News From 7 And 8S Class

During the last weeks we have been studying the six Southeastern States. These States are West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. Our class is also studying the kinds of products that are in these States, State birds and State trees.

We have learned about the Negroes too. This week is Negro History Week. Our class is making reports on the Negro. Negro singers, actors, dancers, boxers, educators, and Negroes in government work. We did our research in the library using encyclopedias and other references books.

Our boys played two basketball games. They lost both games but we had a good time, anyway.

Our class went on a trip to the fire department when we talked about fire safety. Also Mr. Harris, the forest ranger, came to show a film and talk about safety in the woods. Then Mrs. Mitchell's husband came to show us his increment borer, a tool used to take a core from a tree to see how old it is.

Summer Workshops

Have you made any plans to attend a summer student council workshop? This is one of the best means for learning about your duties and responsibilities as a student council member. Write to your state secretary for complete details on a workshop in your state.

them, and through our behavior, especially toward others and with others.

Personality is not a fixed thing. It varies with time and under circumstances of happiness, stress and strain.

What does the word "personality" mean to you?

Senior Class News

Presently the members of the Senior Class are planning their future. We have taken the Scholastic Aptitude Test, while hoping that our scores would be sufficient to enter the college of our choice.

Perhaps you noticed the commotion in the gymnasium recently. The seniors were taking those long awaited Senior pictures. During the process of taking the pictures one would observe us desperately trying to balance those heavy hats on our tiny heads. We, girls, found it very difficult to become accustomed to the long robes, but all in all we became slightly familiar with the feeling that we will experience again in June for the last time at Lincoln.

About the middle of February, we began wearing class rings. They are another symbol that reminds us that our days at Lincoln are numbered. Realizing this fact, all of us are exerting much effort to excel in all of our endeavors, whether they are curricular activities or extra-curricular activities.

Radio And TV Scholarship Offered By WFMY-TV

Again this year WFMY-TV in Salisbury will offer a full scholarship to a student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, it was announced by Gaines Kelley, general manager of the Channel 2 station.

The Institute will be held in Chapel Hill from June 13 through 27, co-sponsored by North Carolina Association of Broadcasters and the Department of Radio, Television, and Motion Pictures at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, in cooperation with the University Extension Division.

The scholarship is open to North Carolina high school students who will have completed the eleventh or twelfth grade by the end of the current year. Application forms and complete information about the scholarship may be obtained by writing to WFMY-TV, before April 15th.

The two-week session offers students the opportunity to learn the fundamentals or broadcast writing, acting, announcing and production techniques.

Drama, Drama Everywhere

On March 12, 1965, our dramatics club went to Livingstone College in Salisbury, N. C. to present a play—"Twelve O'clock Murder" by Le Romer Greth. Our cast really out did themselves. The characters were: Essie Watson as Diane Van Reed; Nancy Atwater as Pam Van Reed; Delba Rankin as Hortese; Charles Tuck as Ross; William Carter as Henry Homer; Stella Farrar as Madam Olga; Calvin Edwards as Jack; and Carolyn Headen as the ghost. Madam Olga was a fortune teller. As the play begins Henry Homer is in a frenzy after having his fortune told. Ross brings Pam and Diane to Madam Olga's house where they are renting a room. Madam Olga tells Diane's fortune. Diane's is to be murdered at midnight. About this time Jack arrives to rent the room beside Diane's. This was a very exciting and eventful play with some unexpected happening all of the time.

The cast had to be presented at least fifty minutes before their play was scheduled or they would forfeit their privilege to present their play.

The first play was "Sorry, Wrong Number" by Lucille Fletcher and presented by Morningside High School of Stateville, North Carolina. The second play was "The Clod" given by Unity High School, also of Stateville, and written by Lewis Beach. The third play in the morning session was "The Devil and Tom Walker" by Robert Brome and presented by Lincoln High School of Bessemer City. Our own Lincoln High School presented the final play of the morning.

The first play of the afternoon was "The Book" written by Beatrice LaForce and presented by York Road High School of (Continued on Page 4)

Library News And Notes

Our library's collection of new books has increased this year in as much as we have added two hundred and fifty books.

There are excellent titles to choose from in all areas of the classification scheme-books for the adventurous minds, as well as for those who like to read a more intellectual type of book, also new fiction books.

Those who have a great interest in music, English, poetry, history of reading for fun, there is some information in the library. Space and time will not permit us to tell you about all of the book collection, but you may see the collection of books by dropping in.

In observance of Negro History Week the Library displayed pictures of famous Negroes and their works. The display was "Negro Freedom" which endeavored to achieve to our uplift and become worthy members of society; for not only on the shores of these Negroes salute, but as citizens of our country, it is our responsibility to continue to attain the highest goals possible in life.

Look To Faith

Many students say that we have it hard, If they could only see, the time of Uncle Tom, When slaves were beaten and worked all day in the heat with little rest and less to eat. Their children were taken and sold into slavery, The times were hard, but the people had faith That God would deliver them out of bondage unto that place of rest. Uncle Tom, through all hardships Never complained once, he read his Bible as best as he could.

For he knew of the eternal life That was promised to the strong and he knew then, that once again

He would meet up with his wife. So students you see we don't have it hard because we don't have to toil, as Uncle Tom did, In the soil.
