

Also misplaced were these youngsters—children of some 70 refugees from a North Korean fishing village—who grin with delight as they face their first meal in many days. Crew members aboard the destroyer USS Cunningham, such as D. H. Bartley, engine room first class, USN, of Fort Wayne, Ind., were pressed into service to pass out huge portions of steaming rice and scrambled eggs to some very grateful customers. Christmas Belongs To The Christ Child

THIS CHILD was not only new. He was new! Only, instead of newboys shouting it on the street corners, angels sang it in the skies. It was the front page of the Gospel—and that word "Gospel" is the sturdy old Saxon way of saying "Good News."

His Birthday was the best news, the greatest headline of history. But when the story broke, like most "Extras" it took the town completely by surprise.

But why must this same blunder happen every Christmas? This Christmas? Why must some of us go on making Bethlehem's mistake all over again?

WHEN THE ALMIGHTY took the first Christmas Star and pointed with it to the Child in the Crib, He was teaching people the lesson of every Christmas to come.

Things would change of course. Things have changed. This Christmas the heavens do not echo the carols of shining spirits. Instead, thanks to the radio, the heavens will ring with the carols of men. Shepherds will not stand ankle-deep in the straw of a stable, but chauffeurs and engineers and nurses and housewives will kneel in orderly pews. You see everything has changed—the only thing left of the original Christmas is Christ.

AND CHRIST is not a thing. He is a Person! So the bright beam of the Christmas Star must focus on that one person, not on many things. Don't spend too much time wondering whether those slip-pers you are sending Aunt Harriet are quite big enough—or are they too big and will she feel insulted? Or wondering just what toys you can give to Junior which will delight him and at the same time not disturb you.

Trouble with this sort of thing is that they are only things, and the little Christ Child somehow gets lost in the red ribbons and the crinkly holiday wrappings.

After all it is His Birthday, isn't it? Give Him a thought! Give Him your chief thought! Wouldn't the Shepherds have been amazed if someone had suggested that they turn their backs on the Crib, bow courteously to one another, and give each other gifts? They would have said, "What about Him? This is His day!"

IT IS STILL His day. At least when we give our presents, we give them in His name, in His spirit. Then we shall not be tying up perfume or gloves or neckties or fountain pens, but tenderness, thoughtfulness, love, and gratitude—gratitude to the God Who became one of us. Gratitude for humanity's most thrilling hour, the highest compliment mankind ever received. God joins the human race!

This is Christmas! The rest is mostly crepe paper. He lies there in the Little Crib, and there I lay my heart.—(by Rev. Joseph Manton)

Orange County News and Views

EFFLAND — We have been held back two years by the way the election has gone. We had planned to have three white men elected for Justice of the Peace and one white man elected for Township in North Carolina.

Mr. Lindsay Faucette of Durham celebrated his ninety-eighth birthday November 16.

Mr. Thomas Chury and Miss A. Rex Cobb, both of Morrow-Green Public School community will get married December 23rd in the Methodist Church here and they plan to live with Mrs. Cobb's folks for a while after a brief honeymoon. These are two of our best young folks and we wish them a long and happy married life.

William Ed Faucette who has been very sick at the home of his daughter and her husband, Reverend James Woods, was resting much better at last report. Plans are afoot to extend Rural Route No. 1 from Mebane to Effland and north to Bill Dorsett's store and west by Jesse L. Poole's farm and up the old Hillsboro, Orange County Home to Mebane, by William Fuller's farm and the road by Walter Richmond's farm to be graded and black topped and Route 1 from Effland will be paved for this route soon after the New Year. Walter Richmond has to go over 2 miles every day to get his mail at present.

And Mr. James L. Martin and wife have put a name plate on their mail box.

We have been canvassing very hard recently putting out sample copies of the CAROLINIAN so that our friends will get their news published. Many of our white papers will not publish our news because they tell me that they have more news than they can get in each week.

We have the promise of over one hundred subscriptions in Orange and many in Mebane and Albemarle County. And there have been many new mail boxes bought and put upon these two routes.

Plans are afoot to incorporate the Occochee Golden Rule City, with its center near the Open Bill Store and Service Station and the Midway Lumber plant across the Road from the Store. And at the recent National Convention the Golden Rule Christian Turn-pence and American Party endorsed ex-President Herbert C. Hoover, for Vice President and William Henry Jordan, for President in the 1956 Election. These two good men plan to save the remnants from the two wild candidates and try to start anew to save for our nation. Mr. Hoover was the best President we have ever had and Governor W. Kerr has been the best Governor our State has ever had and we hope to see him elected United Senator in 1954. Mr. Scott believes in giving all the folks a square deal and after resting up a while at his Hwy River farms we may expect him to join in establishing a State and National week. There are many big changes that will have to be made.

Little Miss Marion Ramona White spent last week with her grandparents in Mount Olive, N. C.

BRIDE AND GROOM IN HAPPY MOOD — The cameraman caught the bride, Nurse Lily L. Haywood of Raleigh, exchanging smiles with the groom, Corporal William Flowers, who is currently stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C. and who is a member of the Ninth Chemical Company.

With the pastor, Reverend O. S. Euluck officiating they were married at the First Baptist Church in Raleigh, N. C. on Sunday, November 30, following the morning service.
