AN ESSAY ON THE FRAILTY OF ARMY LIFE

---(Contributed by Pvt. Oliver Parker)

After a hard days work here, which consists of 8 hours of toiling borously at strenous work such as hoisting cigarette butts from the company sa, or pushing a G. I. idiot stick around a large sand lot in order to remove ighly foot prints in the clean dirt surrounding our company. A G. I. idiot ick is comparable to a civilian broom and upon close observation, it will be am to be the same as a broom in any country known. This is done for 8 hours th only two breaks an hour and these are of only twenty five minutes apiece.

After the days hard work we reel that we are entitled to a few hours reation, we therefore, buy, beg, borrow, or steal enough clean clothes to esent a respectable appearance in the local town. Well, we proceed into town upon being deposited in the center of the local metropolis, we immediately art our course for a local gin mill, grog shop, or den of alcoholic ill repute, beer garden as it is so called in the better circles. Well, upon our arrival put in our order for a double distilled cyclone.

This drink, as you may suspect, brings about the same reactions as the e implies. A double distilled cyclone is a recipe which is known to only a lice few. It consists of the following;

- 1 cup washing fluid
- 1 cup after shave lotion
- 1 tsp bluing
- ½ tsp iodine
- ¼ cup of rubbing alcohol
- ½ cup of castor oil
