WALTER WHITE WARNS U.S. MUST WAKE UP TO HAPPENINGS IN PACIFIC

Berkley who was burned from his waist down suffered much. Afterward he was burned from his head to his feet.

Mr. Melvin then emerged from a fire house, heard his mother in the kitchen, and rushed to her aid in the midst of a raging flame. He led her out, only to discover that her hands were badly burned and in much pain.

The three victims were rushed to Pittman Hospital for immediate treatment. They were carried by cooperating relatives and friends. James Melvin and Penny Haine.

Mrs. Lydia Melvin was able to return home that night after treatment had been given and both hands properly bandaged.

The two boys remained in the hospital. On Sunday, April 15th, at about eleven o'clock, Berkley, age 10 years, 3 months and 5 days died from burns of the body.

The home was entirely destroyed, with nothing standing but the chimney and floor. All furnishings were destroyed, amounting to a loss of building and household furniture about $1000.00.

Other losses included some pottery, silverware and roofing materials, also water damage.

The nearby house, in which many of the saved goods were kept, was destroyed, only allowing a small part of the contents to be saved.

Many cars and trucks full of food and white citizens in addition to others gathered to render help.

The occasion witnessed many saddened hearts and sympathizing friends who say the director was surprised that he had been so fortunate in that action by the enemy.

The community and town of Goldsboro, N.C., are showing signs of improvement.

USHERS VISIT ORPHANAGE AT OXFORD

Velvet as a result of emotion rather than a result of clear thinking. We must begin visualizing a return of our servicemen to civilian life in this state of ours. Young men who have undergone the hardships of war must learn to adapt themselves to these men, we are preparing for these men, we are preparing for their children and generations to come.

Respectfully yours,

Winfred H. Koen

WARN'S PERMANENT EPIC ENDANGERED

Dale stated, "to settle the fight by putting forth the Taff Bill, which would provide an educational and investigating body without powers of action or enforcement. Passage of the Taff Bill would be a step backward. Its proposed commission would not have even the powers now exercised by the President's Commission."

She also pointed out that Congress should be requested to fight for support from their party leaders, since both parties in their 1941 election platforms had committed themselves to such legislation.
