

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE)

LIBERAL QUITS ST. LOUIS U. WHEN RACE COUPLES BARRED FROM PROM
Immediately following the acceptance of the resignation of Heubach, Rev. George Dumen handed in his resignation, "so I took over the leadership of the faculty," he decided to leave the faculty when a record of his on racial tolerance was deleted from a scheduled program. WWF, the university's radio station.

NEGRO DOUGHS PROVE WORTH IN FIGHTING EAST OF RHINE
Jerry, with his M-1 from a distance of 500 yards.

Lieutenant Green, who helped with the training of the platoon in February, said he had difficulty in confining his men to their objectives. "During the attack," he said, "the men were so excited, they wanted to go ahead even after they had captured and cleaned out all sections of the town that they had been assigned."

Private First Class Vincent R. Malveaux, who took a rejection from first sergeant to private, praised the men fighting with them in the Remagen bridgehead.

They are referred to as "the fighting sons-a-guns you ever saw."

Lieutenant Millard G. Durham, their company commander from St. Louis, Mo., says, "The colored troops, in all engagements, proved to be as courageous and aggressive as the veterans of any other company."

Their first engagement was a terrific small arms battle. They never faltered. On the contrary, they were hard to control. Their sole desire seemed to be to close with the enemy, regardless of the scheme of maneuver. It was difficult to hold them on the company objective when there was an enemy in front of them.

Shortage of ammunition was the only thing that stopped them from going too far ahead when two squads of the platoon spearheaded an attack at Wiesse," says Lieutenant Robert R. Dohson, platoon leader from Charlotte, North Carolina.

After fighting for two days the platoon suffered its first serious casualty when one member was killed in a fire fight.

The way the men themselves size it up is best expressed by one of them, who said, "We all want to get up here at the front. It kind of makes you feel good inside."

311th Regiment
The Negro platoon assigned to G Company of the 311th Regiment also has done well.

Lieutenant Lee Luther, their leader from 199 Elm Street, New York, remarked, "They came through their baptism of fire in great shape. Sure they were scared at first, but who isn't?"

At the end of a week's fighting one had been killed and nine wounded out of the original platoon strength of 43.

Private George Hutchinson, of Brenham, Texas, who had been overseas for 18 months, said, "The Infantry is a heck of a lot better than some of the service outfits we have been in. Here a man's a man. Dangerous as Hades too."

Already they have taken shots at the Germans, killed some, captured some and routed others.

Private First Class Osborne B. Blanton, 1212 Delores Street, Ft. Worth, Texas, recounted, "It was January 8. Boy, I'll never forget that date. This is when they asked for volunteers. First General Eisenhower asked, then General Lee asked, and finally they got around to asking me. I snapped it up in a hurry. There are plenty more who would like to get in that Infantry."

Private Jack (Pop) Walling, from Fortknox, Kentucky, at 38 the "oldest" man in the platoon, said, "All we read is those 88's and that's all of us. But put this down, will you? I was going thru this town and saw a Jerry stick his head out of a window. That as enough for me. I fired a clip at him. That was too much for Jerry."

Most of the men of G Company, fifth platoon, have had from 14 to 24 months' service overseas. All have received the coveted Combat Infantryman Badge and commendation from the regimental commander, Colonel Chester M. Willingham, of 308 E. Temple Street, College Park, Georgia.

Captain George Foelsch, their company commander from 22-61 21st Street, Astoria, Long Island, said, "They're making out all right. I told the colonel if he had any more I'll surely take them."

Private Willie Banerman, from Route 1225, Rogers, North Carolina, is impressed with his company commander. "The Captain Foelsch," he said, "is a tough man but a fair man. He always has a map and a compass in one hand and a pistol in the other. He walks right down the road him. Sort of reminds of Captain Gandy, colored company CO of the 92nd Division."

Among other Negro Infantrymen in the platoon are Pvt. Lee Robinson, 100 N. 18th St., St. Louis, Mo.; Pvt. Warren H. Lyle, 203 Hickory St., Orange, N. J.; Pvt. James Everett, 5521 Swiss Ave., Dallas, Texas; Pvt. Abraham Harris, 1015 Springfield Ave., Baltimore, Md.; Pvt. Richard Scott, 51 Seaton Place, N. W., Washington, D. C.; Pvt. Henry Williams, 2334 Washington Blvd., Chicago, Ill.; Pvt. Jesse Bailey, 630 Fifth St., Birmingham, Ala.; Pvt. George Eddling, 603 Herald Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.; Pfc. Lawrence Jones, 42 6 1-2 St. N., Washington, D. C.

THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE
In response to requests from NAACP correspondents, Dr. Bethune issued the following statement to America:

"The Negro in America has an unprecedented opportunity in the San Francisco parley on World Security to lift his sights to systems of peace and to think in terms with the representatives of forty-six nations, the most effective means of settling national differences, of adjusting all national and international grievances justly and equitably."

This opportunity challenges the Negro not only to broaden his personal viewpoint, but to establish, on a firm basis, the elevation of his own status in America.

Through this Conference, the Negro becomes closely allied with all the darker races of the world, but more importantly he becomes integrated into the structure of the peace and freedom of all people everywhere.

"I am particularly interested in the trend of thought of the darker peoples of the world who are no longer a numerical minority. One of the big questions of the Conference will be how best to set up machinery for the inclusion of all small and depend peoples whose status is undetermined, yet whose voice is needed in clinching a durable peace."

It is heartening and unique that we are, in contrast to the pattern of previous wars, for the design of a lasting peace.

I am sending out a mediative petition for wisdom, guidance, good judgment and courage for all the heads of our great nations who must unite to make the decisions at this historic World Conference."

Getting off to a fast start with a ten minute address from President Truman in Washington paying tribute to President Roosevelt and his far-reaching constructive work for peace, a plan by Secretary of State Stettinius, Jr. the Conference knuckled down to serious business on Thursday.

Among some of the serious questions to be discussed, those of the importance to the darker races are:

(1) The question of Colonial Policy, which deeply affects Africa in its relationship to such European countries as England, France, Portugal, Italy, Holland and Belgium.

(2) The principle of the "equality of peoples," and an end to the racial superiority approach of some nations.

(3) The future of India as a self autonomous nation.

(4) Reconsideration of the principle of "Mandated" areas and the advocacy in some quarters of what is known as "International Trusteeship."

With these questions already in the hopper, it is anticipated that American Negro opinion will weigh heavily in discussions on these questions.

San Francisco and the entire Bay Area have opened doors wide to the consultants, observers and press representatives, and others who are getting the Negro point of view across.

So far, there has been a complete absence of discrimination in the arrangements made by the State Department. Six Negro newspapermen arrived in San Francisco via transcontinental trains which transported over one hundred representatives of the working press.

Negro consultants, observers and Negro press are housed indiscriminately.

And Negroes are expected to play an equal role in making America's participation in the World Security Organization a political reality.

All the world knows that if effective steps are to be taken for the prevention of a 3rd World War, America's participation in the World Security Organization must be assured. It is recognized around the world that the Negro American plays a vital role in helping to shape up American opinion.

One of the encouraging trends, which indicates wide-spread Negro interest are the World Security mass meetings and community conferences which Negro groups are sponsoring through the nation.

The Federal Council of Churches will be represented by Baptist Rev. Horace of Monumental Baptist Church and Rev. J. C. Austin of Pilgrim Baptist Church, both of Chicago, Dr. Mordred Johnson, President of Howard University, also member of church delegation, also unofficial observer.

Overtones of Secretary Stettinius' address in stressing need for United Nations emphasized: "It is a unity which proves that no differences of race, color or creed. History of geography can divide peoples united in a higher community of interest and purpose."

The highlight of Stettinius' remarks which raised the hope of depressed and darker peoples everywhere were these words: "We must always bear in mind, however, that there are at least two conditions essential — the establishment of a world organization which can successfully maintain peace. One of these conditions is that these people, living nations which have the military and industrial strength required to prevent or suppress aggression must agree and act together against aggression. If they do not agree and act together, aggression cannot be prevented or suppressed without a major war. This fact has certainly been spelled out by our experience in this war."

That is why the first step toward establishment of the world organization was to prepare proposals on which the nations sponsoring this conference could agree. That is why — in the structure and powers of the Security Council of the world organization proposed in the Dumbarton Oaks plan, provisions were made for this essential agreement and unity of action by the major nations. Without this, we cannot hope to build an organization which will provide security to all nations, large and small. Without this, we cannot hope to develop enduring institutions in which all free nations may participate on a basis of sovereign equality and in which justice and respect for law will apply to the powerful, as well as to the weak.

The second essential condition of success in our endeavor is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations.

And unity of action by the major nations. Without this, we cannot hope to build an organization which will provide security to all nations, large and small. Without this, we cannot hope to develop enduring institutions in which all free nations may participate on a basis of sovereign equality and in which justice and respect for law will apply to the powerful, as well as to the weak.

The second essential condition of success in our endeavor is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations.

And unity of action by the major nations. Without this, we cannot hope to build an organization which will provide security to all nations, large and small. Without this, we cannot hope to develop enduring institutions in which all free nations may participate on a basis of sovereign equality and in which justice and respect for law will apply to the powerful, as well as to the weak.

The second essential condition of success in our endeavor is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations.

And unity of action by the major nations. Without this, we cannot hope to build an organization which will provide security to all nations, large and small. Without this, we cannot hope to develop enduring institutions in which all free nations may participate on a basis of sovereign equality and in which justice and respect for law will apply to the powerful, as well as to the weak.

The second essential condition of success in our endeavor is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations.

And unity of action by the major nations. Without this, we cannot hope to build an organization which will provide security to all nations, large and small. Without this, we cannot hope to develop enduring institutions in which all free nations may participate on a basis of sovereign equality and in which justice and respect for law will apply to the powerful, as well as to the weak.

The second essential condition of success in our endeavor is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations.

And unity of action by the major nations. Without this, we cannot hope to build an organization which will provide security to all nations, large and small. Without this, we cannot hope to develop enduring institutions in which all free nations may participate on a basis of sovereign equality and in which justice and respect for law will apply to the powerful, as well as to the weak.

The second essential condition of success in our endeavor is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations.

And unity of action by the major nations. Without this, we cannot hope to build an organization which will provide security to all nations, large and small. Without this, we cannot hope to develop enduring institutions in which all free nations may participate on a basis of sovereign equality and in which justice and respect for law will apply to the powerful, as well as to the weak.

The second essential condition of success in our endeavor is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations.

And unity of action by the major nations. Without this, we cannot hope to build an organization which will provide security to all nations, large and small. Without this, we cannot hope to develop enduring institutions in which all free nations may participate on a basis of sovereign equality and in which justice and respect for law will apply to the powerful, as well as to the weak.

The second essential condition of success in our endeavor is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations.

And unity of action by the major nations. Without this, we cannot hope to build an organization which will provide security to all nations, large and small. Without this, we cannot hope to develop enduring institutions in which all free nations may participate on a basis of sovereign equality and in which justice and respect for law will apply to the powerful, as well as to the weak.

Washington High School Seniors of the School Community Health Service Course as they are engaged in Service Activity at the St. Agnes Hospital and the Wake County Health Department.

Rotation of Service Activity enables each student to participate in Community Service two days a week.

Mrs. L. F. Perrin of the Washington School Faculty is School Community Co-ordinator and Special Consultant.

Also shown on pictures are Mrs. Rosa Gaddy, 31 Agnes Hospital and Miss Lula Harris of the Wake County Health Department.

RAYONETS HERD SEABEES TO OVERSEAS SHIP, NAACP TELLS NAVY
34th is being humiliated and punished because of vigorous protest of shabby treatment and discriminatory practices of former Commanding Officer J. P. MacBean, result of MacBean's transfer. We enter vigorous protest against this action. If Navy investigation determined that MacBean should have been transferred from his post, it should be transferred to a new low. This coupled with high percentage of inexperienced replacements presents battalion with tremendous job to maintain high standard of previous overseas service."

What does it cost to produce a pound of lint cotton? Join the State Five-Acre Cotton Contest, keep all costs in a special record book, and you will get the answer.

Back The 7th War Loan
"face and creed and color." While none of the other speakers, particularly Britain's Eden, addressed any specific references to the "equality of races," it was evident in their speeches that consideration was basic to the effectuation of a World Security Organization.

Back The 7th War Loan
The second essential condition of success in our endeavor is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations, large and small, acting with full respect for the equal sovereignty of each to promote justice among nations, to foster respect for basic human rights and to solve these common problems upon which the security and the economic and social advancement of their peoples so largely depend. There can be no end to the tyranny of fear and want unless the proposed world organization commands the allegiance of both the mind and the conscience

Brish Bandit
AS FEATURED IN GLAMOUR

Be-laced beloved!
Nassau Spun Rayon
one piece dress with a set-in waistband and trim of fish-type lace. White only, in sizes 9 to 15.
$10.95

Carol King
DRESSES FOR JUNIORS

Jeans of Raleigh
FIRST in FASHIONS in the CAROLINAS

School-Community Health Week To be Observed May 7 to 14

RALEIGH — Following is a program of activities as planned in the observance of School-Community Health Week, May 7-14.

Monday, Home Room Discussion, How Can High School Students be Influenced to Improve Health Practices?

Tuesday, Health Movie — Noon Hear.

Wednesday, Clean-Up Day. Thursday, "Open House" — 2:45 to 3:30 (To parents and friends).

Friday, 1:00 — Assembly Program — Health Dramatized; 3:00 Tri-track meet, Athletic Field; 2:00 Outdoor Exhibition of Callisthenics.

An invitation is extended to Raleigh parents, patrons and friends to visit the school during the week and observe the work being done by the students and faculty.

Mrs. Emma H. Satterwhite Funeralized

RALEIGH — Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Hunter Satterwhite, of Jacksonville, Fla., a former resident of Raleigh, were held on Tuesday afternoon at the St. Ambrose Episcopal Church here. Burial was in the Mount Hope Cemetery.

She was the wife of the Rev. J. K. Satterwhite, archdeacon of the Florida Diocese of the Episcopal Church, and a former rector at St. Ambrose Episcopal Church here.

She died at her home in Jacksonville, Fla., May 3.

Surviving are her husband; two sons, James K. Satterwhite, Jr., of the U. S. Army, and Hunter Satterwhite, a dental student at Meharry University in Nashville, Tenn.; a sister, Miss Lena Hunter of Raleigh.

Council Gives To Cancer Campaign

RALEIGH — The Wake County Negro Home Demonstration Council donated $11 to the Cancer Control Drive at its quarterly meeting here.

It was announced also that 525 pounds of clothing had been contributed to the Wake County Clothing Collection by the various clubs composing the council.

Reports on progress to goals set up in January were made, and seven clubs reported their activities in connection with the three-month old "Clean Up Campaign." It was announced that two women are participating in dress revue which will be held on "Achievement Day" this fall.

Each club will hold a "Husband's Night" in the near future.

Twenty-seven members, representing 12 clubs, attended the council meeting, which was held in the SoJourneyer Truth "Y" Room.

Truck Driver Acquitted of Manslaughter

GREENVILLE — A jury in Superior Court last week acquitted Edward Vance Belcher, truck driver of Wilson of a charge of manslaughter in the death of J. C. Kelis, white oil tanker driver of Wilmington, following a collision between the two vehicles last August.

Evidence showed Belcher's truck, loaded with 1 hogheads of tobacco and the tanker, carrying 3,700 gallons of fuel oil, collided at an intersection on the highway in Belcher. The tanker swerved and crashed into a service station.

Escaping oil from the tanker ignited and spurted flames upward for about 100 feet. Kelis was burned to death in the cab.

Raleigh Schools Plan Music Week Program

RALEIGH — The Negro schools and colleges here will participate in the local observance of National Music Week during the week of May 7.

Shaw University will present a musical program on Monday night, May 7, and St. Augustine's College will present a musical program in the chapel period Wednesday morning, May 9.

A city-wide spring festival of Negro schools will be given as a "Musical Week feature" at Memorial Auditorium on the evening of May 17.

Mrs. Alexandre Vesper Speaker at Shaw U.

RALEIGH — Mrs. Eugene Alexandre of Charlotte, will be the guest speaker at Shaw vespers Sunday, May 8th, when the Alpha Zeta Sigma chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority will conclude its annual May Week celebration. Mrs. Alexandre, who is the wife of Dr. J. Eugene Alexandre, practicing physician of Charlotte, is the national president of the Women's Auxiliary to the National Medical Association and a member of the Charlotte chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority. She was formerly head of the Home Economics department of Second Ward High School.

HONORABLE COBB TO ADDRESS VANCE COUNTY NAACP

HENDERSON — Honorable J. A. Cobb, former judge of municipal court of the District of Columbia will address the Vance County Branch of the NAACP Sunday, May 6, 1945 at three thirty o'clock at the United Presbyterian Church, Henderson. President Arthur Poole thinks that the meeting will be the greatest of its kind in the history of the Association.

CALLING ALL PARENTS TO VISIT OUR MISS RALEIGH SHOP

A Complete Children's Store

On the Mezzanine Floor

Summer Gladness in every nook and corner of this popular Children's Shop—Bring the Kiddies and their big sisters—and outfit them from our ample stocks of Summer Wearables.

On the Mezzanine Floor

Summer Gladness in every nook and corner of this popular Children's Shop—Bring the Kiddies and their big sisters—and outfit them from our ample stocks of Summer Wearables.

For Little Tots To Teenage Youngsters

Everything that's needed to make School Days or Play days more pleasant and Happy.

COTTON FRABICS

200 NEW DRESSES

Just unpacked and ready to make some Youngster "Jump for Joy"—cute and pretty styles in all ranges and sizes.

$1.94 to $5.80

SUN SUITS
SIZES 2 to 6 1.94

PLAY SUITS
SIZES 7 to 14 3.98

WHITE LEATHERETTE BAGS 97c

COTTON BLOUSES
HAMBURG TRIM 7 to 14 2.91

PLEATED SKIRTS
POPLIN and GABERDINE 7 to 14 2.91

97c

Margaret O'Brien JEWELRY
Pins, Bracelets, Necklaces in attractive designs.

97c

MOTHER DAUGHTER FASHIONS
Insurance Building

All the extra closet space you need in SHELF-KING WARDROBE by STOR-AID

$6.98
28" high
29" wide
21" deep

GIVE HIS CLOTHES...AND YOURS...A BREAK!

The exclusive Stor-Aid features—simple construction, swinging hinged doors, onyx plastic fittings, Stor-O-Cide cedar fragrance, additional width and height, sturdier construction—strong wood reinforcement, three-ply, wood grained fibreboard. PLUS a hat shelf, two tie racks, removable folding utility shelves at the bottom, moulded crown-piece, four legs on sliding domes, six hinges. Shelf-King Storage Wardrobe has everything including the answer to your closet-space problems...at phenomenally low price! Mail and telephone orders filled.

RHODES COLLINS Furniture Co.
COMPLETE HOME FURNISHES

301 S. WILMINGTON ST.