'LET US TRAVEL'

talents. Broadening fields of effort and high endeavor will open where we may find play for our particular aptitudes. The professional gates of service to those who knock with the right hand of brotherhood and unselfishness. If we do not shut our ears to the cries of distress there will come clearly through the confusion a particular summons; an opportunity for each man and woman of fulfillment and the measureless satisfaction that comes from this.

If we are to answer completely, we shall have to forfeit ease. Tasks worthy of effort are stern in their demands, but we will know the stimulus of the striving and capacities developed to their fullest extent.

Granted, then, that a life of achievement and action is no level road, let us determine to live our lives each day as we would climb a steep mountain, slowly and steadily, giving an occasional glance toward the top to keep the goal in view, pausing often along the way to marvel at each new scene; taking time out to laugh when we may and lend a hand when necessary to a fellow climber who finds the going too rough; relishing the exciting challenge that each turn of the trail brings and stopping for moments of sincere prayer when the clouds of uncertainty darken and the winds of circumstance blow.

May we travel humbly, cheerfully with fine awareness of all about us confident that the breath of the visit from the peak in all its glory will be a worthy climax to the long, steep journey of the years.

8B MAKES TOUR

The 8B class won first place in the elementary department of Lincoln High by reporting $40.00 in May Day Contest. As a result the class was given an all expense paid tour to places of interest in Durham and Raleigh. The class visited the Leggett and Meyers tobacco plant in Durham. In Raleigh the group visited the school for the blind, the Hall of History, the Capitol, the Museum, and Shaw University.
