Gaston Credit Union Leads State Southport Elects 1st Negro Constable

Roscoe Davis Wins Office As Democrat

SOUTHPORT—This boom town-to-be has elected a Negro constable.

Last November, white and colored friends of Roscoe Davis, called "the most popular man in town," urged him to run for constable of the Township of Smithville, which includes the 1,400 inhabitants of Southport as well as other territory. Davis is a Democrat.

The citizens did not want the red. But they needed a good man white Republican candidate else to give him a good fight. Davis was the man, and he gave a good fight. Davis was white man, and he gave a good fight, he polled two-thirds of all of the votes cast. Negroes voted in large numbers. Whites said they could have carried the election one way or the other.

Davis became popular in this historic town because of his wide and friendly contact with people. Not only does he operate his own grocery store, but he is employed by one of the leading white grocers. Everyone seems to like him. And he had a good Negro civic organization to back him.

Southport, Davis' home, is likely to become a thriving and booming town due to the proposed ammunition depot which the Government plans to erect nearby.

Though no effort seems to have been made to keep the story of Davis' election under wraps, no effort was made to tell the world of the happening. The news seems to be just leaking out, though the election was held over a month ago.

Davis, who lives on Atlantic avenue, says he is enjoying his work. He proudly wears his constable badge and carries a gun and blackjack. He reports full cooperation from all citizens.

The Excelsior Credit Union was organized in 1942, and with the ending of its 10th year, one out of every five Negroes in Gaston County is a member of this successful financial organization which has raised the level of living of the Negro, not only in Gaston, but also throughout the county. This saving and loan institution has established credit standing for Negroes in the community in a way that could not have been done through any other medium.

The organization has encouraged and made provisions for every family in the county to save regularly some of its income, and in return the organization has been of financial assistance in building churches, in building homes, in repairing of homes, in purchasing farms, financing school bills, hospital bills, doctor bills, retiring mortgages, furnishing money for setting up new married families and also money for getting divorces.

The Excelsior Credit Union also operates Christmas Savings Clubs. During the first week in December, $30,294 in checks was mailed to members of Christmas Savings Clubs for 1952. Clubs of 25c, 50c, $1, $2, $3, $5 and $10 have already been established for 1953. Practically every family in the community is learning thrift through the Christmas Savings Club Plan. The

Business League Names 10 As Regional Vice-preses

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The National Negro Business League this week announced the appointments of ten regional vice-presidents who are charged with the promotion of the league's nationwide accelerated program.

The appointments were publicized by W. Burdette Hockaday, NNBL executive secretary, on behalf of Cincinnati businessman Horace Sadduth, who is president of the 52 year old business organization.

For the region embracing North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, George Cox, Sr. insurance executive, Durham, N. C. was named vice-president. Mr. Cox is also first vice president for the NNBL.

The vice president for region 2 is Rufus G. Byars, public relations director for the District Theater with headquarters in Washington, D. C. This region includes Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire form region 3 which is headed by Vice-president J. S. Benn, Philadelphia minister and NNBL chaplain.

Dr. Samuel A. Totty, Baton Rouge is vice president for region 4 which includes the states of Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

C. A. Rawls, Brownsville, Tex., funeral director and insurance executive, was assigned to region 5 covering Tennessee, Arkansas and Kentucky.

Indiana, Michigan and Ohio will be directed by George Berry, Columbus, Ohio real estate man, while the seventh region is headed by Dr. J. E. Hurt of St. Louis, Mo. The latter region is comprised of Missouri, Kansas, Wyoming, Nebraska, Colorado, North and South Dakota.

The appointment for Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona, Utah and New Mexico, went to the youthful executive of the Houston Negro Chamber of Commerce, Roscoe Cavitt. The far western states of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada fall in the region headed by George Beavers, Los Angeles insurance executive.

Kit Baldwin, Chicago ice cream manufacturer, heads the 10th region which is formed by the states of Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Because of high yields, Canada produced an unexpectedly large crop of cured tobacco in 1952. With total production figured at 127.5 million pounds, the country has a surplus of about 50 million pounds for export.

Milk production this fall has declined less than seasonally. Mild fall weather helped keep output up. However, farmers have had to feed more concentrates than usual because of the short roughage

Fear Full-Scale Revolt Is In The Making In Africa

By JULIUS J. ADAMS
NEW YORK (Global) — James R. Lawson, Global's UN correspondent who returned from Africa recently, pessimistically expressed fear that a full scale revolt against the French in the North African Colonies is imminent unless quick and positive action is taken by the United Nations.

Trouble which had been brewing across North Africa for many months, broke out in uncontrollable fury two weeks ago with the ambush slaying of Forhat Hached, popular labor leader and staunch Tunisian Nationalist.

Conditions were worsened last week with the slaying of two Moroccans as the French moved swiftly to check the terrorism before the situation is blown into another world not spot similar to that in Korea.

Lawson, who had met Hached on two occasions in the United States, once in New York and again in Washington where the Tunisian was guest at a dinner given in his honor by U. S. labor officials from CIO and AF of L, and other groups, said:

"It was during a luncheon in New York that I began to know the real Hached, the fighting labor leader who was battling for the freedom of Tunisia, Morocco and Algeria, and all of Africa — but he believed this freedom could be achieved only by first organizing the workers."

Hached, who was violently anti-Communist, was leader of over 150,000 Tunisian workers and was regarded as one of the most powerful men in North Africa. Mr. Lawson said he discovered this back in October when he visited Hached in Tunis.

"I had arrived in Tunisia from Rome on October 13," Mr. Lawson said in recalling the visit, "when I learned that Hached was at the Capital addressing a meeting, pressing his demand for the independence of his country. Through a mutual friend, I reached him and a conference was set for the following day. It was on that day when a drug store I had entered was blasted to bits by a bomb minutes after I had left."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — When Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity's 38th anniversary Conclave, meeting in Richmond, Va., Dec. 27th - 30th, is called to order by its national president, Dr. Felix J. Brown of Richmond, fully one thousand delegates and visiting brothers are expected to attend, according to C. L. Townes, Sr., General Chairman of the Conclave.

Following the theme of the conclave, "Full Democracy — Nothing Less," the fraternity is having as its principal speaker Dr. C. V. Truup, president of Fort Valley State College, Fort Valley, Ga. Distinguished scholar and writer, Dr. Truup is also editor of the Crescent, the fraternity's celebrated magazine. He has contributed numerous articles and poems which have appeared in many magazines and anthologies. Having received his undergraduate degree from Morris Brown College, Dr. Truup later took his master's and doctorate's from Atlanta University and from Ohio State, respectively.

Representing some 100 chapters, Sigma men will come from every section of the United States and from West Africa and other sections of the world.

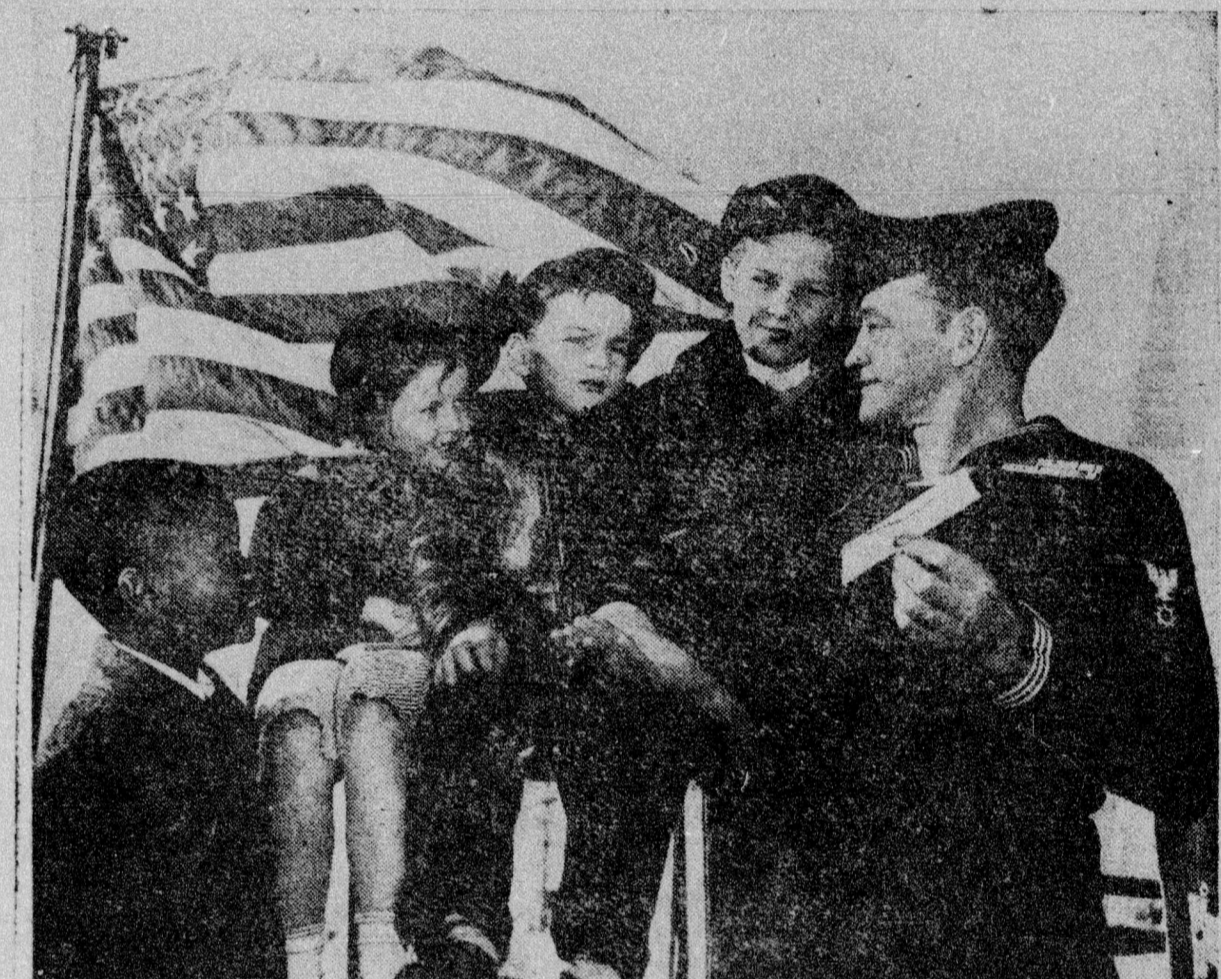

Headquarters for the conclave have been provided for at the new George Washington Carver High School, 1110 West Leigh Street and at Slaughter's Hotel.

ISRAELI PLIGHT IS DISCUSSED IN CRISIS MAG

BALTIMORE, Md. — Neither a solution nor even an attitude toward the Arab problem in Israel seems to have crystallized, Dr. Irene Diggs, Morgan State College professor, writes in the current issue of Crisis Magazine.

Dr. Diggs, who is a member of the Morgan sociology department spent some time in Israel last year.

She writes that there is a tremendous difference in the standard of living between Jew and Arab in Israel. An attempt is being made, however, to make Arabs full legal citizens without discrimination, she writes.

US Delegation To General Assembly Represented On Issue By Mrs. E. Sampson

STATEMENT BY THE HONORABLE MRS. EDITH SAMPSON, UNITED STATES ALTERNATE REPRESENTATIVE IN PLENARY SESSION ON THE ITEM PROPOSED BY FRANCE: USE OF THE CITATION "DIED FOR THE UNITED NATIONS" IN RESPECT TO PERSONS WHO, IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES, ARE KILLED IN THE SERVICE OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

Mr. President: It is with reverence that I speak on behalf of the United States, supporting the resolution presented to this Assembly by the Delegation of France. It is indeed fitting that tribute to those who have died for the United Nations should be proposed by the great French Republic, whose traditions of liberty and human progress are renowned throughout the world.

The resolution now before us would confer a mark of honor on those who have lost their lives in the cause of the United Nations and in the cause of peace. In thinking of this proposal, our minds and hearts turn to Korea. It was there that the United Nations met the challenge of aggression in the first collective action in history by an international organization.

The Republic of Korea is the child of the United Nations. This organization gave it life. When that Republic was walled only attacked by communist force, bent on crushing out the beginnings of liberty with the iron heel of totalitarianism, the United Nations had to make a decision. Would it resist? Or would it yield to the plans of those who had calculated on easy conquest?

The answer has been impressive. Fifty-three states joined in the decision to defend the Republic of Korea. Under resolutions of the Security Council and the General Assembly sixteen members of the United Nations have sent units of their armed forces to repel the attack in Korea. The aggression was turned back, and it has been made clear to the aggressors that armed force shall not be used, save in the common interest.

The cost has been heavy. In adopting the resolution proposed
