

SOPHOMORE ISSUE TO APPEAR IN TWO WEEKS

College Problems Will Be Studied

A group of committees to study specific problems concerning student life and the organization of student government to meet these problems at Queens college has been announced by a committee composed of Henrietta McIver of Gulf, Frances Stough of Cornelius, and Dean James M. Godard, dean of instruction.

An informal meeting of students holding various offices in the student body activities was held at the home of Dr. Hunter B. Blakely, president of the college, before Christmas. At that meeting a committee to appoint committees was selected. It was decided that the problems in question could best be studied by smaller committees.

These smaller committees are to study their specific problems and present their suggestions to a central committee, which will integrate the ideas thus presented. Miss Clara Barnett Slaton, dean of women, and Miss Shirley Black, new assistant dean of women, are consultant members of all these committees. Each committee is expected to have a definite report to make by February 26. These reports will be reviewed by the central committee, and the report of the central committee will have to be considered by the administration of the college and the student body.

The committees appointed are as follows: Committee to study appropriate standards for the college and to study campus attitudes, Elizabeth Brammer of Christiansburg, Va., chairman, Henrietta McIver of Gulf, Dorothy Duckett of Charlotte, Anne Wiley of Charlotte, and Miss Anne Vann, teacher of mathematics; committee to study regulation of conduct to attain these standards, Henrietta McIver of Gulf, chairman, Annie Carr Powers of Hamlet, Frances Riddle of Columbia, S. C., and Lucille Gwaltney of Charlotte; committee to study organization of student government and to define relations between student government and administration, Dorothy Branan of Thomson, Ga., chairman, Anne Fuller of Buffalo, Ala., Mildred Thomas of Charlotte, Georgie Hurt of Charlotte, and Dean Slaton.

Committee to study the grading system and the cut system, Maujer Moseley of Charlotte, chairman, Elizabeth O. Greene of Charlotte, Eleanor Guyton of Kosciusko, Miss., Nelle Bookout of Charlotte, and Miss Connie Burwell, teacher of German and history; committee on co-ordination of day student and boarding student problems, Caroline Edwards of Charlotte, chairman, Ermine Waddill of Charlotte, Virginia Cochrane of Timmonsville, S. C., and Keller Young of Whitmire, S. C.; committee on public relations, Betty Gardner of Charlotte, chairman, Mary Payne of Charlotte, Jean Ferguson of Chicago, Ill., and Dr. Lucile K. Delano, head of the foreign language department; committee on special problems, Anne Peyton of Davidson, chairman, Ann Cromartie of Elizabethtown, and Scottie McNulty of Pocahontas, Va.; committee to study qualifications of a student government boarding council member, Elaine Suber of Whitmire, chairman, Frances Stough of Cornelius, Jane Watt Montgomery of Reidsville, and Lucille Harmon of Concord; fire drill committee, Martha Stoner of Elberton, Ga., chairman, Sue McNulty of Pocahontas, Va., and Flora MacDonald of Dillon, S. C.; committee to clarify handbook, Elven Hardee of Graham, chairman, Jean Neu of Charlotte, Alice Barron of Columbia, S. Miss Black will be the chairman of the committee to integrate the work of all these committees and to submit a general program of revision. Members of the committee will be all the chairmen above.

A PARODY ON THE RAVEN (With Apologies to Poe) THE INTRUDER

Once upon a morning cheery, while I slumbered, warm and weary,
Over many a soft and luxuriant feather of forgotten chick
While I slumbered, deeply napping, suddenly there came a tapping
As of someone quickly rapping, dealing me a robust kick.

select students by religious tests so they can be trained for Christian leadership.

Any institution which leaves out Jesus, the Master Teacher, fails to give its students the education they deserve, he stated. A Christian environment cannot exist without Christian leaders.

Dr. Lingle was introduced by Dr. Hunter B. Blakely, president of Queens college. Dr. Blakely announced that the college hopes to make an annual custom of planting something on the college campus each Founder's Day. Ivy was planted around the music building this year.

The program was begun in the college auditorium with an organ prelude by Mrs. Elsie Stokes Moseley. The Reverend James A. Jones, pastor of the Myers Park Presbyterian, gave the invocation, and a musical program was presented by Marie Roseman and Frances Riddle. Dr. S. C. Byrd, vice-president and registrar of the college, pronounced the benediction.

A luncheon was given by the general alumnae association and the Charlotte branch of the association in Morrison dining hall immediately after the program. Mrs. Emmett Crook, president of the organization, presided and welcomed the guests. The organization and the Charlotte Branch, headed by Miss Sara Locke Blythe of Charlotte, sponsored the Founders Day program.

Queens Quill Will Appear First of May

Plans for an enlarged and improved 1940 edition of the "Queen's Quill", literary magazine, are being made and the book probably will be distributed about the first of May.

The editor, Julia Edwards, and the business manager, Mary Jane Hart, were elected by the Creative Writing Group and the Spectator Club, respectively. They have no definite announcements to make concerning the book, except that it will contain advertisements this year. This is to help finance the increase in size.

Julia Edwards has chosen the following editorial staff: Elizabeth Isaacs, poetry editor; Annette McIver, short story editor; Dorothy Longenecker, book-review editor; Norma Humphries, essay editor; Nancy Jane Dandridge, exchange editor, and Jean Ferguson, art editor.

The business staff, chosen by Mary Jane Hart, is as follows: assistant business manager, Louise Blue; circulation manager, Virginia Cochrane; assistants, Mildred Taylor, Jean Brown, Mary Harriet Hurst and Nancy Jane Dandridge.

The "Queen's Quill" is sponsored by the Creative Writing Group of the Spectator Club, but every one in the student body is invited to contribute articles. Miss Mary Denny is the advisor.

S.C.A. Hut Remodeled

If you should see girls come out of the S. C. A. hut with faces wreathed in smiles do let your curiosity lead you to go in too. The interior has been entirely transformed.

Redecorating the hut is our S. C. A. project this year. We all know about it, but probably you haven't been down to see the results thus far. We have a new rust colored rug on the floor, the walls have been papered in a cream and tan striped paper, the wicker furniture is an olive green with cretonne cushions, and there are new plaid drapes at the windows. The curtains have been laundered and the window seats are in the process of being renovated.

The effect is charming. These improvements together with the recent addition of a coal grate in the open fireplace makes the hut a pleasant room for Sunday night suppers.

You will surely want to go to the hut more since it has been redecorated.

S. C. A. hopes this project will be supported by you students, not only by you students, not only by your financial aid, but also by your interest in the advantages it affords. We want everyone to feel free to use the hut at any time.

The League Invites You!

The League of Evangelical Students was founded in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on April 4, 1925; it is now an interdenominational organization, and one chapter is located on Queens college campus.

The purpose of this League is this: "To bear witness to the Bible as God's inspired word; to interest other students in the work of the gospel ministry; to have fellowship together; to show students the truth of evangelical Christianity."

The officers of the local club are as follows: Dorothy Longenecker, president; Mary Elva Smith, vice-president; and Cora Wayland, secretary-treasurer. For membership it is required "That a person be a Christian, believing the Bible as God's word."

During the first semester of this year the book "How to Win to Christ" by Burroughs was studied, and during the remainder of this school year plans for the study of the book of Romans have been made. The meetings, which are informal, are held each Monday afternoon in the Hut. One member leads the discussion, but other members feel free to contribute their ideas and thoughts about the topics under discussion. New girls are admitted to the club at any time they wish to belong, and so all students are invited to meet with them any Monday at 3:30 P. M. in the Hut.

A PARODY ON THE RAVEN (Continued from column two)

"Tis my awaker, I muttered, "dealing me a robust kick—
Presently on me she'll pick."

Started she upon my shin, when an explosion as loud as sin
Dinned a tune of lost discords akin to noises in a storm.
Not the least sympathy gave she; for a minute swooped and swayed she;
As, with mien of Queen or Lady, picked my slumbering form;
Picked upon my innocent body exhausted, warm and dorm—
Perched and picked on my prone form.

And the lady, never sitting, still is flitting, still is flitting
Around my bedstead soothing, intruding a serene repose
With nothing as consolation for my soothing palliation.
She is thoughtless of restoration of my balmy doze,
And soul from that slumber sbumisively arose.
Slumber for me—nevermore!
