

School Store to Sell Postcards Featuring Popular Activities

Purple 'Winds, Band, Choir,
High Life Staff, Council
To Have Representation

Featuring pictures of the Senior high school Purple Whirlwinds, student council, glee club, High Life staff, and the band, postcards will be sold in the school store soon, possibly before the Christmas holidays, announced Stanley Johnson, faculty adviser for the supply shop, this morning.

Many Articles Sold in Store

Following the scheme of selling small pins and patriotic school skull-caps, the idea of placing postcards with pictures of familiar Greensboro high school scenes and faces in the lime-light originated under the new student management of Bobby Perry.

Hoping to interest students in supporting their school store, Mr. Johnson expressed the desire of the student council and the faculty members to promote better and fuller understanding of the supply shop's plans and policies by campaigning.

Johnson Explains Object

Explaining that the object of publicizing the store was to point out to the students the profit of purchasing scholastic necessities from their own establishment, Mr. Johnson approved of an extensive campaign.

"Campaigns are successful around Senior high school because the students are more interested in local affairs than before," concluded the adviser. "Selling school postcards is the first step in proving that the students' store sells as good, and as interesting, if not better, materials and incidentals than any other similar organization."

Pike, Strickland Average 97.8% in Attendance Check

For the second month of the school year, Miss Pike's and Miss Strickland's rooms were tied in first place for high attendance with 97.8 per cent. Second place went to room 202, Miss Walker, with 97.7. Other rooms having 97 per cent or over were rooms 7, Miss Harbison, with 97.4; room 306, Mrs. Avery, with 97.2; and room 315, Miss Moore, with 97.1.

95 or Above

Those rooms having 95 per cent or over are room 2, Miss Caldwell, 96.8; 307, Miss Wall, 96.8; 25, Miss McDonald, 96.6; 317, Miss Mitchell, 96.4; 206, Miss McNairy, 96.3; 302, Miss Smith, 96.2; 313, Miss Blackmon, 96.1; 21, Mr. Thomas, 96.1; 12, Miss Bradley, 96; 9, Miss Lee, 96; 14, Mrs. LeGwin, 95.5; 104, Mr. Deason, 95.4; 300, Miss Mims, 95.1; 16, Mrs. Blackburn, 95.1; 10, Mrs. Betts, 95; 201, Mr. Richards, 95; 27, Mrs. Alton, 95.

Stapleton, Della Trotter Capture Top Play Roles

Kiser, Thornton,
Nowell, Taylor, Sellars,
In Supporting Cast

"Starring in the leading roles of 'Spring Fever,' Playmaster's annual fall production, will be Baxter Stapleton as Howard Brant, an ambitious senior at Brookfield college, and Della Mae Trotter as Anne Purcell, his heart-interest," announced Miss Lottie Wall, director of the dramatics club, this morning.

Eleanor Dare Taylor will portray Lou Herron, a journalism major, Richard Kiser will take the part of Ed Burns, a devotee of chemistry, and

(Continued on Page Five)

Social Standards Day Schedule Announced

8:45- 9:00—Home Room.
9:10-10:00—Assembly.
10:00-11:00—First Group Meeting.
11:00-11:10—Recess.
11:10-12:10—Second Group Meeting.
12:10-12:55—First Lunch Period.
12:55- 1:10—Special Guest Lunch.
1:10- 1:55—Second Lunch Period.
2:00- 2:05—Home Room.
2:15- 3:15—Open Forum.

Scholastic Magazine Announces Awards

Prizes to Be Given in 3
Divisions of Seventeenth
Annual National Contest

Awards in three separate divisions mark the announcement of the seventeenth annual competition for high school students sponsored by Scholastic Magazine. Prizes will be given for outstanding work in creative writing, art, and music.

In the literary division of this year's contest work may be entered under the following classifications: essay, short story, historical article, one-act play, radio play, an article on some current event, and autobiographical sketch.

15 Classifications in Art

Entries in the art division will be submitted under two separate groups: work of students receiving five hours or less of art instruction per week, and work of students receiving more than five hours of instruction. Classifications for entries are as follows: oil painting, water color painting; ink drawing in four colors; spatter inks; pencil drawing; lettering; lithograph; wood cut, etching, and dry point prints; linoleum block prints; fabric designs; costume designs; advertising art; sculpture and ceramics; metal crafts; industrial design; and mechanical drawing.

The music division includes the composition for voice, piano, chorus, and solo instruments.

All entries for the competition must be mailed to the Scholastic Magazine, contest division, before March 25, 1941.

Debating Club Holds First Night Meeting of Season

"Compulsory Military Training" was the choice for discussion at the first meeting held this year by the Debating club, on October 24, in the Public library at 7:30 o'clock. The winning affirmative team was composed of Paul Miller and Hazel Swinson, while the negative consisted of Neil Beard and Billy Halladay. The judges, Marjorie Burns, Jane Eller, and Doris Osborne, were unanimous in their decision.

Walker, Blackmon to Go To Honor Society Meeting

Representing Senior high school at the annual birthday meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honor society for teachers, will be Misses Lily Walker and Mary Ellen Blackmon, only members of this group at Greensboro high. The meeting will be held tomorrow at Duke university, Durham.

Miller Speaks to Teachers

Paul Miller represented the Social Standards committee when he talked to the meeting of the Greensboro Senior high school faculty, November 6, in the school library at 3:45 o'clock.

Social Standards Day Committee Completes Plans for Conference

Social Standards Committee at Work

As the great day draws nearer, the committee is "busy as a bee" outlining programs. Above several members are caught in action—Paul Miller, Ella Mae Norman, Nancy Cowherd, and Phil Griffin. —(Staff photo by PURNELL KENNEDY.)

Local Art Department Completes Projects

Recognition came to the G. H. S. art department last week when three separate organizations of the city requested student cooperation in decorating their establishments or advertising their wares, according to an announcement from Miss Henri Etta Lee, commercial art department head, yesterday.

Draft Board Orders Designs

First request came from McDaniel Lewis, chairman of the local selective service board, for a number of patriotic designs featuring such American as the flag, Uncle Sam, and Liberty for use in the three draft offices of the city.

Wills Book Store also asked for a large scale map of the nations for a window display and several sketches of Mother Goose characters for National Book week.

The final order came from Mrs. Christine Price Florence, vocational supervisor at Senior high, for posters advertising the work of her department. Elsie Anne Lewis, Faye Sprinkler, and Janice Williams have been assigned to complete this last project.

Thomas' History 6 Class Elects Armstrong, Hodgins

F. E. Thomas' first period history 6 class in a recent election named Sarah Pover Armstrong, president, Bill Hodgins, vice-president; Frances Winslow, secretary-treasurer; Miriam Young, chairman of program committee, and Oscar Petree, chairman of social committee.

Appointed to serve on the program committee were Ruby Meacham and John Arnfield, while assisting Petree will be Garland Wolfe, Stuart Kuykendall, and Harold Brown.

Mrs. Blanche Smith to Speak To Richmond Junior High

Having accepted an invitation to speak briefly on Homecoming day, Friday, November 29, at Binford Junior high school in Richmond, Virginia, Mrs. Blanche Smith plans to leave Thursday afternoon for the capital of the Old Dominion.

Mrs. Smith as a former teacher at Binford has been invited to represent this group. According to arrangements, she will spend the week-end in Richmond and return to Greensboro Sunday.

Girl Scouts Weary 'But It Was Fun'

Returning footsore and weary, Senior high's Girl scout troop 20 was lamenting yesterday over the woes of hiking and bragging about tramping 12 miles to Guilford battleground and back, all in the same breath. These girls, feeling they didn't get enough exercise climbing the various steps around the campus, decided to don comfortable clothes, forget all about school, and commune with Mother Nature for a few hours on Tuesday, November 5. One scout, massaging her sore feet proclaimed, "We get awfully tired—but sure was fun!"

Shop Classes Learn Skillful Use of Hands

Learning to work skillfully with their hands as well as their heads is the aim of Mr. Glenn Deason's shop students, who are now constructing useful articles from wood in their classes.

Although each of the four shop periods is only an hour long, many of the boys have already completed projects. Most of these are of the usual nature, end tables, magazine racks, and study or card tables. These were made from either walnut or mahogany, the most popular types of wood with the group.

One of the more ambitious jobs is being undertaken by Horace Finch, who is making a 12-foot, waterproof surf board of mahogany. There are, many other things just as interesting, however, and students are invited by Mr. Deason to visit the shop and see them.

Biology Students Discover New Facts About Weiners

After a journey to the city abattoir to study parasitic worms last Monday, members of Mrs. Nellie Blackburn's second period biology class declared that of all the interesting things they had learned, the information received about weiners impressed them most.

Dr. W. L. Cooley, city meat inspector, conducted the class through the abattoir. He told the class that over 90 per cent of the weiners most people eat are infested by trichina eggs. Cooley declared, "You will avoid these worms by buying a better grade of weiners."

Hardre, Vache, Long Goodson, Smith, Ford To Lecture to Groups

Large Number Participate
As Student Chairmen;
Forum in Afternoon

Working hard on polishing the schedule, securing the best speakers, and selecting student group leaders, the Social Standards committee has spent a busy fortnight completing preparations for the great day on Monday, November 18 when the ninth annual Social Standards day will be celebrated at Senior high school.

Selection of the group chairmen and schedule arrangements have been completed, but the entire list of lecturers has not yet been secured, according to Billy Brinkley, general chairman of the conference.

Dr. Frank Graham Porter, president of the Greater University of North Carolina, will deliver the keynote on the conference theme of "Freedom With Responsibility" as noted in the last edition of HIGH LIFE.

Speakers Announced

"We have attempted to secure outstanding speakers for all meetings and we hope the students will enjoy them," commented Miss Sarah Lesley, and Cathleen Pike, faculty advisers, in presenting the list of speakers.

Rene Hardre, French instructor at Woman's college, has consented to speak to the foreign affairs group, which was one of the largest divisions last year. Mrs. Douglas Long, Dean Mary Swank, and Miss Betsy Ford of the Y. W. C. A. are scheduled to talk to the three groups on girl's problems. Conversation, topic for a new group this year, will have as guest

(Continued on Page Five)

School Paper to Enter Christmas Seal Contest

The North Carolina Tuberculosis association, incorporated, has invited Greensboro high school, along with other schools in the state, to participate in Christmas Seal Sale publicity program sponsored by the National Tuberculosis association and the Columbia Scholastic Press association, announced Frank W. Webster, managing director, in a letter to Principal A. P. Routh, this week.

Although no prizes will be awarded, the National Tuberculosis association will give a certificate of honor to all papers whose contributions, either editorials, news stories, or feature stories, are deemed by the judges to be original, to be accurate, to have an intelligent grasp of the subject, and to show an appreciation of the role the school can play in the prevention of tuberculosis.

English 7 Class Tested On 'Information Please'

"Information Please" was the type of test staged in Miss Lottie Wall's English 7 classes Thursday, October 31, when Miss Virginia Conrad, student teacher, impersonated Clifton Fadiman, master of ceremonies on that program.

Students submitted questions on John Milton's works, Paradise Lost, L'Allegro, and Il Penseroso, which they have just finished studying. Each query missed cost the mistaken person a forfeit.