

Meyer's Teen Age Fashions Set Local Student Styles

By MELL ALEXANDER

With the latest trends turning toward the brighter side of the clothes situation, Meyer's Teen-Age department on the fourth floor presents to you all of their latest dresses, shorts, slacks, floral prints, and many other bright new styles for the hot weather.

The very latest thing in a three-piece combination is the striped denim cloth shorts, slacks, and shirt with skirt outfits—the striped material is in bright colors of tan, green, and yellow, which make a smart outfit of clean-cut shorts, shirts and slacks. The different pieces can be bought separately and are $1.98 and $1.49. Other articles of denim are made in matching or contrasting styles and colors. If you could just see what you can do with four different pieces, you would be completely satisfied with this economical outfit!

Another set of outstanding short suits is the seersucker outfits. Shirts and shorts can be bought separately and are $1.49 each.

Good-Looking Cottons

Since nobody can do without a dress for the warm spring weather, you should see the many good-looking chambrays and cottons, in cool and colorful shades. For instance, there is a darling red chambray dress for $3.98 with a white open-neck collar and rick-rack braid trimming the sleeves and swing skirt. Two-piece seersucker suits in all the new summer shades are smart and the latest thing in dress creations, especially the ones made up in stripes and small checks, which cost only $3.98. The color-fast quality of these dresses is really remarkable, because it is sometimes hard to find wash dresses that stay bright-looking, after continuous washing. All of these dresses are really a bargain for $3.98, when so many smart styles can be found.

If you're looking for a dress that will give you that "dressed-up" feeling, you should see the attractive sharkskins in blue and yellow with pleated waist tops. The dress is accented with a twisted rope belt, which sets off the pastel by adding vivid contrasting shades. Other dresses smartly styled in becoming shades the way you like them are made in silk and rayon. All the "dress-up" dresses are $5.98.

Still in the frock line but in quite different length are the flattering new evening dresses of crepe and taffetas. They are priced $8.98. Before you go to that next formal, stop by and see the evening dresses that are so low in price and so high in quality.

Back to Sweaters and Skirts

Although the warm weather will bring out the crisp cotton frocks this spring, the pastel sweaters and skirts are just the thing for the cool nights when you don't want to wear a coat. Different types of skirts in beautiful colors make a smart combination with the sleeveless sweaters that are only $1.98. Long-sleeved boxy sweaters for only $2.25 are still good, and always will be, especially when they come in the luscious shades of pale pink and baby blue and cost only $2.25.

A new type of shirt that should make a hit with the high school girl is the floral design made up in silk or silk jersey. They are just the thing to wear with a summer skirt or shorts. Blue and red combinations with huge tropical flowers as a background make up the design in these blouses which cost $1.98. Other pastel and white blouses are kept in stock all the time, so if it's a blouse you're looking for, look in Meyer's Teen-Age shop now. Since coats of the styles and colors that you like are still waiting for you to claim them, and since they are expertly tailored and have gorgeous colors, get one before they go. The prices range from $12.98 to $16.98.

For the shopping that will bring you the most pleasure, go to Meyer's. (Adv.)

School Shop To Construct New Aeroplane Models

"Making of A-20A bomber and British Spitfire models for the army's use will be required projects for each member of all the shop classes," announced A. E. Goedeke, shop instructor, today.

Mr. Goedeke, displaying plans for the models, revealed that, beginning Monday, the vocational class will be the first of the shop classes to begin construction on these models; however, the other classes will follow in quick succession.

This major project will continue approximately two weeks, at the end of which the 21 and the 17 members of the sixth and seventh period classes, along with the other shop classes, will return to their regular schedules to continue further their studies of the construction of various types of joints in wood-working, and of scraping tools and abrasives.

Librarian Makes Plea For Old Geographics

Any students having the following old editions of the National Geographic Magazine which they do not need are urged by the school librarian, Mrs. Beatrice Hall, to bring them in, so that volumes may be bound for reference.

These issues include those of July, September and December of 1916, July and December of 1917, and all of 1918, 1919 and 1920, February, March, August, and December of 1937, December of 1940, and January of 1941.

Secretarial Girls Vote To Repeat Trial Jobs

After completing a week's work in typing for various teachers, the secretarial practice 2 class voted to continue the practice during the rest of the semester, announced Miss Frances Humphrey, instructor in commerce department, last week.

Because it may help them to obtain jobs later, the students feel that this is beneficial to students and teachers.

20,000 Pounds Paper Collected In Drive

With a final check-up showing a grand total of approximately 10 tons, the High Life waste paper campaign closed Wednesday, March 8, two weeks from the starting date. Miss Sarah Lesley's room 8, with its arrow pointing at the 3,871 pound mark on the big thermometer, came through with flying colors to win the contest and the much-sought theater party.

Other Winners

Room 7 followed close on the heels of the winner as the runner-up and pace-setter, turning in a total of 3,413 pounds. Next came room 10 with 2,534. The remainder of the top seven rooms included room 2, 1,622, diversified occupation and distributive education classes, 1,730, room 12, 1,198, and room 300, 1,019. A popsicle party was offered to the senior home room that first reached the 2,000 pound mark. However, since no senior home room was successful in turning in a ton, the party was omitted.

Betty Routh, business manager of High Life, declared, "Because of the cooperation of Principal A. P. Routh, Campaign Director Stanley Johnson and the faculty and student body as a whole, the campaign was a huge success. It really shows what can be done if every one pitches in and helps."

Regulations Committee To Recommend Changes

At the final meeting of the year on April 22, the student-faculty regulations committee will recommend to Principal A. P. Routh the various changes in behavior and rules for the cafeteria, grounds, halls, and auditorium for next year. The group will also advocate the installation of an honor system for the fall semester.

The teachers on this committee include Mrs. Estelle LeGwin, chairman, Mrs. Olive Betts, F. E. Thomas, A. S. Proctor, George Sandvig, Miss Elizabeth Harvell, Miss Louise Smith and Mrs. Nellie Blackburn; the students, Harold Brown, James Dobbins, Mell Alexander, Dacia Lewis, Tim Warner, Edwin Gentry, Ruth Winterling and Bob Perry.

Mrs. Estelle LeGwin's biology classes are studying the endocrine system, a bio-anatomy topic which deals with the ductless glands of the body.

Local Girl Scouts Earn $1,645 In Cookie Sale

Since the total earnings from the sale of cookies amounted to approximately $1,645, the girl scouts of Greensboro and Guilford county have this year exceeded all previous drives.

Three-fifths of this money will be used as individual commissions on the scouts' camp tuition, while the other two-fifths will be used to purchase new camp equipment.

Torchlight Delegation Attends Convention

Acting as official delegates, Joan Holleyman, Billy Donald, Tim Warner, and Mary Neese, represented the local chapter of Torchlight at the state convention of the honor society in Winston-Salem Friday and Saturday, announced Miss Ida Belle Moore, Torchlight adviser, who accompanied the group.

Several unofficial delegates were planning to attend, but, because of the fire shortage, were unable to secure transportation.

Stresses Youth's Part

The convention, which took place at R. J. Reynolds high school, had as its theme, "Mobilizing Youth for the Home Front." The activities included group discussions, joint meetings, and a banquet, followed by a dance in the school gymnasium, Friday night. On Saturday morning the convention adjourned after a business meeting, at which resolutions were drawn up and officers elected.

The group voted to meet in Charlotte next year.

Future Adrians Design Own Fashion Models

Future Adrians, Travis Bantans, Dolly Trees and Schiaparellis are being discovered every day in Miss Etta Lee's art classes, if industrious clothes designing is any indication.

From making cardboard models, the girls fashion their ideas of what the well-dressed young lady will wear. After studying design and color schemes, the future artists present their own fashion shows, all on paper.

Ably representing the masculine viewpoint, one he-man in the class specializes in unusual projects of woodworking, plastering and carving.

Next fall will bring the meeting of the Social Studies department of N. C. E. A. to Greensboro, announced F. Edgar Thomas, ex-vice-president of the group, April 7.

Officers were elected at the recent meeting of the social studies teachers and are as follows: Dr. B. B. Kendrick of Woman's college, president; Miss Gladys Moore, Reynolds high school, vice-president and Mrs. Matilda Morris of Shelby, secretary.

Principal Routh Speaks At Junior High Schools

In order that the rising junior class may have less trouble registering next year, Principal A. P. Routh visited the four junior high schools, Lindley, Gillespie, Central and Aycock, last week to explain the important factors.

He explained the various clubs for which juniors are eligible and gave a birdseye view of Senior high life.
