

High Life Subscribers Make Last Payment On Pledge Monday

"Home room treasurers will collect 25 cents from each High Life subscriber, beginning Monday morning," Herbert Hattaway, manager of the circulation department of the school paper, announced today. Posters reminding the subscribers of the collections have been placed throughout the school, he said.

Manager Hattaway urges every student who subscribes to the paper to pay his installment for the second semester promptly on Monday to his home room treasurer, as the new High Life budget will be set up as soon as the collections are made. Money collected by the home room officer should be sent to the office, Hattaway asserted. He also offered the following suggestions in regard to the collections.

Suggestions Offered

1. Each collection day a fresh envelope for money will be placed in the home room teacher's box. The treasurer should secure the envelope from the teacher and place all of the following information on it.

a. Teacher's name; b. Room number; c. Date; d. Total amount of money collected on that date; e. Names of subscribers paying on that date.

2. The treasurer should place the money in the envelope and return it to the office at the end of the home room period each day.

45 Juniors Win Berths On Scholarship Roll

Seven members of the junior class, by maintaining an average of 95 per cent or better for the last report period of the first semester, placed their names on the third special honor roll list.

These students included Wilbur Turrentine, Louis Thacker, Melvina Grablovsky, Bobby Loyd, Gertrude Archer, Lou Ellen Duncan, and Betty Jane Chesney.

Others Make 90 Per Cent

By averaging 90 per cent, 45 juniors placed themselves on the general honor roll, bringing the grand total of the lower-classmen list to 51. The following names appear on the general list: Margaret Moore, Ann Edmunds, Betsy Holt, Eileen Lynch, Margaret Kindley, Ruth Lowe, Helen Massey, Sue McFayden, Silus Michalove, Joe Showfety, Irwin Smallwood, Dorothy Snyder, Mary Frances Stack, William Agapion, M. C. Anderson, Harriet Battle, Betty Sue Beaman, Bill Montgomery, Eleanor Morgan, Mary Neese, Laura Oliver, Allene Parks, Martha Current and Maude Dickson.

10 Typewriters Bought For Commerce Class

To meet the immediate demand for typewriters at Senior high, 10 new Remington typewriters have been purchased and placed in room 102, declared B. E. Lyons, head of the commerce department, last Friday.

Other typewriters, as well as calculators, adding machines and certain accounting machines needed in the bookkeeping classes, may later be added, he concluded.

Family Skeletons Reveal Glamourous Episodes

Studying about one's own ancestors in history? Imagine! However, there's nothing like learning about the daring escapades experienced by one's own great, great grandpa or twice-removed uncle! That's just what some of the students at G. H. S. do. If you'll keenly look into a fellow classmates eyes, you may detect a "Jesse James" glint or the supercilious glance of a "Mary, Queen of Scots" descendant.

If a history test on Horace Mann is given, Jimmie Mann needs only to know his family's history, for he is a direct descendant of this great educator. Also likely to appear on a history test are questions on Jeb Stuart (claimed by Mervine Merritt), the Duke of Marlborough (ancestor of Gene Spencer), and Francis Marion (Rachael Whiteside's ancestor).

Poets and Movie Actresses

Poets should be no rarity among our high school body, as quite a number of Greensboro youths can claim relationship to famous writers. Irwin Smallwood descends from William Cullen Bryant; Bill Andrews is heir to Sidney Lanier (not to mention Sir Walter Raleigh, Sir Humphrey Gilbert, and Iran Painter); and Bobby Lloyd's great great uncle was the Mr. Allan who adopted Edgar Allan Poe.

Glamour encircles the family of Daisy Belle Anderson. Her mother, at the early age of 18, was none other than Annette De Gande, movie actress of the old silents. However, she was forced to give up her career due to parental objections and now resides in Greensboro as the mother of an aspiring young actress.

Hattaway Replaces Miller As Forensic Society Head

Amid heated political activity, members of Greensboro high school's Debating society elected Herbert Hattaway to succeed Paul Miller as president of the organization at the first night meeting of the semester held at the Greensboro Civic center, February 4.

Other new officers include Dacia Lewis, vice-president; Paul Miller, secretary-treasurer; and Neil Beard, parliamentarian.

In the meantime, local debaters are completing final preparation on their debate cases in anticipation of tournaments at High Point and Reidsville during the latter part of February.

Club Schedule Changed For Second Semester

The clubs met for the first time this semester, Tuesday, February 10, when the new club schedule went into effect.

The various societies will convene this semester every second and fourth Tuesday, from 2:55 until 3:30. Exceptions are Torchlight and Quill and Scroll, which will meet monthly because many of the members belong to other clubs.

The clubs and advisers are as follows:

Torchlight, Moore; Quill and Scroll, Pike; Debate, Causey; Senior Dramatics, Frazier; Thalian Dramatics, Caldwell; Art, Braswell; Girls' Athletic association, Hutchinson; Pan-American, Blackmon; Future Teachers, Thomas; Stage Crew, Moser; Commercial, Humphries; Chemistry, LeGwin and McDonald; and Latin, Farlow.

Routh Reveals Results Of Defense Check Up

Principal A. P. Routh announced today that approximately 1100 students at Senior high school have made and are making some contribution to the defense effort of the nation.

Basing his figures upon a recent survey of student defense organizations throughout the school, Principal Routh announced the following results: number of students who have bought defense bonds, 113; have bought either bonds or stamps, 376; will buy national securities in the near future, 443; have contributed to local Victory back drive, 66; will plant victory gardens this spring, 184.

Community Service Club Begins Defense Work

The Community Service club, formed recently at Senior high, has already performed many useful tasks and aided the community in many ways in its defense program, it was learned today from Mrs. Nellie Blackburn, adviser to the organization.

At present, 28 members compose the group. These include Dorothy Newman, Clara Kale, Haroldine Hilliard, Bill Sanders, Martha Sholar, Eleanor Lee Taylor, Frank Kernodle, William Ware, Dottie Inabinet, Della Mae Trotter, Kathryn Campbell, Marie Earnhardt, Jane Henry, Lydia Benbow, Paul Miller, Edith Lowman, Myrtle Ivey, Donree Blizard, Ivey Mae Pickard, Lynda Sewell, Marjorie Sparrow, Emily Cutts, Dot Snyder, Barbara Bond, Margaret Boren, Louise Helms, Mildred Freeland, and Alice Ferrell.

Service may be secured in two ways: (1) Students can take care of children after 3:30 in the afternoon for any mother who wishes to do defense work, and (2) they can take care of children after 3:30 and at night for parents who would like to go to movies, parties, etc.

For this social service there will be a charge of 50 cents at night (until 11) and 25 cents in the afternoon.

Those desiring service should call Mrs. Blackburn at Senior high—telephone 3-1106.

Miss Mozelle Causey, speech and debate instructor at Senior high school, announced yesterday that Neil Beard, Herbert Hattaway, Paul Miller and Rachael Whiteside will compose the 1942 Greensboro high debating team. These students were awarded positions on the squad after receiving top rating in the debate tryouts held last week.

The second team, made up of John S. Taylor, Edgar Alston, Bobby Lloyd and Beverly Bell, includes students who placed second in the competition for positions on the team.

Hold Practice Debate

Last night, in the practice debate held at Central Junior high night school, Paul Miller and Herbert Hattaway debated Rachael Whiteside and Neil Beard, who upheld the negative side of the state query, "Resolved—That a union of the nations of the Western hemisphere should be established."

To Present Speech Contests

On Tuesday, February 24, the local speech class will sponsor a humorous reading contest with Nancy Curtis, Rachael Whiteside, and Martha Lowrey competing for top honors.

In addition school-wide try-outs for the Greensboro high school representative to the American Legion oratorical contest will be held February 26. To conclude the speech activities of the month, members of the Debating club and speech class plan to attend a speech festival at High Point, February 27, according to Miss Causey. Contests, in impromptu, declamation, oratory, after-dinner and extemporaneous speaking are scheduled on the day's program.

Debating the national query, "Resolved: That every able-bodied male citizen in the United States should be required to have one year of full-time military training before attaining the present draft age, Senior high's second team will be coached by Bill Halladay, a former member of the state championship team.

Halladay, who was awarded a scholarship last year to Wake Forest college, scene of the North Carolina debate tournament, will enter that institution next fall. Halladay commented this week that he has high hopes of producing a winning team in the tournament.

Schumann, Perry Get Leads In New Play

Leading roles in Playmasters' annual spring production, "He Had a Past," will be taken by Shannon Schumann and Bob Perry, Director Paul Frazier revealed this week.

Jean Dinviddie will portray Violet, who is listed as "Kenneth's dream girl." Perry is cast as Kenneth. Other parts in the play will be filled by Mervine Merritt, who will be seen as the rich old Uncle Homer; Dorothy Snyder, who will take the part of Miss Effie Foote; and Ann Thornton, who will portray Belle, Violetta's side-kick.

Others Named

Daisy Belle Anderson will don make-up to appear as Orchid, the aggressive Negro maid. Others taking parts are Ruth Winterling as Uncle Homer's niece, Hazel; Jack Watson as Phillip, Hazel's beau; Mollie Pekarsky as Mrs. May Dodge, sister of Uncle Homer. Arvil Moser, a newcomer to the stage, will be seen as Max, the "excitable young Frenchman who falls head over heels for pretty Violetta."

According to Mr. Frazier, rehearsals for the production will begin next week. Back-stage committees, including a general manager, will be named shortly, he announced.
