THE POETS SPEAK
By John Henrik Clarke for ANP

YOU came after my heart had been broken
So completely it could never mend,
And I had sworn to the Gods of Romance
Never to love again.

I had been faithful to a previous one,
Who crushed my heart, for the sake of fun;
When you came and offered true love,
I had not the strength to respond.

So go away and let me be
And behind you close the gate
I could have loved you passionately—

Only you came too late.

THE EXPANSION OF THE PHYSICAL PLANT

Dr. W. E. Durante, the first Negro to make a transcontinental flight across the United States, plans to become the first Negro to make a round-the-world airplane flight he announced last week.

He plans to make this flight through his own initiative without benefit of any commercial promoters.

Allen, of the age of 25, first beat the headlines in 1932 when he flew to Valley Stream, Long Island on Oct. 9 in an Eagle Rock monoplane from the old Dyer airporthege. On his new trip he plans to drop off letters from the United States to people of other nations.

Dr. Lanier Tells Grads Of Need To Organize Race

LANGSTON, Okla. (AP)—Dr.

Oscar Lanier, president of Texas State University, warned the graduating class of Langston university here Tuesday that we are moving into an era that may have us unless Negroes effect better internal organization.

Challenging that "majority of Negroes are unorganized," he advised that Negroes have not learned to pay the cost of organization.

Using as his subject "Some misconceptions and Misuses of Education," he built his address around the idea that people who have received educational opportunities must not isolate themselves from the great mass of people. Accordingly, "they must sit together because the problems of the masses are the problems of the intellects."

Contending that the majority of people with whom we are identified are poor, that the great majority of our people are unskilled, and that the majority of Negroes are unorganized, Dr. Lanier warned that "if we do not teach democratic principles to living, the problem will leave us." And finally he indicated that we are moving into the great area of human relations.

The graduating class included 67 candidates who received bachelor's degrees and 27 certificates in other fields.

Individual honors awarded were follows:

Summa Cum Laude: Samuel Byrd, Eugene Clegg, Claude Clegg, Bertha Clegg, Isabel L. Graham, George Ray Johnson, Clarence W. Jones, Cum Laude: Josephine Blackwell, Alvin H. Brown, Gladys Elmore, Hubert Hutchinson, Tommie Jackson, Elizabeth Anne McCurdy, Elizabeth L. Mac, Mayhew Sheppard, Fred Moore, and Lucille Starks.

Prof. Eugene J. Brown, head of the art department, was honored student for helping them during the year. They are Miss Margarette Beeson, Mrs. Estelle Price, Mrs. Harrison, A. Sanders, in public schools, and L. Thompson in the band music. We have enjoyed them very much.

The eighth grade entertained the ninth grade last week.

The members of the Oberlin School band will give a program on Saturday morning, June 10. Our art exhibit was held on Thursday, June 2nd.

Our new auditorium, containing about 400 seats, during the summer months are usually caused by the lack of development, feed tends to encourage insects coming in from the field.
