The Feminine Front

By Rosalie Williams

Raleigh can well be proud of its high school basketball team. The team brought home two trophies within the last few days, and at P. T. A. meeting the other night, Principal W. J. Holloway remarked that if that keeps up, the school will soon be needing an additional trophy case.

The first trophy was awarded for our winning the District Play-off Tournament in Rocky Mount. The second was awarded to Ligon as runner-up in the State Tourney held in Durham last weekend.

Many folks were there the three nights that our team played, and I am sure that their cheers and encouragement spurred the team to greater efforts.

The playing on the second night (Friday) was nothing short of miraculous. At half time the opponents, our football nemesis Barbour of New Bern, led by 19 points and little hope was held for a Ligon victory except by a few loyal Raleighites. In fact, an estimated two hundred people left the gymnasium at half-time assured that New Bern had the game in the bag.

But through "superhuman" playing on the part of the boys, encouraging cheers from Raleigh's rooting section, and strategic coaching, the team came from behind and won the game in a one-point margin thriller.

Hats off to the Ligon basketball team and the coaches. I've heard that no Raleigh high school has ever won a State Basketball Championship, and that this year is the first year they have come through as runner-up for the title since way back in the Twenties. Anyone to gain say that?

MORE BASKETBALL
Basketball fever has overtaken the teachers and parents in Raleigh also. Last Wednesday, men and women teachers of Ligon School played the Senior All Stars. And believe it or not, teachers won both games. Students are protesting that teachers used outside help but, we, especially the women, don't agree that outside help was necessary.

Final score of the women's game sounded like a baseball score: 9-7. If I remember correctly, these are the "high scorers" for the women: Mrs. Thelma Ma Dailey—3 points, Miss Mabel Bullock—3 points, and Mrs. R. Williams—2 points. A student teacher made the other one point. Even though that is a low score, we must have put forth strenuous effort. Next day some observers wanted to know why teachers were walking around so gingerly. They didn't know that with every step, muscles we didn't realize we had were crying out in protest over having been disturbed after such a long dormant period.

But to that spectator who observed that there were probably not enough substitute teachers in Raleigh to fill calls which would be forthcoming on the day following the game, I want him to know that we all made it to school.

STILL MORE BASKETBALL
And now I hear there is a move underway to stage a game between parents and teachers. Best of luck to them. But the proponents of that game must not have been among the players last week. I believe if they were they'd want a year to recuperate.

JABBERWOCK
Since last week's appearance of this column a significant change has been made in Jabberwock plans: the place has been changed to the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium. The date's the same, Friday evening, April 5. But the change was made because Deltas felt it would afford a more complete evening of entertainment for the spectators and at the same time a wider audience could be reached. Read details elsewhere in this paper.

IF THIS WINSOME BABY DOLL COULD TALK he'd remind you that Sunday morning, 2 a.m., April 28, is the time to move the hands of your Baby Ben or Big Ben forward one hour — for that's when daylight saving time begins. You lose one hour of sleep — but it's worth it because you get an extra hour of sunshine through the summer.

Chavis Heights
