

Artist Course To Be Sponsored By College

Famous Lecturers And Musicians To Appear

A lecture and concert series will be presented at Queens College this year under the sponsorship of the college for the benefit of the students and public.

The following is the scheduled program: Osa Johnson, October 18; Elissa Landi, November 8; University of Michigan Little Symphony Orchestra, February 8; Andre Maurois, February 19; the Siberian Singers, March 3; and McClelland Barclay, April 18.

Osa Johnson, or Mrs. Martin Johnson, is using as the subject for her lecture "I Married Adventure." This is also the title of her book in which she relates many of the experiences she and her husband had while exploring the wilds of Africa. Her lecture will be illustrated with moving pictures taken during their expeditions in Africa.

The second lecturer, Elissa Landi, is known in the United States for her parts in pictures, as "The Sign of the Cross" and "The Masquerader." She has also written several books. Miss Landi was born of Austrian parents in Venice.

The celebrated French writer, Andre Maurois, has written books in English about English people, as his notes on Shelley. Besides presenting his Lowell Lectures at Harvard this fall, he has lectured at Princeton, the University of Zurich, Switzerland, and the University of Barcelona, Spain.

More than 300 concerts have been presented by the University of Michigan Little Symphony. The Symphony will be here in connection with the Davidson-Queens music festival.

The Siberian Singers will present themselves in authentic 17th century robes from the Moscow cathedral. Their concert will include various events in the life of a Russian peasant, from birth until death.

Teachers Go To A.A.U.W. Meet

The North Carolina division of the executive board of the American Association of University Women held its meeting on Saturday, October 5, in Burlington, at the Parish House of the Episcopal Church, at which time the meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. T. Wanzer, of Charlotte.

Queens College was well represented at the meeting. Dr. Delano, head of the Spanish Department, presided over the state fellowship group, of which she is chairman.

Miss Alma Edwards met with the International Relations group of which she is chairman. In these groups plans were discussed for the coming year.

Dr. Dorisse Howe, who is program director of the local chapter, met with her respective group and gave her report.

There were about seventy women present at the meeting. Among these was a representative from the National Board in Washington.

New Choral Group Formed

Date Set For First Fall Concert

Announcement has been made of the members of the recently formed a' cappella group of the choral club. This group will be composed of 24 Queens girls and will be in collaboration with the Davidson glee club.

The a' cappella choir is composed of the following students from Queens: Betty Ross Dellinger, Kannapolis; Sarah Gill, Florence; Ann Golden, Carthage; Margaret Hardin, Winnsboro; Esther Love Hillhouse, Calhoun, Ga.; Sarah Holleman, Seneca; Jo Johnston, Goldston; Mary Lorene Jones, Lancaster; Frances Riddle, Columbia; Dot Robinson, Derita; Anne Roddey, Rock Hill; Rosemary Vincent, Lynchburg, S. C.; Jennie Lynn Wright, Landis, S. C.; and Elsbeth Burnham, Margaret Daniels, June Escott, Joy Fitzsimons, Elizabeth Henry, Elsie Moseley, Maujer Moseley, Alice Payne, Mary Payne, Margaret Porter, Mildred Robinson, all of Charlotte.

The first concert of the fall season will be given October 25 at Davidson and again October 28 at Queens. The program will be announced later.

Announce Rat Day Program

Rat Day will begin Tuesday, October 22, at 6:30 P. M. and will come to a close after the bonfire on Wednesday night. Mary Martha Nixon has been elected chairman of Rat Day. With the enthusiasm she and the other sophomores are showing it looks as if Rat Day is going to be one of the highlights on our campus this year. The freshmen are looking forward to it, too.

In former years the freshmen have been the only ones who have had the honor of being initiated, but it has been rumored that this year the new teachers will have the privilege of observing Rat Day.

Freshmen caps arrived on Wednesday and all freshmen will be required to wear them until after Rat Day.

Classes Elect Stunt Chairmen

The four classes have recently elected stunt night chairmen for the annual stunt night. The stunts are judged by impartial judges selected by the Athletic Council.

The senior stunt and gallery chairmen are, respectively, Elizabeth Brammer of Christiansburg, Virginia, and Mary Payne of Charlotte; the junior chairmen are Dorothy Funderburke of Kannapolis, stunt chairman, and Winnie Shealy of Gastonia, gallery chairman; the sophomore chairmen are Ann Wiley of Charlotte, stunt chairman, and Sue Crenshaw of Charlotte and Alice Clarke of Clarkton, co-gallery chairmen; the Freshmen class chairmen are Idrienne Ivey from Charlotte, stunt chairmen, and Margaret Powell, gallery chairman.

DR. CALVIN D. LINTON

Staff Presents New English Head

If you should ever chance to sail on Chesapeake Bay some beautiful, balmy day, the chances of finding our new English professor would be excellent. Born and reared in Washington, D. C., most of his summers have been spent with his family cruising on the Great Lakes, up and down the Atlantic Coast, and around Chesapeake Bay. He really loves salt water, but puts rainy weather in another category.

Aside from the job of teaching, he likes to collect poetry and take his dog for a walk—that is, when he has the time and a dog. His favorite authors are Shakespeare, Charles Dickens, and P. G. Wodehouse.

Fried chicken really hits the spot, but carrots, okra, and Schoenberg can be skipped. (No, Schoenberg isn't a vegetable, Mabel.) And he doesn't like to get up on cold mornings. As a matter of fact, he doesn't like to get up. (Who does?)

A devotee of the finer art of playing a jews-harp, not to mention the piano and organ, his favorite composer is Tchaikowsky.

Dr. Linton attended Erskine College, George Washington University, and Johns Hopkins. He received his Master's and Doctor's degrees at the latter.

He is quite pleased with the friendliness of everyone at our college and the docility with which the girls accept even "my illustrated lectures."

"I think the average American college student realizes and appreciates the privilege of being able to develop and grow intellectually and spiritually in free institutions in a free country. This realization, so far as I have seen, is particularly keen at Queens. It is up to the instructors to provide for the students the atmosphere in which the students' efforts may produce the greatest possible results."

(The first in a series of informal articles presenting the new faculty members to the student body.)

Chapel Programs For Freshmen Announced

Fall Service Schedule Set

S. C. A. Deputation Gives Program At Church

The Student Christian Association sent a delegation of girls to Mallard Creek on Sunday, October 6th. They had charge of the Young People's service at 7:30. On the program were Mary Elva Smith, Ruth Kilgo, Eleanor Lazenby, Lucile Wayland, Ann Golden, and the leader was Ida Mae Walkup. The subject was "Friendship with Christ and Others." It is reported that the main attraction of the evening was Ruth Kilgo's cello solo. Everyone seemed to enjoy the program, and the girls were asked to return.

The schedule for Dr. Gardner's fall services has been set. He will speak in chapel Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, conduct a discussion group at 4:30, and speak at an evening service at 7:00. Everyone is cordially invited. It has been requested that everybody make an effort to study over the week-end in order to have Tuesday and Wednesday open.

The $1.00 monthly fee for S. C. A. social service work has been given to the Community Chest for this month.

Prayer meetings are going to be as they were last year.

Incidentally, have you noticed the new roof on the Hut for which S. C. A. is very grateful to the administration? A new piano stool has also been bought, and new silver and china are being ordered.

Camera Club Entertained

The Queens Camera Club was guest of the Davidson Camera club Sunday afternoon at a picnic supper.

Pictures were taken before supper; afterwards the members attended vespers.

Those attending were Irene Davis, Dorothy Summerville, Jen Nue, Julia Scholl, Elizabeth Isaacs, Sarah Pardee, Frances Kerr, Billie Stout and Jane Rankin. Those from Davidson were Mac Parker, Billy Barker, David Coblenz, Jack Harris, Jack Ramsay, John McNeely, Linus Banker, Eli Parker, and Ed Maxwell.

The chaperones were Dr. Dorisse Howe and Dr. Jeter of Davidson.

Kesler To Give Violin Recital

The Music Department of Queens College will present Mr. Merle T. Kesler in a violin recital at Davidson College and again on Monday, October 14, at Queens. Mr. Kesler is making his debut to the Charlotte and Davidson public with this recital. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Keslar.

The program is as follows: "Ciaccona" (Chaconni) by Vitali-Aner; "Soanta No. 1" in F by Edward Greig; "Bieme" by Chansson; "Pastorale Elegy" by Akimenki; "Gipsy Dance" by Rachmaninoff.

All patrons and friends of the two colleges are invited to attend.

Speakers And Topics For Chapel Announced

An extensive series of chapel programs for freshmen has been planned for the coming year by Dean Slaton. Using a broad theme of orientation, she hopes that each freshman will learn the nature of all problems of college life and how to adjust herself to them.

Members of the orientation committee include Dean Slaton, Miss Denny, Mrs. Porter, Miss Jarrett, Miss Orr, and Dean Godard. This program includes such broad topics as adjustment, study habits, extra-curricular life, problems of health, specific problems of social development, and choosing a vocation.

An introduction to college has already been given by Miss Slaton. In presenting the topic of study habits, Dean Godard will discuss the essentials of good study habits, how to take notes in College, how to use the library, the good student's attitude toward tests and examinations, and the value of time.

Miss Denny is in charge of the programs on extra-curricular life. Her programs include leisure time in college and after college, what Charlotte offers for leisure time and how to use it, and making friends in college.

Mrs. Porter will present the problems of health with programs on important health habits, teeth and good health, eyes and good health, a girl's problems of health, mental health, and recreation as a health habit.

Miss Jarrett and Miss Orr will work together in giving programs on the charm of good manners, personal grooming, good taste in the selection and wearing of clothes, the care of clothes, the care of one's room, essentials of good conversation etiquette, the art of being hostess and guest.

Miss Slaton will close the series with the general principles of vocational guidance, techniques of guid-

Group To Go To Mars Hill

Dr. Graham, Dr. Howe, and Miss Sarah Nooe of the Queens College faculty are to be among the thousands expected to attend the dedication of the new science building at Mars Hill Junior College on Saturday, October 12. The science teachers of all the schools and colleges in North Carolina are invited to attend the dedication.

In the morning there will be a symposium, at which time a discussion of the plans and purposes of the new building will be discussed.

Following the symposium, lunch will be served to the guests by the college. Immediately after lunch the dedication ceremonies will be held. The building is said to be one of the most modern and best equipped of its kind in the South.

The guests are then invited to attend a football game at the college stadium.
