NEWSPAPER WEEK—HTK JOURNAL BROADCASTS

The NBC half-hour program last Saturday featured two Negro war correspondents, John G. C. ...

Both overseas pick-ups were made without hitch and came in strong and clear. In previous years atmospheric conditions of mechanical failures had marred reports from overseas.

A dramatization of the Normandy D-Day invasion by Sgt. Wesley B. Woodson of Philadelphia, Pa., featured Maurice Elin, stage star who has played in such successes as "Milk and Honey" and "Words and Music."

RALPH COOPER is M. C. Carlton Moss wrote the radio adaptation of the play. Woodson, wounded by a shell fragment, continued to administer first aid to 250 casualties on the beach.

Edward Matthews, star of the concert stage and the original producer of "Porgy and Bess," sang Langston Hughes' stirring composition, "Freedom Road," while Lionel Hampton's orchestra played two numbers.

Pacific Island Shower Bath

Marine ingeniously took a badly-damaged belly gasoline tank and patched it, then placed it atop some Japanese lumber and thus provided a shower bath on one of the Pacific Islands group.

Between the time of completion and acceptance of applications in late January, white pressure groups including the mayor and Congressman Wright Patman (D. Tex.) were successful in getting NHA approval in favor of white workers. Announcement of the action, however, was delayed pending termination of the War Department's drive for Negro workers and participation of returned Negro soldiers on morale boosting programs in the area.

Farmer's Friend

By GEORGE S. BENSON President of Harding College Seemey, Arkansas

Looking Ahead

TWO Southerners sat near me in a crowded day-coach recently and carried on a heated and revealing conversation. Both were farmers, but their similarity ended there. They were not at all alike. One seemed to be about 70 years old. He spoke with a soft "Deep South" inflection. He had attended college, was well dressed and had lived in several big cities.

The other man was nearer 30, spoke with the accent of the delta country and was obviously a dirt-farmer with limited schooling. The conversation was about rice. The older man insisted that rice was grown in Arkansas.

Shorter hours and higher wages for people who work, lower prices and better merchandise for people who buy, universally are popular ideas. The same people want all four, because working people buy the biggest part of everything that's sold.

Good equipment costs something; investment. With good equipment, workers increase production per man and get their pay raised, also increase production per day — or per acre. It shows the investor a profit. Good equipment also increases the available supply and thus lowers prices. What America needs, not to mention China, is to encourage investment.

It sounded quite familiar when the cultured gentleman, a farmer explained, "The biggest part of the cost of anything is labor."

The statement was made often, quarter of a century ago, and used to be almost true. But America's volume production by
