Marshalls Choose Banner To Serve Them As Chief

Pete Branner, Ronnie Jordan, and Sheila Sapero are the chief marshal and assistants respectively, as chosen by their 27 fellow junior marshals Monday, September 23.

The 30 marshals are elected, a boy and girl, by their home room mates. They rotate in their duties so that each serves approximately the same number of times.

The junior marshals, dressed in blue and white, usher and give out programs at school and civic programs. The advisers for this year are Miss Nattie Vay White, biology teacher; Mrs. J. M. Wilder, English and Latin teacher; and Miss Jean Wood, typing teacher. Miss White is chairman.

Room 61 elected Lee Vanstony and Sue Thompson; room 27, Charlie Wilson and Nancy Wilkins; room 15, Mackie Stout and Susan Starling; and room 301, Ronnie Jordan and Martha Jordan.

Chosen from room 1 are Pete Banner and Diane Barker; room 6, Paul Harrell and Judy Harrell; room 311, Charles Garren and Maureen Ferrell; room 200, Bob New and Judy Neal; room 201B, Bill Hinshaw and Linda Johnson; and from room 24, Michael Crocker and Mary Win Corcoran. David Patrick and Pat Phillips represent room 304; Norman Carroll and Jane Bundy, room 301; and Tommy Edwards and Mary Egerton, room 25.

Room M-204 boasts Sam Shaffer and Sheila Sapero; and room 20 Jerry Rogers and Pat Smith.

JCL Has First Meet; Explain Dues, Plans

New Latin students were invited to join the Junior Classical League at the first meeting Thursday, September 19.

As each officer was introduced by Carol Eichorn, president, she explained his duty to the group.

Hal Greeson, vice president, told the group about the club past projects and programs, while Robin Farr, secretary, read the creed, which tells the purpose of the Junior Classical League.

Treasurer, Phillip Byrum told the group about the local, state, and national dues and about the club pin, while Carolyn Key and Don Stokes, scrapbook chairmen, showed the scrapbook to the group of students.

Mrs. Mary Madlin is advisor for the club.

FTA Members To Assist Teachers In Free Period

Janet Coble, president of the Benjamin Lee Smith Chapter of the Future Teachers of America Club, announced at the last meeting, September 23, that as one of the club projects for 1957 several FTA members will use their study period for assisting teachers with their classes and home room period.

The membership committee Barbara Phillips, Brenda Alvis, Lois Lynch, and Carolyn Orrell stated that their other present project of enrolling new members is completed, and approximately 135 girls are awaiting initiation.

The officers elected last spring to preside over this year's meetings are Janet Coble, president; Judy Lea, vice-president; Cookie Wilson, secretary; Rachel Jessup, treasurer; Peggy Sink, parliamentarian; Mary Lee Adams, historian; Denny Broadhurst, publicity; and Anne Davis, corresponding secretary.

A future project for November is being planned by Brenda Jones, behavior of the students at the first open house will determine whether the tentative plans for an open house after the Greensboro-Asheville game, October 4, will be carried through.

New officers of the Youth Recreation Council are Nancy McDowell, vice-chairman; Evelyn Byrd, secretary; Eddie Hines, treasurer; and Becky Tuck, reporter. Miss Pat Basinger, parks director for the city recreation department, is the adviser of the council again this year. The council is presently considering plans for a party for its newly elected sophomore members.

Clubs Band Together; Garren Is President Of New Organization

Officers of the Philomathions and Les Freres H-Ys have banded together and formed an Executive Board to screen project ideas and to settle Hi-Y problems.

Charles Garren, a junior member of the Les Freres, was elected president of the group at its first meeting September 16. The other officers were all seniors and members of the Philomathions. Add Penfield was selected vice-president; Kenny Aydelette, secretary-treasurer; and Joe Ritchie, chaplain. The Executive Board has three advisers, Charles Kivett, Rick Hornaday, and Jim Weaver. These men also double as advisers for the two individual clubs.
