

McClelland Barclay To Give Lecture

Executive Council To Take Office

Dean Alice Baldwin Will Deliver Charge To Leaders

The installation service for the newly-elected Executive Council will be held Wednesday morning, April 16, 1941, during the Chapel service. Dean Alice Mary Baldwin of Duke University will present a charge to the incoming officers and the Student Body, after the induction of the new officers. To be installed into office at this time are: Mary Marshall Jones, President of the Student Body; Julia Miller, President of the Boarding Students; Jane Montgomery, President of the Student Christian Association; and Flora McDonald, President of the Athletic Association. The following newly elected officers of the campus organizations have been requested to wear white: Mary Jean McFayden, Jane Grey, Julia Scholl, Louise Blue, Nancy Jane Dandridge, Gail Griffith, Marjorie Imbody, Mary Katherine Martin, Kitty Ellmore, Kitty Sue Harvin, Inez Fulbright, Sarah Holleman, Ruth Baker, Mabel Beach, Rosemary Vincent, Doris Raley.

Dr. Baldwin studied and did research at many colleges and universities all over the world, a few of which are Bryan Mawr, Pa., the Sorbonne, in France, and Columbia University. She has been dean of the Woman's College of Duke University since 1930; she is contributor to a number of magazines, is a Phi Beta Kappa, and is the author of College Bound, and a number of other books. She had always been interested in college and college students, and her talk promises to be very interesting and helpful.

College Is Dinner Host For Guests

Thursday, April 10th, at 6:00 P. M., an informal dinner was given at Queens College in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smart. After the dinner Mr. Smart spoke on astrology, which is his hobby.

Other guests at the banquet were: Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Varnon, Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Linton, Dr. and Mrs. Hunter Blakely, and Mary Morris Blakely, who is home for the holidays. Hostesses at the dinner were: Jane Montgomery, Julia Miller, Margaret Holland, Louise Hall, Mary Katherine Martin, Inez Fulbright, Kitty Sue Harvin, and Lib Brammer.

Day students who attended were: Nancy Baker, Mary Lillian Beatty, Peggy Bell, Betty Bibberstein, Betty Jean Furray, Harriet Henderson, Lydia and Mary Ellen Abbott, Margaret Alexander, Nancy Sue Boeckmann, Esther Vause, Ruth Alexander, and Martha Blythe.

After Mr. Smart's talk in Burwell hall the guests were entertained by three one-act plays presented by the dramatic department in the Auditorium.

Juniors To Fete Seniors With Banquet

Other Entertainment Is Planned For Week

The Queens College annual Junior-Senior banquet will be held April 19 in Morrison Dining Hall on the campus. This banquet will be the prelude to the annual Senior Week. From April 21-26 there will be luncheons and other entertainments for the members of the Senior Class. At this writing no definite plans for Senior Week have been announced.

Co-chairmen in charge of Junior-Senior banquet are Mary Marshall Jones of Charlotte and Dorothy Funderburk of Kannapolis. As is traditional sometime during the event the president of the rising Senior Class will be announced.

Besides the seniors, in whose honor the banquet is being given, other guests have been invited. Among these are: Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Marshall, Rev. and Mrs. James A. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. McAlister Carson, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. Hunter B. Blakely, Miss Clara Slaton, Miss Jean Orr, Dean and Mrs. J. M. Godard, Mr. and Mrs. Howard MacGregor, and Miss Laura Tillett. Invited students are Louise Blue, of Southern Pines, president of the sophomore class, and Julia Frances Scholl of Charlotte, president of the freshman class.

The decoration committee is composed of the following juniors: Billie Harmon of Concord, Emily Seitter of Wilmington, Virginia Baxter of Charlotte, and Nancy Claire Allen of Charlotte.

Cookie Scoggin of Conway, S. C., is president of the junior class, and Jean Ferguson of Riverside, Ill., is head of the seniors. After the banquet the five sororities of the campus will hold open house.

News Briefs

GIVE TEA

Miss Ann Vann and Miss Mary Denny entertained at a lovely tea Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Calvin Linton, whose marriage to Dr. Linton March 28 has been of wide interest. Guests included members of the faculty and staff. They were greeted at the front door by Miss Denny, and Miss Vann said goodbye at another door. Also assisting in serving were Miss Laura Tillett and Mrs. Louis Carter. The home was decorated with lovely spring flowers and tea was served.

MUSIC CONTEST

Last week two members of the music faculty were acting as judges in the high school music contests. Mr. James Christian Pfohl judged the band competition in Richmond, Virginia, where the Virginia State Band Contest was held.

Miss Grace Robinson went to Winston-Salem, N. C., where the North Carolina District Contest was held. She judged the voice, ensemble, and chorus competition.

Noted Illustrator Plans To Draw Sketches On Program

McClelland Barclay

The final lecture of the Queens College Concert and Lecture series will be presented on April 18 at 8:15 o'clock in the college auditorium. McClelland Barclay, noted illustrator, will be the speaker. His subject will be "An Artist Looks at Art and Life." The talk will be illustrated with sketches.

Mr. Barclay is an industrial designer and magazine illustrator. He is well-known as the creator of the popular "Fisher Body Girl," who was the first of his many litesome, radiant beauties which have for more than a decade set American standards of beauty and charm. He has possibly done more than any other artist living to glorify and exemplify characteristic American types. His idealized portraits and magazine covers portraying the American girl have made her become a distinct and recognizable type the world over.

Mr. Barclay's skill in painting is most outstanding, clear-cut, and unique. All his works are distinguished by an individual technique which is not easily imitated. His numerous illustrations and magazine covers have appeared regularly in well-known publications and have established him as one of the foremost modern illustrators.

This lecture promises to be equally as interesting as the others given in the series presented at the college. Dr. Lucile Delano has served as chairman of the committee which arranged the concert and lecture series. The series included Andre Maurois, Elissa Landi, Osa Johnson, the Michigan Little Symphony, and the Siberian Singers.

Mrs. Blakely Talks About European Trip

Thursday morning, April 3, Mrs. Hunter B. Blakely gave an interesting and helpful talk at freshman chapel. She spoke on the popular subject "A Trip to Europe." She made valuable suggestions about the clothes that should be taken on such a voyage. She said that one should plan to take a wardrobe that would be suitable for the climates of Europe, although not appropriate in New York.

Mrs. Blakely stated the importance of making hotel reservations in advance of one's arrival. Occasionally hotels do not offer fair prices to the unknowing American tourists, so such conflicts should be avoided by early reservations, she said.

"An European trip is a real venture and if planned sensibly and carefully should be a delightful experience," the speaker declared.

S. C. A. Group

Will Present Old Melodrama of "Little Nell" In Chapel Wednesday

Wednesday, April 16, the Student Christian Association will present an old-fashioned melodrama entitled "Little Nell." It will be given at 8:00 P. M. in the Auditorium.

Those taking part will be: Margaret Hardin, Flora McDonald, Mimi Bradham, Dorothy Longenecker, Jean Rourk, Jane Montgomery, Frances Trulock, and Mary Elva Smith.

All are urged to come see "Little Nell." The greatest hit on Broad (?) way! Attraction of the season! Come voice your opinion. Weep with the heroine; boo at the villain. Cheer for the hero, and kiss (am!) the bride. Come have your heart torn out and your sides burst for only 15c. Economy of the season!

Class Learns Emergency Aid

There are two first aid classes being conducted at Queens at present. These classes are being directed by two Red Cross First Aid Instructors, Miss Cordelia Henderson, and Mr. Robert Alexander. The class directed by Mr. Alexander is in connection with Mrs. Guy Eason's home nursing course. Both of these courses lead to the student first aid certificate.

There are twenty-four people taking the course under Miss Henderson and several outside speakers have been brought in. Mr. Harold Godwin presented the unit on bandaging.

Two Teachers To Conduct Mexican Tour For Summer

Dr. Lucile Delano and Miss Jo Langford Will Make Second Educational Trip

"For your vacation this year, and for something entirely different, go 'South of the Border, Down Mexico Way.' There you will find a fascinating land—quaint Indian villages, age-old civilizations, Spanish landmarks, modern Mexican cities, canals where you can glide along in canoes to the music of 'Cielito Lindo' and 'La Paloma,' snow-capped mountains, and pyramids as famous as those in Egypt. You will find Mexico City modern and beautiful; you will see modern art and architecture along side traces of the civilization of Montezuma; you will study the murals of Diego Rivera in Cortez' palace in Cuernavaca; you will visit some of the finest churches in the world at Taxco and Puebla; you will pick orchids and gardenias in the tropical gardens at Orizaba; for entertainment you will attend bullfights at the famous Plaza de Toros and hear great symphony concerts in the magnificent National Theatre in Mexico City. You will browse in the markets, ride in Chapultepec Park, buy sarapes and baskets at Toluca, hear native music and see native dances. You will become acquainted with a gracious, friendly people and will steep yourself in their language, history, and customs. An extraordinary experience awaits you in Mexico."

The above paragraph is quoted from the attractive folder just released by Dr. Lucile Delano and Miss Jo Langford of the Modern Language Department at Queens College, announcing their annual Educational Tour to Mexico and the lower United States, which will be personally conducted by the two faculty members. The tour will leave Charlotte June 23, and return July 14, 1941. The membership will consist of a private party of selected members.

The first annual tour, which was made last year, was very successful and was enjoyed very much by both the conductors and the conducted.

The trip this year will include stops at New Orleans, La., and San Antonio, Texas, and at Mexico City, which will be the official headquarters for the tourists. From Mexico City, the party will go to the famous Floating Gardens of Xochimilco, the National Palace and the National Museum in Mexico City, Chapultepec Palace, famous home of Maximilian and Carlotta, the "Tree of the Sad Night," the Desert of the Lions, the market-place of Toluca on market-day, the pyramids of San Juan Teotihuacan, and many other excursions of interest and entertainment to the party.

For further information, see or write Dr. Lucile K. Delano, Queens College, Charlotte, N. C.