

Roosevelt Wins In Campus Poll

Students And Faculty Vote

In the student poll held this week on Queens campus, President Franklin Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate, showed a great majority over Wendell Willkie, the Republican candidate. The total number of votes cast was two hundred and sixty-one (261) of which two hundred and six presented the two speakers: Amelia Bradham of Sumter, S. C., who campaigned for Roosevelt and Julia Edwards of Charlotte who spoke for Willkie. The student body responded enthusiastically to both speakers.

Statistics concerning the election proved interesting. The faculty cast twenty-five votes. Of these eighteen voted for Roosevelt, seven for Willkie. Among the classes, the freshmen cast the most votes, seventy-one in all. They also showed the most number for Roosevelt, which was sixty-one. For Willkie there were ten votes. The Sophomore and Junior classes showed the greatest majority for Willkie. They cast thirteen votes respectively for him. Roosevelt received fifty-four votes from the Sophomores and thirty-eight votes from the Juniors. Sixty-seven Sophomores voted and fifty-one Juniors. From the Senior class forty-seven votes were cast. Thirty-five were for Roosevelt and twelve were for Willkie.

This student poll was conducted by the International Relations Club in co-operation with the QUEENS BLUES.

Franklin D. Roosevelt

(206) were for Roosevelt and fifty-five (55) were for Willkie.

Registration was held in Burwell Hall, October 24 and October 25, for faculty members and students who wished to enter their names for the voting. The final secret ballot was cast on October 30.

On this same day at student chapel preceding the voting a program was presented in behalf of the two leading presidential candidates. Jean Neu, of Charlotte, president of I. R. C.

New Fashions To Be Shown By Students

The Home Economics Club is sponsoring another one of their fashion shows. It will be in the auditorium Tuesday night, November 5, at eight o'clock. The admission is only fifteen cents.

The clothes to be modeled are from Lucielle's, and that alone says style beauty, and originality. The latest in fashions will be shown by our own Queens girls, and costumes for every occasion and every type will be displayed.

A grand prize is to be given to the person holding a lucky ticket and all Home Economics student have tickets to sell.

The brilliantly styled clothes are to be modeled by Catherine Greene, Doris Raley, Olive Meadows, Margaret Thompson, Lib Brammer, Jean Ferguson, Elizabeth Roseman, Jean Brown, Hilda Harmon, Patsy Niven, Anne Brannon, Mary Heilig McDow, Marie Pons, Katherine Kittles, Frances Lowrance, Lucille Blackburn, Frances Mosely, Lorene Jones, Mary Jane Goode, and Marion Miller.

Come on out, students, and you will see why America has become the fashion center of the world!

New Group To Be Sponsored By Students

A new art club, sponsored by the Paint and Polette Club, has been formed for all those interested in learning how to paint. The club meets every Tuesday afternoon at one-thirty in the art laboratory. At each meeting a member of the Paint and Palette Club will be in the laboratory to criticize the work.

During the year the new club will take up sketching, painting, figure painting, designing, posing, and block printing.

The members of the club are Dot Herron, Katherine Greene, Marguerite Gillespie, Catherine Patterson, Louisa McLean, Kitty Maner, and Dot McNair.

Famous Actress To Appear On Lecture Series Here Versatile Artist of Stage and Screen Will Present "Thumbnail Sketches"

Queens College is happy to present Miss Elissa Landi, noted stage and screen actress, in a lecture engagement on Friday night, November 8, in the college auditorium. Miss Landi will present several of what she has labeled "Thumbnail Sketches." Included in these sketches will be "A Boatload of Refugees," "My First Day at The Studio," "International Broadcast," and "Mrs. Markofsky."

Elissa Landi is of Austrian birth, and her parents are of the nobility. She studied in Europe until the beginning of the first World War, when she went to London. While there, Miss Landi studied dancing under Madame Serafina Astafiena, late of the Imperial Russian Ballet. She was also intensely interested in music, and some years later began studying voice.

Miss Landi began her first novel at the age of thirteen. Finally, after rewriting it five times and changing it completely, she submitted it to a publisher, who immediately accepted it.

Miss Landi was quite surprised to find herself an actress. Although she was interested in the theater, it was from the writer's point of view. A friend of her mother, however, decided that Miss Landi had the makings of an actress, and had her made a member of the Oxford Players Repertory Company. While appearing with this company, she received the invitation to appear in "Storm," a London production, which was her first success. She then appeared in several British films, before coming to America to make "The Sign of The Cross," and "The Count of Monte Christo." About three years ago, after a successful British season, she returned to make "After the Thin Man," and to appear on Broadway in "The Lady Has A Heart."

Charter Members Of Mysterious New Organization

Robed Figures Conduct Weird Ritual For Tapping Service

Alpha Eta Sigma Members Discuss Time At Meeting

As each member of Alpha Eta Sigma came to the meeting October 24, she was given ribbons in the sorority colors—blue and silver. The group then joined in singing pep songs led by Jane Montgomery. The meeting was then called to order and the business discussed. A list of the committee chairmen was read and explained, and the new members chose one committee to serve on.

FRESHMAN S.C.A. GROUP FORMED

It has been announced by Frances Brockington, leader of the group, that the members of a Freshman Cabinet for S. C. A. activities have been elected. This, for Queens, is a new organization which has been formed in order to stimulate interest in the Student Christian Association. In previous years it has been felt that the freshmen, not having a representative to Cabinet, have been rather excluded from the activities of S. C. A. This year, in order to remedy this situation, S. C. A. Cabinet decided to form a Freshman Cabinet. Ten girls were chosen to form the group. They are as follows: Judy Scholl, chairman; Eleanor Lazenby, secretary; Peggy Bell, Mildred Cook, Nancy Isenhour, Marjorie Imbody, Elnora Huneycutt, and Catherine Patterson, all of Charlotte; Eloise Pickard of Durham; and Lucille Wayland of Malden, West Virginia.

The freshman representative to S. C. A. Cabinet will be selected from this group in the spring.

A meeting of Freshman Cabinet was held last Wednesday and a retreat to Camp Rotary was planned for the week-end of November 23. Meetings will be held regularly every Wednesday.

Queens was the scene last night of one of the most unusual occurrences ever to take place here. Approximately at 10:50 a strange procession of an undetermined origin began to pass through the dormitories. This procession was composed of seven figures wearing scarlet robes and black hoods. In order to further conceal their identity, all of the figures wore black socks over their shoes, and white gloves on their hands. It was noted by several observers that all the members of the procession had on glasses. It is not known, however, if this was significant as to their identity, or if it was simply a part of the disguise.

The procession itself was most unusual. The only light carried was that of a flashlight shining through a skull. Other objects carried in the group were the skeletons of a cat and rooster, and bones of varied sizes.

After this group had trailed through all the dormitories, they disappeared as strangely as they had come, taking with them six girls who had been tapped during the procession.

The identity of these people is a mystery. The only names which they used in the presence of onlookers were those of the seven planets. Their place of meeting is also unknown. There is however conclusive evidence that the name of the group is the Ancient Order of the Crimson Crown.

S.C.A. Plans For Evening Service

Beginning this past week S. C. A. has planned to have a Candlemas service every Wednesday night in place of the usual Morning Watch. It will be in the auditorium each week at 6:40. Everyone is invited to come.
