QUEENS' MAY DAY PIN-UP GIRL—May Queen Jean Brown held court in May Day Dell on the Queens College campus. After the royal procession, a pageant depicting the history of the school in song and dance was presented. The Queen, who is from Troutman, was selected by fellow students early in December.

Seniors Given Thanks Gifts By Juniors

Traditional Senior chapel was held on Friday, May 5. At this chapel, incoming student body officers presented outgoing student body officers gifts of appreciation. The Senior Class filed out of chapel after the awards were made, leaving their class section empty for the incoming Senior class. Each class left its section and went into that it will hold next year.

Edna Adams, president of student government, presented Anne Hatcher, outgoing president, with china in Anne's pattern. Betsy Hodges, president of boarding student council, gave her predecessor, Mabel Beach, a house robe. Peggy Bell Benoit received a monogrammed linen set from her successor, Marie Sittin, president of the day student council. Emmy Wood, president of Student Christian Council gave a bracelet to Lou Wayland, her predecessor. Annette McCall received a tennis racquet from Ruth King who is taking over her duties as president of Athletic Association.

Junior-Senior banquet, given by the Junior class in honor of the Seniors, was held at the Myers Park Club on Wednesday evening May 3, at 7:00 p. m. Jane King, the chairman of Junior-Senior banquet committee, acted as toastmistress. Mrs. J. M. Godard was guest speaker.

"Canteen 44" was the theme of the banquet. All Juniors wore white dresses and red, white, and blue crepe aprons. A printed program with a cover showing a canteen door was given. Red, white, and blue flowers decorated the tables.

Edna Adams, president of the student body and past president of the Junior class, welcomed the guests. A toast to the Senior class was given by Frances Bryan, the new Senior class president, and Eleanor Lazenby Biggers, the president of the outgoing Senior class, gave the response for the Seniors.

The Canteen Cuties, a group of Juniors, sang "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and "Just the Way You Look Tonight". Betty Ellis gave her interpretation of Virginia O'Brien singing "Rockaby Baby". Betty Schaff and Polly Foglesong gave a dance on Deborah and Maude.
