G. music was furnished by the choir from the Faith Tabernacle Church of Kingston and Mt. Zion Holy Church of Wilson.

Burial followed in the Elm Wood Cemetery. Between 2000 and 3000 people attended the funeral.

WIFE DENIES

G. Anderson, St. Paul, Minn., told police that his wife had slashed the throat of the barber who was also attacked at the time of the murder and robbery. Although police found a woman's muddy footprints on the scene, Mrs. Medlin denied complicity.

PRISONERS FLEE

The escaped prisoners, six of whom have been recaptured, were: Alex Brown, 23; Wortham Miller, 25; Marion Fox, 30; Herman Hayes, 33; John Ray, 22; William Bryant, 37; Buster Burgess, 47; Anthony Stone, 24; and Ernest Green, 47.

YORK HOMES

and Negro members of the Raleigh Citizens Association and East Raleigh Civic Forum.

Aligned against them were residents of Longview Gardens and their attorney, Howard E. Manning, who based their original objection on claims that a rental project would reduce property values in the Longview development.

PETITION PRESENTED

E. L. Raiford, president of the Raleigh Citizens Association, presented the planning commission with a resolution adopted by his organization and signed by more than 200 Negro residents of the city.

This resolution called attention to the inadequacy of the city's Negro housing supply, endorsed the plan for construction of the York project and urged the Planning Commission to take favorable action.

Mr. Raiford was followed by the Rev. E. C. Lawrence, pastor of the First Congregational Church, who charged that the fewer houses now available for Negro tenancy than there were ten years ago.

Other speakers who urged approval for the project were the Rev. T. C. Hamans, pastor of the Manley St. Christian Church, Dr. Harold L. Trigg, president of St. Augustine's College which is in the vicinity of the proposed project, the Rev. S. C. Doby, president of the East Raleigh Civic Forum, S. W. Slade, Dr. A. E. Weathersford and W. L. Green.

ATTORNEY HEARD

Attorney Foyner then assured the Planning Committee members and Longview residents that there is no basis whatsoever to rumors that have been started to the effect that the use of sneaky materials is planned in the project or that it will be permitted to deteriorate following construction.

Attorney Manning then took the floor to deliver a lengthy speech in which he denied any opposition to the project on racial grounds, but charged that the Planning Commission had a responsibility in the matter since it zoned the area for the type of construction which now exists in the Longview section.

The present residents of the section, he declared, were not in Raleigh at the time that the zoning took place, but had been away in service and, upon their return, had invested their savings in homes in the section.

"They are here," he declared, "and you can see them," whereupon he pointed to the rear of the room in which sat more than a half-dozen men clad in Army uniforms.

OFFERS CHANGE

At this point Mr. York requested permission to take the floor, stating that he felt that it might be possible to have a "whirl" of time on this discussion.

The builder stated that he had proposed the 275-unit rental project because he felt that it could do most toward alleviating the housing need of colored citizens of Raleigh.

He pointed out, however, that in the light of the Longview residents' objection to having rental property adjacent to their homes, he would be willing to construct homes for sale.

He then presented the committee chairman with a map upon which plans were indicated for subdivision of the disputed area for the construction of "single-family detached homes, built to the same minimum standards as those in Longview Gardens."

Following brief presentations by several members of the Longview group, the committee chairman stated that the committee would take action on the proposal at its next meeting after it had had an opportunity to study the alternate proposal.

ST. LOUIS POLICE

instrument's answer reads: "The Board of Police Commissioners will give careful study and review to the entire report in detail of the St. Louis Council of Human Relations. As soon as the members of the board and the chief of police have had an opportunity to study them, constructive action will be taken on the recommendations of the report."

Another outgrowth of the Fairgrounds came to New York last week when the Board of Education announced that Dr. T. Thomas Fortune Fletcher, head of the People's Movement in Ethiopia, had refused a job paying $4,200 a year to become an assistant professor at Stowe Teachers college because of the fair.

Dr. Fletcher commented in his letter of rejection:

"I should certainly hate to exchange the complete freedom and high honors I enjoy here in a non-egalitarian society for the second class citizenship of democratic St. Louis."

ST. AUG.

Miss, a graduate of Hampton Institute, as Business Manager. Wilber W. Johnson, M. S., Michigan University, Instructor in Biology, Miss Romaine A. Simmons, Mrs. E. Howard University, Director of Choral Music, Mrs. Irene Long Dickens, B. A., Shaw University, as Dean of Women.

This registration for the fall term is well beyond any previous mark. It is expected that the limit of 500 will make it necessary to place many applicants on the waiting list. A new building to be used exclusively for the Sciences will be completed in early 1950. This will contribute greatly toward the success of the institution in preparing pre-medical students.

FIRST LIBERIAN

following students were graduated from the nursing school:

Mabel E. Grigsby, Adeline L. Clarke, Melda L. Cooper, Martha E. Harris, Marion C. Major, and Letitia Scott. The Rev. Joseph J. Mendis Cole, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Monrovia, delivered the baccalaureate sermon. Mrs. Gladys Perry Henry, concert pianist from Chicago, was guest artist in a recital which raised $3,923 for the recently established children's ward. Prof. Joseph Kovat, violinist, and other artists with the assistance of the Liberian also contributed their talents.

The school of nursing is run by the government hospital, Carrie V. Dyer hospital, and the U. S. Public Health Mission in Liberia. Physicians of Monrovia, registered nurses and Maj. Mary Mills, director of nursing of the U. S. Public Health service here.

BURNED MOTHER'S RECOVERY CALLED MEDICAL MIRACLE

SOUTHERN PINES - Seven months ago a young mother ran screaming from her home in West Southern Pines with a flaming night gown which had caught fire from a small heater turning her body into a human torch.

The young mother was Mrs. Christine Lloyd, and by the time that the flames were finally extinguished, she had suffered third degree burns over more than two-thirds of her body.

At the Moore County Hospital where she was taken for treatment, medical and nursing personnel at first shook their heads, for it was rarely that a person burned nearly so severely as Mrs. Lloyd was given any chance of survival. The flaming nightgown had burned her skin off in the back from shoulder blades to knees, and from her neck to thighs. Both hands and arms were also horribly burned.

Despite the severity of her injuries, Mrs. Lloyd showed an incredible will to live and a cheerfulness which soon won the entire hospital staff to her support.

The medical and surgical treatment which she received was 100 per cent involved and expensive. The doctors who treated her drew from all of the lessons which had been taught their profession as the result of disasters such as Boston's Coconut Grove fire, the war and other holocausts.

After more than 22 transfusions in an equal number of skin grafts and other types of treatments which would require pages in the telling story, Mrs. Lloyd went home to her family last week.

Personnel at the Moore County Hospital are calling her recovery "The Miracle of Christine". Without her own indomitable will to live, medical science could have done little. As a result, she returned to her husband, Isaac, 21, and her two babies, Sherlene, 2, and Isaac, Jr., nine months.

NAPE TO MEET IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo. (ANP) - The National Alliance of Postal Employees will hold its 14th Biennial convention Aug. 15-19 in Kansas City.

The leading topic of discussion will be the president's loyalty board and its actions which the NAPE claims is being used to discharge members of minority groups working for the post office department.

Mrs. Anne Arnold Hedgeman, administrative assistant to the federal security administrator, will be the main speaker at a public meeting Aug. 15 in the Kansas City Municipal auditorium.

Others scheduled to speak are Rep. William L. Dawson, Postmaster General Donaldson, and Second Asst. Postmaster General Paul Aiken.

The NAPE was founded in 1913. A total for 162 delegates representing 36 branches and 20,000 postal workers from 34 states are expected at this meeting.

Speaking against the President's loyalty order, NAPE President Ashby B. Carter of Chicago said:

"President Truman must have the abuse of his loyalty order brought directly to his attention. The suspension of the Negro postal employees in Cleveland coupled with similar suspensions in Philadelphia, Chicago, Kansas City and Seattle places added emphasis on the challenge to all freedom loving Americans to recognize and com-

MEDICAL SCIENCE MIRACLE - Mrs. Christine Lloyd of Southern Pines is home again after undergoing 22 blood transfusions at the Moore County Hospital. Mrs. Moore suffered third degree burns on January 13 over approximately 70 percent of her body and was not given a chance to survive. However, through her own dauntless will to live, and good hospital care, she is able to be at home again with her husband and two children. (Photo courtesy of Raleigh News and Observer.)

TEACHER GIVEN BRITISH TRIP

GARY, Ind. (ANP) - For the second time, the city of Gary and Roosevelt High School have the distinction of sending a Negro teacher to England to teach under an exchange plan between England and the United States. Last week Miss Mabel Haywood, science teacher at Roosevelt, arrived in London with 53 white teachers in her party.
