SEEK ATTACKER

CHARLOTTE — Thirty men were questioned here over the weekend as an outgrowth of a complaint registered by a Greenville, S. C. woman. She had been attacked in a wooded area east of Matthews on U. S. Highway 74.

INTEGRATE PATIENTS

ASHEVILLE — Phillip L. Collins, manager of the Veterans Hospital at Ocean, denied this week that any friction had grown out of the federal government's firm stand of no segregation on Army outpatient posts.

TWO AT RECREATION MEET

DURHAM — Two men were outstanding at the State Recreation Commission in Durham this week. They were Dr. A. E. Weatherford of N. C. College of Durham and W. J. Kennedy Jr. Both have served with state and commission for several years.

WAKE FERS HOLD MEET

RALEIGH — Some 4,000 4-Hers heard an address delivered by Dr. Charles H. Corbett during Wake County's annual 4-H day this week in Memorial Auditorium. W. C. Davenport is the local agent.

Race Doctor

Nashville Look says: While in medical school, he delivered newspapers to help support his wife and children. "It was good preparation for the night calls to come," Look adds.

Politicos

turn the South Carolina schools to private owners if such became necessary from a ruling of Federal courts.

Few of the governors permitted direct quotations of their views, although it is generally understood that all are opposed to elimination of separate schools.

A one of the meetings with some representatives of the Southern Regional Council, some of the governors are said to have insisted that increased appropriations be made available to send Negroes away from the South to discourage their enrolling at southern graduate and professional schools in this region.

Drunk Driver

State search of the lake but found no bodies. They became suspicious when Mitchell changed his story several times, once saying that the women were hitchhikers and again saying one was a woman he planned to marry. Another Negro, A. V. McAllister told police he was with Mitchell about fifteen minutes before the accident and that there was no one with him when he left Four Oaks at that time.

When McAllister's mother was contacted, she told police that her son seemed to have hallucinations when he's drinking. The search for the missing bodies was immediately abandoned, but McAllister was indicted on charges of drunken driving.

N. C. MUTUAL

National Urban League, teachers associations and fraternal and religious groups—thus making such active groups aware of the economic importance of the insurance businesses to Negroes. He summed up his theories with these words:

"The whole principle which I am recommending is the principal of 'Collective Security.' To support this principle the 60 odd members of the Association should work through the national office with the combined power and strength of all member companies rather than go alone and so restrict or limit the power, influence and functions of our national group. My personal philosophy for success is: 'No one person working alone can very well succeed but several or many people working in complete harmony and with understanding can achieve any results or heights.'

North Carolina Mutual leads all Negro firms in insurance in force with a total of $179,166,802, ranking 16th among all insurance companies in the nation. Atlanta Life rating 1952, has $143,473,221 in force. It rates 8th in individual value with assets of $910,737, followed by:

Supreme Liberty, $2,634,857; Universal Life, $2,401,646; Afro-American, $1,413,432; Golden State Mutual, $89,191; Mammoth Life, $826,634; Pilgrim HL, $134,134; Victoria Mutual, $175,733; Domestic Life, $810,536; Great Lakes, $757,452.

25 Churches

Open through Sunday, November 21.

Funerals will be served each day and other refreshments will be available at a minimum cost.

Many interesting features are again offered this year. Discussions on controversial scriptural passages will highlight the opening session after the introductory service by the Rev. R. L. Crowell.

The local program of welcome will be led by members of the host church with the principal of Zion Wall School, Mr. James Hawkins, the president of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, the Rev. W. S. Henderson and others appearing on the program.

Miss Maggie Williams will officially welcome the delegation on behalf of the church. The Annual Sermon will be delivered by the Rev. J. M. Jackson of Southern Pines, North Carolina.

Conference activities will occupy most of Friday's session. In the afternoon at 2:30 the Rev. G. D. McNeil, Sr., will preach the memorial sermon honoring the deceased ministers. Rev. McNeil, Sr. is the annual missionary. The General Missionary of the Northern District, Rev. J. C. Smith will deliver the message on Friday night with the Pleasant Grove Choir furnishing music.

Saturday's session will feature an address by Vice Moderator, Rev. J. D. Ray on the subject, "Why We Are Free Will Baptists." Committee reports will be received, officers elected, and the place of the next meeting set. Conference workers will also make their individual reports. The Saturday afternoon session will be in charge of the Ministers' Wives and Christian Workers' Club. Rev. W. J. Council of Deputies will deliver the evening message. Music will be furnished by Antioch Choir.

Sunday School, Ordination Services, and regular worship will comprise the morning session Sunday. The Moderator, the Rev. W. F. Cox of Durham, N. C. will deliver the morning sermon. Fields of Labor will then be assigned.

The Afternoon and Final Sermon will be delivered by the Vice Moderator and Secretary.

Moderator, The Rev. J. D. Ray, Southern Pines, N. C. Dunn Chapel Choir will furnish the music.

Officers of the Capo Fear Conference in addition to those mentioned are: Rev. G. D. McNeil, Jr. Secretary, Rev. A. M. Minter, Assistant Secretary; Rev. G. E. Elliott, Treasurer; Rev. C. D. Smith Chairman of Board. The Rt. Rev. Friend E. M. Hill of Kinston, N. C. is General Moderator of the United Free Will Baptist Church and will make the appeal for support of the Educational Program and for Kinston College in particular. The public is invited to attend.

Teachers Confab

12 noon was held under the auspices of the Primary and Grammar Teachers at East End Auditorium. Participants included: Miss Hazel McElroy, Miss N. Wright, Mrs. S. J. Pickett, Dr. L. Thomas Hopkins of Teachers College, Columbia University, N. Y. and Mrs. M. N. LeRoi. Music groups from Jones and Greenleaf Elementary Schools participated.

Mrs. Ann McAden Johnson of the North Carolina College Library School, was the principal speaker at the Librarian's session at Dillard High School. Mrs. Cora Paul Boman and Mrs. A. B. Bryant were panel consultants.

In the Guidance section, R. D. Russell, chief counselor, NCC, Durham, was the featured speaker at Dillard High School. Mrs. M. D. Gandy of Wilmington extended greetings and Mr. Russell was introduced by Jimmie Barber.

Dr. C. E. Bowline of NCC was the principal speaker and consultant at the mathematics session.

"How to Improve Physical Education in the High School and How to Motivate the Students" was the topic of NCC Professor James Young's discussion at the physical education section.

Professor Caulbert A. Jones of the department of history at North Carolina College, Durham, was the principal speaker at the social science session. R. W. Carlton and Jesse M. Johnson were the others taking part.

Other participants in the one-day meeting included: J. W. Broadhurst, P. U. Watson, Dr. Foster P. Payne, W. D. Bryant, Mrs. L. Williams, Thelma Johnson, the Rev. F. S. Hassell, Ray Armstrong, R. S. Princeton, H. B. Lucas, J. A. Harmer, W. A. Foster, F. R. Davy, Joseph E. Belton, Dr. L. Thompson, professor of education, Teachers College, Columbia U., N. Y. C. and Clinton L. Flake.

The association's executive committee includes: R. C. Fortune, L. H. Smith, C. H. McDonald, Mrs. Pearl Parker, B. T. Washington, Jimmie Barber, Mrs. Lillian Washington, Stephen Carraway, and S. Doran.

Dr. Shepard

A day when our people were learning the early lessons of maturity of opinion and cooperative attitudes in financial living.

Continuing, Dr. Stewart said: "It may seem out-of-place to those of you here who expect to step out of this college with a diploma in your hand and a college degree on your back, expecting at once to begin life as the president of some corporation at a high salary to be called upon to begin at the bottom with a broom and dust pan."

Dr. Stewart said many of America's great men had started life humbly and had worked their way in the ladder of success through strength of character. He added, "but, remember, America was built upon the sturdiness of people's character. Its flag was made secure by the high moral integrity of those who brought torn nations from battle fields of heroism and no man has yet risen to great significance who did not have somewhere in his family someone who said the price for the start he got."

Dr. Shepard, Dr. Stewart remarked: Dr. Shepard was one of the best friends anyone could have. He was true, loyal, faithful and would sacrifice personal interests to enhance the opportunities of his friends. Dr. Shepard numbered among his friends of the elite of the intellectual and diplomatic world. He taught me that when a man gets too big to be of help to the hundreds of God's creation, that man is too little for usefulness."

"This college has not yet reached its fulfillment. The spirit and memory of Dr. Shepard are today, under the superb leadership of your great educator and president, that the day is on its way when this institution will so expand its borders that it will no longer be Shepard's School or the N. C. College, but will be identified with the university life of the nation. The new awakening which is sweeping through the world today on all continents and nations except one is bringing in a system of integration by which men and women will not be received according to pigmentation, but by merit as to intelligence and character. The day is close at hand when the schools of learning everywhere will take arms as comrades in an intellectual fellowship searching for truth. The dangers of the destruction of modern civilization now facing this world calls us to either come under the banner of Truth, or die under the onslaught of an encroaching despotism."

EDITOR'S NOTE: In order that CAROLINIAN readers will get first hand information, Alexander Barnes, veteran newspaperman will be on hand to give on-the-spot coverage when the trial begins Thursday morning.

Giffin is tried. Sloan has been charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and will be tried later.

This Carolinian reporter was able to piece together some information gathered from sources which cannot be disclosed and found that Sloan and Griffitt brought the women back to their service center on the reservation and let her out. She was seen by another officer who knew her husband and it was then that she reported her wife ride with Griffitt.

During the social hour, Mrs. Davenport served a delicious repast in which she carried out the Hollywood motif. Following this, cards and members played canasta and pinocchio.

The hostess awarded prizes to the following winners: Mrs. Ruth Hinton, high pinocchio, Mrs. Sarah Swindell, pinocchio and Mrs. Merle Yarborough, high club canasta.

Members present were Miss Vivian Davis, Madeline Elizabeth Conrad, Ruth Hinton, Elizabeth Fox, Venelle Lassiter, Margie L. Lassiter, Pauline Parker, Alice Peebles, Sarah Speed and Merle L. Yarborough.
