

Archery Interest Draws Large Number of Girls To Afternoon Practice

Robin Hood must have inspired the girls of Senior high school because they are coming out in droves to afternoon archery practice.

One hour after school every Monday and Wednesday is devoted to practice. Points toward the school letter are awarded to the most diligent participants.

Hutchinson Well Pleased

Miss Doris Hutchison, girls' athletic director, in reporting on the enthusiasm exhibited, declared, "I am well pleased with the number coming out. It is the first time Senior high has ever had so much interest in afternoon sports and I am glad there is so much interest shown."

If the interest continues, Miss Hutchison is considering competition with other schools, particularly with Curry and High Point.

Participants Named

Girls participating in archery are: Betty Fristoe, Mildred Hock, Evelyn Rayle, Annie Laurie Bennett, Catherine Manley, Jackie Duke, Katherine Fore, Dora Kirkpatrick, Sybil Mooneyham, Lou Ellen Duncan, Corrine Johnson, Louise Helms, Isabelle Gillie, Margaret Edwards, Gertrude Archer, Irene Stewart, Mary Fondren, Marian Daniel, Sara Gwyn, Phyllis Fruitt, Kathleen DeBruhl, Margie Mooney, Nita Mae Duke. ## Ivory Soap Sculpture Contest Announced

Announcement of the eighteenth annual competition for small sculptures in Ivory soap was made this week by the National Soap Sculpture committee for the Procter and Gamble prizes. Cash prizes totalling $2,200 will be awarded in the contest, which will close May 15, 1942. There will be three classes in which work may be entered—advanced amateur, senior, junior special groups, and reproduction groups.

Instructions Distributed

Folders containing news of the current competition, instructions on carving in soap, and entry blanks have been sent all over the country to groups, schools, and individuals who are interested in sculpture. Complete classifications and conditions of the competition are included.

Annual Letter-Writing Week Inspires English Five Groups

Because the old style business letter presented none of the individuality of the writer, one English five class, inspired by National Letter Writing week, now being celebrated, worked to improve its business style. These improvements will provide for more interesting letters to prospective customers or agencies.

70 Science Students Form Chemistry Club

Demands of 70 boys and girls that a chemistry club be formed at Senior high have been answered by Mrs. Estelle LeGwin and Miss Agnes McDonald, chemistry teachers, who are busy organizing two clubs in this field. "Last Tuesday the students who were interested met and the constitution was rewritten and officers were elected," Mrs. LeGwin said.

There are possibilities that the girls will experiment in the club with cosmetics, and the boys, with dyes and explosives. Movies on chemical subjects will be shown and excursions to dye, sulfuric acid, and printing plants will be arranged.

Meeting last week for the first time this year, the Social Standards committee formulated some definite plans about what it is going to present at the annual conference to be held at Greensboro high school sometime in November.

"In order to bring more variety into the program and to make it more interesting this year, the committee has approved the plans for a different set-up. However, they are much too indefinite to announce anytime in the near future," explained Bob Perry, chairman of that group, when interviewed about the plans for the 1941 meeting.

Program Variety Stressed

The event, one of the most important on the high school calendar, is of practical educational value, for outstanding authorities are invited to speak at the conference.

"If the plans that we have for the future materialize, the conference will be of great value to the students this year," Miss Mary Ellen Blackmon, adviser for the committee, announced.

Miss Estelle Mitchell, head of the French department, will assist Miss Blackmon in the project. Other members of the group are Joan Holleyman, Mary Holmes, Bobby Lloyd, Virginia Peoples, Joe Powell, Jeanette Stephenson, Ruth Winterling, and Bob Perry, the chairman.

School Gets Washing Machine or Wash Day Blues

"Any dirty clothes today," cries laundryman Bob Jamieson—for that is his new title—as the football squad files in from practice. Yes, in addition to his regular duties, Greensboro's mentor has turned the field house into a modern laundry—complete with electric washing machine and ironer.

The machine is an ultra-modern affair designed to cut the laundry expense of the Athletic association in half. In addition to reducing the expenses of the gridsters, it will also insure a ready supply of fresh towels and clean jerseys.

Many of the washing duties fall to James Dobbins, team manager. He merely throws the towels, jerseys and soap into the machine, sets a dial—and then goes merrily about his way. Later, he finds the clothes completely laundered and ready to be dried and ironed on the super ironer.

Stanley Johnson is acting as principal of the school in A. P. Routh's absence.

Dacia Lewis Chosen Secretary of Council

As a result of the run-off voting Friday, September 26, Dacia Lewis will serve as secretary to the student council and Edward Alexander will be treasurer of semester 5. Losing candidates for these two offices were Carolyn Pleasants, who contested for the office of secretary, and Decatur Cunningham, who sought the semester 5 treasurer's position.

Council Complete

These new officers, with Charlie Edwards, treasurer; Ashton Kearney, president of semester 5; and Gertrude Archer, Maureen Black, Tim Warner, Rachel Johnson, "Weze" Matlock, Edward Gentry, and Nancy Dobbins, representatives, complete the membership of the student council.

Old council members, Billy Donald, Ruth Winterling, Earle Holliday, Daisy Belle Anderson, Charles Vache, Jean Garber, Martha Sholar, and Virginia Hunter, were hosts to the new councilmen at a steak fry last week.
