Coach Vansant

"We're going to turn the page!"

Grimsley vs. Page, or Ford vs. McLaughlin? That's the question that will be answered tonight, when the 3rd ranked Page Pirates take on the Grimsley Whirlies at Jamieson Stadium at 8:00.

It is very true the outcome of tonight's game would very well be determined by 4 players in tonight's game.

First the battle for quarterback positions, Grimsley's Jr. Rodney Elkins vs. Page's very talented Brent Saunders.

Which one of these fine athletes can control the passing game? That is a very big question. Just maybe this team with the right answer to this question will be the team to win the game. Next however, we must back up a few steps into the backfield.

Most people feel that whoever controls the ground game, will control the scoreboard.

When you talk about the ground game for Grimsley you are almost certain to be talking about Glenn Ford, and when you talk about ground game for Page, you are probably talking about Thomas McLaughlin.

Quite a few people feel the individual performances of these two runners will make the differences in the game.

But overall, the team shows improvement as a whole, for example; Grimsley's powerful passing game is averaging right around ten yards a catch.

With our own Delany Bush averaging in the average of 50 yards a catch, in the first game of the year at Burlington Williams, Grimsley was penalized for a BIG 115 yards. Since that time the Whirlies have only been caught for 97 yards in the 3 games against Dudley, West Forsyth, and Ragsdale, which brings our total to 212 for the season. Even if that is 53 yards a game you must take into consideration this fact that we had more yards penalized in the first game than in the next three games combined.

Another strong point is Grimsley's defense was able to take advantage of turnovers. We have made six interceptions and fell on twelve fumbles for a total of eighteen," said Coach Vansant, "where we (Grimsley) only turned it over eight times.

As for the actual rivalry itself, every student and player knows what this game means to people involved on both sides, and so do the graduates of the two high schools, along with most of the Greater Greensboro area.

But what about someone who has only been in this area for a year and a half. . .

We asked Coach Vansant just what he thought about this rivalry. Did he get involved? "I have to take a lot of flack. I was an assistant coach with Marion Kirby (head coach at Page), at ECU, and I have a son at Page."

So if Grimsley loses (though we all doubt it), someone we know will really hear it!

traditional Page ribbons 'POUND PAGE' and some new ones that say 'Turn the Page'. After all we are going to turn the page that has the Grimsley vs. Page scores from the last couple of years on it. Also, Pep Board has been selling "Go Grimsley Whirlies" buttons as their project for .50 cents. Be sure to buy a ribbon or button before the game tonight.

At the pep rally this afternoon, we will show Page who is number one. Let's all show our spirit and help the mighty Whirlies to beat those Page Pirates.

Vandalism

Wasted Spirit

It happened again. Chalk up another traditionally famous event in the constant Page-Grimsley rivalry that recurs year after year. We saw it driving up our own Campus Drive. There it was as evident as red paint. Instantaneously all our memories of the hours of delicate strokes of blue paint it took last time to cover the embarrassment came back to us. These memories were quickly brought to mind then vanished as we visualized the scene of us searching for paint brushes. Slowly the harsh realization set in. Our sign had been painted by Page Pirates one more countless time!

Seeing this sight sometimes makes Grimsley students wonder whether our age group has "grown up". It becomes extremely doubtful in our minds. We think of the wasted time, gas and money that went into the effort put out by our archrivals to "boost" their morale and "crush" our spirit. It is all really getting to be a worn out tradition.

Ever since there was a sign and red paint, we Whirlies have probably had problems with splattered and vandalized property. But we should not consider ourselves innocent victims.

PAGE JOKES Martin Miller

What do you call a Page student who works after school at a carwash?

A skilled worker!

2. Why is there no ice at Page?

The student moved and took the recipe with him!

3. What do you call a senior Page student who takes practical math?

A Genius!

4. What do the words "How are you?" mean to a Page student?

A tough Page High School tongue twister.

We can't soon forget our own efforts to "sink the ship" or rather "steal the ship." We helped put an end to that famous Pirate institution. No longer does a Page vessel sail the fair seas of Cone Boulevard. And how many times have Whirlies played a part in the defacing of the Page High School sign? No, both parties are guilty of this "freedom of expression."

as adults look back on our high school ramblings we may chuckle or be embarrassed when looking upon a yearbook photo of a painted--splattered sign. "What a juvenile way to get kicks? Did we ever do such a thing? Never!

And that year Grimsley will probably get two new fresh coats of paint. . . one that is Whirlie Blue, the other. . . red and splattered.

Hank Howard

How do you know when a Page student has been in the refrigerator?

The handle is broken, the mayonnaise jar lid is gone, the milk is split and the butter has fingerprints on it.

What do you call a 95lb. Page student on the football team?

Middle linebacker.

What do you call a 400 lb. Page student on the football team who runs a 40 second 50 yard dash?

Wide receiver.

What has a wooden leg, a patch over both eyes and plays with toy boats in the bathtub?

Page pirate of the porcelain.

Why is Page's literary rate so high?

You would catch on two after ten years in the same school.

What is the difference between Page football players and cheerleaders?

About 10 lbs.

13. Who founded Page?

The Roto Rooter Man.

14. Why can't Page students eat dill pickles?

They can't get their heads in the jar.

Q. Did you know that sex education program was cancelled at Page?

A: The bird ate the bee.

Q: Do you know why Page students' dogs have flat noses?

A: They chase parked cars.

Q: Why do Page students have dirty fingernails?

A; They drag their hands on the ground when they walk.

Q. Why do Page students make good astronauts?

A. They take up space in school.

Pep Board in Action

By Tammy Murelle

GHS vs. Page. What more needs to be said? The rivalry is the biggest, the game is the best, and the victory will be ours. And the Grimsley Pep Board has supported the Whirlie football team with all the spirit and effort they are capable of.

Many things went on in just one week, such as three different spirit days. The first one was one in which we honored the sophs and imitated them by dressing up for kiddie day. Yesterday was lick'em day. Everyone brought suckers so we could show Page who is gonna get licked. Then today is the best of all. Everyone is wearing their bluest blue and their whitest white just to show that Whirlie spirit. Also, it is stick'em day and everyone has on the buttons and ribbons sold by Pep Board members. The most important thing to remember for tonight is no one should wear any red and white at all.

Two different kinds of ribbons were sold this week. The
