room 9—Irene Dorsett, Bernice Love.

Room 11—Gladys Barbee, Grace Curtis, Elizabeth Leak, Elizabeth Sockwell.

Room 13—Ella May Barbour.

Room 14—Lorena Coffey.

Room 15—Lucy Crocker, Ruth Stan-

Room B-1—Foy Gaskins, Frances ford, Margaret Murchison.

Room B-2—Billy Edgerton, Wyatt McNairy, Margaret Johnson, Elizabeth Kelly, Sarah Scott Moore, Margaret White.

Room B-3—Ed Silvernail, Rigdon Dees, Clary Holt, Edwin Holt, Walter King, Charles Schoffner, William Sullivan, Evelyn Garrett, Alma Sharpe, Jean Shaw, Lillie Mae Tritt.

Room B-4—Grace Hobbs, Cynthia Pipkins.

Room B-8—Helen Crutchfield.

ALUMNI NEWS

Joe Mann, '27, attended the class day exercises of the seniors Wednesday night.

Mary Lynn Carlson, '27, who is attending Sweetbriar, spent the week-end in the city.

Sarah Mendenhall and Mary Elizabeth King, '27, both students at Randolph-Macon, were visitors to the city last week.

Cynthia Vaughn came in for a week-end from Sweetbriar.

Betty Brown, our former editor, comes to see us every now and then. She usually drops in just when we need help, and her aid is invaluable.

J'ever hear that one about "I pawned my watch?"

No? It isn't out yet.

CLASS DAY EXERCISE UNFOLDS FUTURE OF GRADUATING CLASS

"Kuykendall's Yacht" Is Scene of Reunion Ten Years in the Future

MASCOTS APPEAR IN PLAY

Two Scenes Presented With Members of Class on Board President's Private Yacht

The graduating class of Greensboro High School held their class day exercises Wednesday night, January 25, at the Odell Memorial Hall.

The exercises were in two scenes—both on a private yacht owned by Ed Kuykendall. The time is projected to 1938. The present graduating class was holding a reunion. In the first scene many of the old characters were introduced. "Jimmie" Lassiter, the first man to fly across the Atlantic in a wingless airplane, dropped down from the skies and joined the party. Harry Gump soon appeared in his new limousine, loaded down with his girl friends. Miss Tillett and Miss Walker radioed their regrets at being unable to attend the function.

The second scene depicted the last day on the yacht, at which time the group re-enacted the class day exercises of 1928. The protagonists in this were Bill Fife, who read the last will and testament of that 1928 graduation; Frances Sink, who presented the class history; Elizabeth Betts and Evelyn Parks, reciting the class poem; and Margaret High, with her class prophecy. The program was concluded by Ed Kuykendall, president of the mid-term graduates, presenting the class mascots in the role of his children.

STUDENTS PREPARE FOR TRIANGULAR DEBATE

25 Pupils Working on Query to Be Discussed—Preliminaries Held Early in February

M'NARY-HAUGEN BILL IS TOPIC

Work on the triangular debate is getting under way at the high school. Around 25 pupils are working on the query, "Resolved, that Congress should enact the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill," which will be discussed by the high schools throughout the state.

At a meeting of all interested in the debate held Wednesday afternoon, January 18, plans were laid for securing material on the subject and for the preliminary debate to be held the second week in February. At this time four debaters and two alternates will be chosen from the contestants.

A team composed of two members will debate Winston-Salem here on the affirmative side of the question, while a negative team of two will go to High Point to meet the high school there. Although the definite date has not yet been announced, these debates will be held in the latter part of March or the first part of April.

Last year Greensboro, represented by Harry Gump and Henry Biggs, won the Aycock Memorial Cup for the first time. In case Greensboro should win it again this year the cup will become the permanent property of the school. Although none of the debaters of last year's team is back, those who are debating hope to repeat the victory.

No man is born into the world whose work Is not born with him. There is always work, And tools to work withal, for those who will; And blessed are the horny hands of toil.

—Lowell.

Do you chew, smoke? No, I have no feminine habits.

GEESE FROM OTHER FLOCKS

The News, Commercial High School, New Haven, Conn.:

We have received several issues of your paper, and always enjoy reading it. Your paper is good, but we suggest that you collect all the sport articles in one section. We like your Spanish column. How about the French enthusiasts?

The Oracle, Bradenton, Florida:

Your paper is snappy and interesting, but we might suggest several changes. Black ink instead of blue, and smaller headlines to make it less top-heavy. Your editorials are fine, but how about cutting the humor columns a bit?

The Buzzer, Baton Rouge, La.:

The last issue on January 17 seemed a bit top-heavy. Can't you change that ad on the editorial page?

The Guilfordian, Guilford College, N. C.:

We always enjoy reading your newspaper.

The Record, Mamaroneck, N. Y.:

The Record is good, and your editorials are particularly worth reading. We suggest varying your type of headlines. Keep up your good work.

BIG SISTERS ENTERTAIN AT MOCK TRACK MEET

Pomona and New Girls Are Guests of Honor at Big Party in Cafeteria January 19

A mock track-meet was the form of entertainment with which the senior "Big Sisters" entertained the new Pomona girls, and teachers and the new girls recently entering G. H. S. The social was given in the school cafeteria, Thursday, January 19, 1928.

The "Big Sisters" formed a mock receiving line to greet their guests.

Each girl bowed three times to her guests, and repeated her name each time; then the guest replied in like manner. This form of greeting caused much merriment, and put the girls at their ease at once.

Each was given, upon entering, a number and G. H. S. colors. They were then divided into two groups, headed by a captain and cheer leader. Then the groups competed in various mock races, such as: a chariot race, balloon race, newspaper race, volley ball with balloons, egg race, cracker race, and banana race.

Eskimo pies and suckers were served throughout the entertainment.

THE BIG PARADE

"Tramp! Tramp! Tramp!" by twos and threes, by dozens and scores, 'n mobs and hordes, unendingly they come. Worthy pedagogues leap aside to avoid the advancing masses, while dignified students look on aghast, their habitual decorum upset by this unprecedented spectacle.

The professors struggle madly to guide the invaders into the proper channels. Irresistible, they overflow the halls and fill the auditorium. Those whose lot it is to direct this heterogeneous band mount to the platform and in stentorian tones attempt to inculcate the "spirit of G. H. S." into these recruits. What Herculean labors! Alas! how impossible to achieve. Manfully our teachers struggle; frantically they distribute hand-books in an effort to direct the restless horde.

And oh, with what joy they finally see them stream out to become the bane of session room teachers' lives. Such is the ordeal of registering the two hundred and forty-five.

Mother: Now, son, if you do just as the doctor tells you, you will get along fine in this hospital.

Small boy: I'll do just as he says, mother, but I won't let him pack no crying baby off on me like he did you.