

GETS CONFESSION IN GORDON CASE

Los Angeles (ANP) — In an action that surprised his two white attorneys last week, Wullen J. Appleby, jailed suspect in the Gordon murder case, confessed to police that he murdered Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Gordon Sr. in their bathtub at their home, P.O. 10.

They had asked for more time to prepare an adequate defense. Deputy District Atty. Adolph Alexander is the prosecutor. This confession marked the first time that Appleby had said anything since he was arrested several weeks ago on a call from his wife to police. His sister in Pikeville, Ky., had hired the two new attorneys for him. The public defender had been scheduled to take his case.

HOTEL'S POLICY LEADS TO SHIFT OF CONVENTION

Louisville, Ky. (ANP) — The Kentucky Public Health association opened business sessions of its first three-day convention in the city at Western Memorial Presbyterian church here Wednesday, all because of a discriminatory policy against Negro members by the Brown hotel, just across the street. The association was originally scheduled to meet in the hotel, but changed its plans when it learned hotel rules required Negro members to use a service elevator to reach the meeting.

The change was made by Dr. Bruce Underwood, state health commissioner who arranged the convention because "I want the sessions open without restriction to all Kentucky public health workers."

The hotel's position, as given by William Bennett, assistant manager, was that "we do not take Negroes as guests and we feel that this consideration is due those who have as guests."

The association's banquet Thursday evening, March 24, will be held at the hotel as originally planned.
