

The Plague Hits Grimsley

by "Psychotic" Ward

At last! Grimsley Senior High School has its very own punk rock band -- Johnny Vomit and The Plague. This anarchist group originally consisted of five members: Johnny Vomit, the lead vocalist; Cy Anide, the lead guitarist; Rex Havoc, the bass player; General Nuisance, the drummer; and Gill O'Tine, who died from an overdose of kerosene screwdrivers. Groupies include Hot Ruthie and Broth I Beth.

The Plague, which was the very first punk rock group to appear back in the 1960s became so popular that they were forced to go underground or face making too much money. Now Johnny Vomit and The Plague has finally decided to re-emerge and claim the fame that was once theirs alone.

"Going underground has had some of its drawbacks," rasped Cy Anide in his crackling voice.

"Yeah man," threw in Rex Havoc. "We'd never heard of The Sex Pistols until they stole two of our biggest hits 'Anarchy in the U.S.A.' and 'Lord Save the President'. They just changed the titles to suit their own purposes. The Sex Pistols have disbanded because of the great guilt they felt from doing this to us."

All of The Plague's members wish to complete some type of higher education. Johnny Vomit will attend Oxford, Rex Havoc plans to go to Cambridge, General Nuisance has been accepted at M.I.T., and Cy Anide plans to make an appearance at Jefferson College. They wish to become history majors because of their great interest in exciting events such as the black plague, the First and Second World Wars, and the Cold War.

Johnny Vomit and The Plague always go in style. All of their clothes come from exclusive racks at the Salvation Army headquarters, their gaudy "shades" smack of Woolworth's "under five cents" shelf, Rit dye is the best way to a achieve that gorgeous shade of pea-green hair color, and safety pins or stainless steel paper clips never fail as flashy nose, lip, or ear decorations,

Johnny Vomit, world famous leader of the punk rock band The Plague, leads his wildly enthusiastic audience in the hit song "Now I Wanna Die." Other band members include Cy Anide, General Nuisance, and Rex Havoc.

"Call It Punk" is the newest album cut by The Plague. Some of the songs are 'Subway to Siberia', 'Woodstock's a Drag', 'Acne's Busting Out All Over', a song about socio-economic problems of today's teen-agers, and their number-one chart topping ballad 'Now I Wanna Be Dead'. The haunting lyrics are as follows:

I wanna be dead,
So shoot me in the head.
The sheets will all turn red,
From my blood upon the bed.

Now I wanna die,
So poke me in the eye.
I'll give a little cry,
Before I say good-bye.

Now I wanna be hurt;
So throw me in the dirt.

Hit me with your cane,
And I'll be dead again.

Johnny Vomit and The Plague welcome any person anarchist enough to join. There are only six requirements:

- one must possess absolutely no musical talent.
- extensive education required (over third grade).
- one must vow to fight the evils of rock-n-roll.
- an extra "Y" chromosome is mandatory.
- minimum age requirement is four years of age.
- one must have anti-social tendencies.

So far only one person has been refused admittance to The Plague. AC/DC McGee was kicked out before he could join because of his incurable love for non-punk music. He was also in league with the Ramones, another one of the punk rock groups that brutally plagerized Johnny Vomit and The Plague.

The O'HAIRY FRESHMEN will be sponsoring a hair growing contest to help raise money for their annual trip to Reidsville. Hair must be ten feet long in order to claim the $50,000 prize.

Also trying to raise money for the big spring break trip to Reidsville are the LAZETTES and the JUNIOR LAYZEES. They are sponsoring a chug-a-lug contest. Participants will be chug-a-lugging hot root beer.

The SOPHOMORETTES are trying to raise money by selling elevator tickets to next year's sophomores. Thus far sales have been brisk to the guillible freshmen.

Another club making plans for a spring break trip are the Z-KIDS. All year the Z-KIDS have been raising money that will send them to the big city of Ruffin.

The NOACTION CLUB is doing nothing this month. They are also going nowhere for spring break.

The WAGONEERS are preparing for their annual fashion show. This year they will be modeling styles made famous by Johnny Rotten and other punk rock stars.

Four of the service clubs are preparing for picnics. The SHORT-CHANGETTES and the JUNIOR SHORTCHANGE CLUB will have their joint picnic at the skateboard park behind Carolina Circle Mall. All club members are reminded to bring their skateboards and a noseclip.

The GIBLETTES and GIBITANS are having their dinner on Treasure Island in front of Page High School. Club members are asked to bring some form of protection in addition to a covered-dish food.

The LOCKED CLUB sponsored a lock-in at a local grocery store's meat freezer. Unfortunately, one of the club officers forgot to bring the key to unlock the door. The boys are reported to be in good spirits despite the freezing temperatures.

HAPPY APRIL FOOLS!

New Point System For Driver's Ed

by Little Devil Dolin

The Grimsley Driver Education instructors have recently devised a "Grimsley Driver Education Point System."

The newly enforced point system was put into use to prepare the new Driver Education students for the traffic laws that will have to be obeyed after they receive their driver's license.

"This gives our students a feeling of responsibility in the car, that they too must obey laws of traffic. There should be no exception for beginners," said Coach Colson with extreme firmness. "After this system goes into effect next fall, we hope to witness extreme cautiousness among our new student drivers at Grimsley," added Coach Holly.

If this system works well enough for student drivers, the Grimsley faculty is hoping that this system will be put into effect for all students on the Grimsley campus.

In this new point system, your goal is to try and receive the fewest points possible. Anyone having more than 15 points on his or her record will be immediately dropped from the Driver Education class.

If one wishes to re-enroll for the following semester, he must obtain an extra 20 hours book work in addition to the previous 30 hours of book work.

The point system is as follows:

POINT SYSTEM

- If you hit a:
- 1) Sophomore = 1/2
 - 2) Page student = -5
 - 3) Senior = 7
 - 4) Coach Barbour's Driver Ed car = 3
 - 5) Coach Barbour = 1/4
 - 6) Mr. Glenn = 10
 - 7) Your brother's pet skunk = 5
 - 8) Your brother = 2
 - 9) Telephone pole = 1
 - 10) School bus = 4
 - 11) School bus driver = 2
