young girls between the ages of 5-8 are sold into prostitution by their fathers in Angola due to the economic situation. Diamonds were used to finance a civil war for nearly two decades.

Today, in Sudan, slavery is still in existence. A child is sold for $25.00 and an adult male for $50.00. When will there ever be a change? When will there be justice and how can we help in changing our own world?

One thing is without debate; we all share in common the same planet. We might as well co-exist together. We are our brothers' keeper whether we like it or not, or whether we like our brother or not. We are, as believers, called to be stewards over the nations.

Global Leadership Training Center is a six-months learning institute that will equip you to globally impact your generation. The courses of the school and its flexible schedule that will accommodate the hectic demands of your fast-paced lifestyle, is a reason to pause and breathe in a breath of fresh air. GLTC (Global Leadership Training Center) will also accommodate your budget. For as little as $30 a week, you can secure the type of training that normally would cost thousands of dollars.

Five-star generals of our time will be flown in to train and equip you in their area of expertise. Over a century of combined knowledge will be at your disposal. Day and evening classes are offered to help you make the training that you have been waiting for an attainable reality. Anointed and skilled instructors from continents around the world will impart their apostolic anointing and wisdom to each student and missionary candidate.

Preparation is never lost time. God will use you to the extent of the measure that you allow yourself to be trained. For to whom much is given, much is expected.

The dean of the school is a former Liberian Refugee who lectured and planted over 53 bible schools in West Africa. We are proud to have him in Winston-Salem as our very own dean. The school will consist of students from Haiti, Sudan, India, Cameroon, Alaska, Uganda, Zambia, South Africa, The United Arab Emirate and many more nationalities.

Domestic students from around the United States, as far South as Mississippi and as far Northwest as Alaska. GLTC is designed with you in mind. After the completion of this training, a short-term ministry opportunity will be provided for an apprentice assignment under seasoned and proven field missionaries.

GLTC also has built into its infrastructure a global missions placement program that will assure anyone interested in becoming a career missionary proper placement on the foreign field. GLTC

Chamber, School System Present Partnership in Education Award to Harris Teeter; Community Encouraged to Re-link VIC Cards to Schools

The Winston-Salem Chamber of Commerce and Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Schools awarded Harris Teeter the Partnership in Education Award for supporting efforts to provide a quality education for all students.

Harris Teeter's Together in Education program has provided funds for local schools to purchase needed items not provided for in schools' budgets, including library books, computer software and scoreboards. Funds have helped the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County School district come closer to its goal of having one computer for every four students by purchasing hardware, software and network upgrades, and has provided staff development to assist teachers with the integration of technology into the curriculum.

"Harris Teeter is a major contributor to our local schools and their generosity is overwhelming," said Rodessa Mitchell, Education and Business Alliances Director for the Chamber. "They are making significant differences in the lives of thousands of children, and their sense of corporate responsibility is a model for others to follow. This award is just a small token of our appreciation."

As a direct result of Harris Teeter's support of Chamber initiatives, 25 teachers have implemented creative technology-focused projects in their classrooms through the Chamber's Grants for Great Ideas program and 17 teachers will implement grants during the coming school year. In addition, more than 300 business and education leaders attended a Partnerships in Education event last fall focused on improving school and business relationships, and more than 75 businesses are providing discounts and other incentives for teachers through the Chamber's BUS Stop program.

The community has shown great support for the program by linking their VIC cards to schools of their choice. It's free for consumers, and Harris Teeter donates 2% of private label purchases to schools designated by shoppers.

The program resets each year, and VIC cards will need to be linked, or re-linked, beginning August 1st and continuing through May, 2005. Linking is quick, free and easy, and can be done either in a Harris Teeter store, or online at www.harristeeter.com.
