

Prize-Winning Essay Captures Scholarship For J. H. Hattaway

"What the Greensboro Fair Means to this Community" was the subject of the prize-winning essay for which Herbert Hattaway will receive a $150 scholarship to the International Correspondence school.

Hattaway, circulation manager for "High Life" and ex-student council representative, wrote the essay as an assignment in Miss Mozelle Causey's second period English class and entered his paper in the local fair contest. Jane Morrison, member of the same group, received second place in the judging, although no award was given for honorable mention. According to Principal A. P. Routh, 36 papers from Senior high were entered in the competition.

To Be Annual Event

T. L. Davis, local manager for the I. C. S., served as chairman for the contest committee and supervised the judging. Norman Y. Chambliss, director of the Greensboro Fair association, originated the idea of awarding a scholarship as an incentive to literary-minded high-school students in Guilford county. According to Chambliss, the contest will be an annual event of the local fair.

At present, Hattaway has not selected the course in which he will study. However, he said this morning that he was considering radio. He will graduate in June.

All's Fair in Love, War... And Writing a Term Paper

"Lock all doors, bolt all windows, nail all chairs and tables to the floor: they're here again!"

That is the current warning issued to the patient workers at the public library regarding the horde of students that infest that institution from October to May: term-ites—beg pardon,—term-paper-ites.

Toward the end of September a few lads and lassies wander through these magic portals, the doors to learning—in an effort to avoid the rush, and take their notes early. But in the middle of October, the invasion is in full force with the mass army maneuvers being directed by the mighty heads of the history and English departments.

However, Greensboro's library custodians offer little resistance to the occupation of their once peaceful domain. They smile wanly, bring out their lists of available information, and resign themselves to another crop of gray hairs—all for the sake of learning!

Classroom Teachers Make Plans for Education Week

Plans for the observance of American education week, scheduled for November 9-16, were formed at a recent meeting of the executive council of the classroom Teachers association. Posters, chapel programs, and movie shorts will call the attention of the students to the occasion.

Representatives on the executive council include Miss Dorothy McNairy who is the official representative from this school. Miss Agnes McDonald is chairman of the tenure committee. Miss Cathleen Pike heads the social group, while Miss Amy Caldwell leads the constitution committee. Miss Sarah Leslie and Miss Mozelle Causey hold positions as corresponding and recording secretaries.

DeLancey Joins Glee Club

When the glee club of Woman's college begins its busy season this year, Elizabeth DeLancey '41 will be among the group. Elizabeth was a member of the high school glee club last year.

Essay Winner

HERBERT HATTAWAY, winner of the $150 scholarship to the International Correspondence school, given by the Greensboro Fair association. (Photo by Flynt.)

Debaters To Engage In Three Star Tilts Before Real Battle

Looming large on the local debater's horizon are the three tournaments to be sponsored this year by the debating clubs of Greensboro, Winston-Salem, and Reidsville high school, announced Miss Mozelle Causey, local adviser of forensic activities and chairman for this district of the North Carolina debate union, Monday.

75 Teams Expected

Between 70 and 75 teams are expected to attend each event. Awards will be made in the form of certificates, and credit will be given towards the grand prize, the cup presented each year at Wake Forest to the most practised debating group.

Senior high's group, which has just welcomed 13 new members, including juniors and seniors, into its midst, plans to enter four or five teams in each tourney.

Elect Committee Chairmen

From the group of 13 new members recently admitted to the organization, the vice president and all committee chairmen were elected this week. As a part of the initiation, new members will be required to learn one well-known declamation of any famous orator.

This will also help in the organization work of the speakers bureau, one of the new features of the society program.

Alice Duer Miller, Famous Authoress, Speaks at Aycock Auditorium Tonight

Alice Duer Miller, internationally known as the author of "The White Cliffs of Dover," a stirring tribute to the British, will be the initial speaker on the Woman's college lecture course, and will address that audience tonight at 8 o'clock in Aycock auditorium.

Wrote 'Manslaughter'

Although she had attained some success through her novel, "Manslaughter," and her play, "Come Out of the Kitchen," the crowning point in her writing career came when Coward-McCann published her book-length poem, which tells of the love, adventure, and sorrow of an American girl who lived in England during the two great wars of the twentieth century.

The book describes the sorrow of a woman who loses her husband in the first war and is asked to give up her son in the second. However, she over-

Seniors to Play Host to Juniors At Tea Dance Next Thursday

Garber, Lewis Named Social Co-Chairmen; Appoint Committees

"For the first time in the recent history of Greensboro Senior high school, members of the senior class will play host to the juniors at a tea dance to be held in the gym Thursday, October 16, from 4 to 7 p. m.," Jean Garber, student chairman for the social affair, revealed today.

Big Affair

"This is really going to be a big event," Jean said in an interview this morning. "At least the beginning of what the student council and the P. T. A. hopes will be a successful year of social activities at Senior high has begun," she exclaimed.

Jean, who, with Mrs. Harry Lewis, co-recreation chairman for the Parent-Teacher association, is chairman, has named the following student and faculty committees to prepare for the social: floor, Charles Edwards; door, Nancy Dobbins; decorations, Daisy Belle Anderson; music, Martha Sholar; and refreshments, Ruth Winterling. Miss Margaret Moser and Miss Doris Hutchinson are faculty assistants.

To Charge Small Fee

According to Jean the seniors will be charged a nominal fee of 10 cents per person, while their guests, the juniors, will be admitted free.

According to Chairman Garber, the dance will be a strictly informal affair, with both boys and girls wearing school clothes.

Radio Station Schedules School of Air Programs

Radio station WBIG will present through the Columbia Broadcasting system a series of programs designed to enlighten school students on the history of the Americas. This feature, which began on October 5, will run through the month of April and will place special emphasis on the countries of the Americas.

Variety of Subjects Offered

Also, throughout the broadcasts, many other subjects will be taken up. Americans at work, Music of the Americas, New Horizons, and Tales from Far and Near represent a few of the groups of programs scheduled for this year.

Routh Reported Better; Expects to Return Soon

Encouraging word was received this morning that Principal A. P. Routh, who was injured in an automobile accident last Saturday morning on Westover terrace, was improving and would probably be released from Wesley Long hospital this week.

Though Mr. Routh continues to have a little fever, mixed with a cold which set in Tuesday, he is reported to be feeling better. No serious injuries have been noted as a result of the accident, physicians reported today.

Mr. Routh has asked that a word of thanks be given to the members of the student body and faculty for the sincere interest they have shown in him and for the many flowers and gifts sent to him by both students and teachers.

Mr. Routh said that he hopes to be back to school sometime next week.

'Camouflage' Chosen As Chapel Production

Youth created by surgery, and the false impressions, joys, and heartaches caused by such skill, is the theme of "Camouflage," the first fall production of Playmasters, which will be given October 21 in chapel.

The play, a comedy, tells of a great actress who, since her failure on the stage when she was younger, has revived her beauty and youth through surgical means.

The griever caused by being in love with a younger man, the encounter with the man's young sweetheart, a girl of 18, and the final confessions of the actress and her lover's response, add excitement and interest to the production.

Cast Announced

The cast will consist of Ruth Winterling, as Patricia, the actress; Della Mae Trotter, as Dorothy, the young girl of 18; Alice Trooper, as Nora the maid; and Dan Wagoner, as Gordon, the hero of the plot.

The play will be directed by Paul Frazier, dramatics coach, and the production and stage management will be handled by the club and stage crew.

Principals Appoint Teachers To Act As Publicity Heads

Representing every school in the Greensboro district, 13 faculty members, appointed last week by principals of their respective schools, will serve as publicity heads to aid Paul Miller, part-time reporter for the Greensboro Daily News, in gathering items for his column, City School News.

The teachers, whom Miller will contact regularly, include Miss Frances Johnson, New Peck; Mrs. Linda Hyde, Old Peck; Mrs. Nellie Schuyler, Aycock; Miss Estelle McDonald, Caldwell; Mrs. Mary Madlin, Gillespie; Miss Carrie Phillips, Central; Miss Janie Christian, McIver; Miss Martha Kiser, Lindley Elementary; Mrs. Josephine Sisk, Lindley Junior; Mrs. Daisy McSorley, Simpson; and Mrs. Daisy Kendall, Irving Park.

Students To Receive Holiday October 17 For District Meet

"Because the nineteenth annual session of the Northwestern District of the North Carolina Education association will be held Friday, October 17 at Woman's college, this day will be declared a holiday for all Greensboro public school students in order that the teachers may have an opportunity to attend the meetings," declared Superintendent B. L. Smith, yesterday.

Main speakers for the morning session of the association will be Fred Greene, secretary of the State Education association, K. G. Phillips, president of the state organization, Dr. Ralph McDonald of North Carolina university and Clyde Erwin, state superintendent of public instruction, S. C. Deskins of Summerfield is president of the group.

15 Counties Included

Representative pedagogues, principals, and superintendents of schools from the following 15 counties will be present: Ashe, Allegheny, Surry, Watauga, Wilkes, Stokes, Forsythe, Davie, Davidson, Yadkin, Randolph, Rockingham, Alamance, Guilford, and Person.

Climaxing Friday's events will be a night session of the assembly, where members will hear Dr. D. W. Daniel of Clemson college, South Carolina, and Dr. Sydney B. Hall former Virginia state superintendent of education, now professor of education at George Washington university. Afternoon meetings will be divided into group gatherings for teachers who teach the same subject.

Teachers Lead Groups

Miss Chrystal Bachtelle, director of Greensboro city school music, will lead the musical group. Miss Sara Mims, chairman of English teachers, will be in charge of the English division, and Miss Gertrude Farlow will head the Latin department. The last two teachers are members of the Greensboro high school faculty.

The chief purpose of the meeting will be to discuss problems of teaching, new ideas for the classroom, and recently published textbooks that will provide pedagogical information.

Southern Business Meeting To Be Held in Greensboro

Annual meeting of the Southern Business Educational association for all business teachers in North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, West Virginia, Virginia, and Mississippi will be held for the first time in Greensboro at the O. Henry hotel during the Thanksgiving holidays.

A platform discussion will be conducted by A. J. Lawrence of the University of Kentucky, and Miss Frances Humphrey, chairman of the public school section of the S. B. E. A., has invited teachers from four of the states to participate in the panel.

Six Teachers to Take Part

Those invited to take part are Bert E. Lyons, Senior high school, Greensboro; Miss Dorothy Boone, Parker high school, Greenville, S. C.; W. D. Parsons, Supervisor of Business Education, Roanoke, Virginia; Miss Ernestine Milton, Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Georgia; Bill Dillingham, Senior high school, Durham; I. Carl Brown, State Supervisor of Distributive Education, Raleigh.